U.S. Denounced On China Issue

Soviet Warns That Spread Of Hostilities Means Retaliation

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press and radio denounced the United States violently Friday on the Formosa issue.

The tenor of the campaign indicated Russia and Red China may be about to take some sort of concerted decisive action, diplomatic or otherwise.

The denunciation reached a crescendo with a warning to the United States in the newspaper Pravda. It declared any spread of hostilities over China's Nationalist-held islands would provoke Communist retaliation throughout the Far East.

Other developments heightened the feeling in diplomatic circles here that events are approaching a climax.

Breaks Off Vacation

Premier Khrushchev broke off a vacation in the south to return to Moscow. He told a visitor he was dealing with urgent matters. He said he would remain in Moscow only a few days before resuming his holiday, which still has two or three weeks to run.

This suggested that whatever important decisions are to be made on possible steps to be taken will be carried out before Khrushchev leaves.

(Radio Peiping reported that Red China's Chairman Mao Tze-tung convoked the 15th Supreme State Council in Peiping Friday. The broadcast did not indicate whether the meeting of top officials would take up the Formosa conflict.)

Speculation here centered on two possible courses of action. One could be a government pronouncement or a call by Khrushchev for a U.N. debate or even a summit conference on what the Kremlin has described as the brink-of-war crisis in the Far East.

Western diplomats here hesitate to think of the second possible course of action. Pravda and all the Kremlin's other organs have stated grimly the Soviet Union would go to Communist China's aid if the duel over the off-shore islands spreads.

Not Committed

Some veteran diplomats pointed out, however, that neither Peiping nor Moscow has flatly and officially committed itself to action. Despite the barrage of denunciation it has authorized, the Kremlin so far has refrained from issuing any official warning to the U.S. government.

While both Peiping and Moscow have warned that U.S. moves in the Formosa area could lead to a general war, it is generally accepted by Western diplomats here that Khrushchev and the Soviet Union do not want war.

Despite this feeling, diplomats described the Soviet press and radio campaign as the strongest denunciation of the West since the 1956 Suez crisis in the Middle East.

Ella Howls Toward Rich Texas Coast

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Tropical storm Ella, still threatening to regain hurricane stature, howled toward the rich coastal midsection of Texas Friday night.

Weather bureau observers predicted Ella would strike inland between Corpus Christi and Galveston during the night. Tides up to six feet over normal were expected.

Residents evacuated at least three small communities. Those electing to ride it out battened down all along the 200 miles of coast between those cities. Small craft were warned to stay in port from Brownsville, Tex., to New Orleans.

Water covered several highways along the beaches.

A weather bureau advisory at 4 p.m. (CST) placed the center of the storm at about 225 miles southeast of Corpus Christi in the Gulf of Mexico.

Forecasters said Ella continued to advance on a west-northwest line 14 to 17 m.p.h., packing winds of 40 to 70 m.p.h. on her northern semicircle but only light winds in a large area around the center.

This indicated the storm apparently had not returned to a hurricane's 75-mile force but probably was speeding its forward movement a bit. Earlier advisories estimated it was approaching at 12 to 15 m.p.h.

The last of 1,000 evacuees from Port Aransas, 16 miles distant on Mustang Island, crossed the channel to the mainland at noon. Many were tourists. Some residents chose to stay.

Sheriff's deputies warned residents to depart also from Kemah and Seabrook, two small communities one mile apart on Galveston Bay. Both are near the island city of Galveston.

Court Denies Sheppard Writ

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court Friday denied Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland wife slayer, a writ of habeas corpus. It was an attempt of his attorneys to free Sheppard from Ohio Penitentiary.

The action paved the way for Sheppard's counsel to carry his fight for freedom into U.S. District Court. Attorneys previously indicated they would follow that course if Judge Weygandt turned them down.

The chief justice last Tuesday held an informal hearing on the application for a writ of habeas corpus for Sheppard. Had the writ been granted, Warden Ralph W. Alvis would have been required to show why Sheppard should remain in custody.

Air-To-Ground Rocket Is Fired

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A highly classified air-to-ground rocket test vehicle was fired from a jet plane as it flew over the cape Friday.

The Air Force announced that the test was part of an air-to-ground missile development program that occasionally makes use of the instrumentation facilities at the Atlantic missile test range.

No other details on the test were announced. The type of aircraft used and the identity of the missile were not known immediately.

Reuther Takes Over As Key Car Plant Idle

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers struck General Motors' key Chevrolet operation Friday in Flint, Mich., as Walter P. Reuther personally took command of the union's showdown contract talks with the carmakers.

UAW President Reuther faced GM's chief negotiator, Vice President Louis G. Seaton, across the bargaining table for the first time since the old contract expired May 29.

Both Reuther and Seaton voiced hope a fresh start in the five-month deadlock would bring about a settlement. They smilingly shook hands and called each other by their first names as they began a day-long bargaining session.

After six hours of bargaining, the two told newsmen a better understanding of the issues was reached although no progress was made toward settlement.

The talks were recessed until Monday morning.

The company, in a statement, sharply assailed the Flint strikes which idled 14,340 Chevrolet workers in four plants. GM said it "is obviously a master plan directed toward the crippling of GM's 1959 model production."

The company said the Flint strikes, if continued, would idle 150,000 employes in Chevrolet and GM supplier plants throughout the nation.

Reuther had no comment on wildcat strikes which altogether idled nearly 10,000 workers at GM, Chrysler and Ford plants.

A union spokesman said the Flint strikes were not authorized but at the same time they were not disavowed by the international union. Flint union officials said the strike was a protest against reduced time allowed shop committeemen to handle local grievances. The company said this was a phony excuse.

Reuther indicated pressure was being put on GM because the union believes GM is calling the signals for Ford and Chrysler.

Canada Delegates To Visit States

OTTAWA (AP)—An eight-member delegation from Canada's Senate and House of Commons will visit Washington in early January to establish a joint committee of the U.S. Congress and Canadian Parliament.

This was announced Friday at a news conference by Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt), chairman of a subcommittee of the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee set up to explore the possibility of developing closer relationships between Parliament and Congress.

Aiken has been conferring here for the last three days with Commons Speaker Roland Michener and Senate Speaker Mark Drouin as well as Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Foreign Secretary Smith and opposition leader Pearson.

Miss America Entrants Have Identical Gowns

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI)—A crisis that could shake the fashion world developed at the Miss America pageant Friday. Three contestants discovered they have identical "exclusive" evening gowns.

To make matters worse, two of the three have another ball gown, cut from the same piece of cloth and in the same pattern.

The three involved in this embarrassing situation are Miss Iowa, Joanne Lucille MacDonald, 20; Miss New Mexico, Lois Fay Wilson, 19, and Miss South Dakota, Carolee L. Nelson, 20.

Before they came to Atlantic City, the three shopped for the most beautiful gowns they could find to wear in the evening gown competition at the pageant.

Miss Iowa found hers in a store in Ames. Miss New Mexico shopped in Hobbs. Miss South Dakota got her dress in Irene.

All three were told the gown was an exclusive copy of a $5,000 Paris model. The dress turned out to be merely exclusive in each of the girls' home towns—a one-to-a-town arrangement. No one had suspected the dresses would ever turn up in the same place, especially the Miss America contest.

Both Miss Iowa and New Mexico appeared in an earlier scene of the pageant Thursday night in another identical white dress — with solid sequins on the bodice and a very full skirt. These also were "exclusive" models.

When they discovered their duplicating wardrobes, the three girls reached an agreement to consult with one another each afternoon so they would not all turn up in the same evening gown on the same evening.

Kalamazoo Not Worth $1,000, Board Decides

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Kalamazoo is a lovely word, but it's not worth $1,000.

That was the reluctant agreement by the Kalamazoo Board of Education when it learned it would cost that much to put the city's name in stone on a new 1½ million-dollar public library and museum.

The board decided the $1,000 could be better used on extra facilities inside the building.

Surgeon Plans Endurance Test

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Lt. Richard H. Tabor, a Navy flight surgeon from Charleston, W. Va., entered a pressure chamber here Friday, confidently predicting he woul set an endurance record in conditions simulating space travel.

The 36-year-old Tabor said he was sure he would stay in the chamber 72 hours. He was to have company for a while in the person of hospital corpsman Carlin B. Carpenter, 20, of Nelsonville, Ohio.

Carpenter was to remain in the chamber 8 to 12 hours for observation purposes.

Tabor was aiming to beat a 44-hour endurance record set in a similar chamber here last spring. Tabor's chamber simulated conditions at more than 15 miles' altitude.

The chamber was set to test human reaction at altitudes of 80,000 to 110,000 feet.

Tabor, one of the Navy's two flight surgeons qualified to pilot jet planes, has flown as high as 56,000 in a jet fighter.

The experiment also was designed to test a new lightweight space suit.

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Coast Guardsman David Walker, 21, Corbin, Ky., Friday was ordered held for federal grand jury action Friday on a murder charge in the fatal beating Wednesday of William Hodges Jr., a tugboat cook, at Leonardstown, Md. Hodges earlier was listed from Martinsburg, W. Va., but authorities said his home was at Martinsville, Va.

Radio Signal Again Spurs Search For Trio

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UPI)—Spurred on by a mysterious radio signal picked up on a Fish and Wildlife radio set, planes took off again Friday in the extensive search for three men missing since Aug. 21.

The radio signal was carried on Thursday on a voice frequency on the Fish and Wildlife Service receiver but no voice transmission accompanied the signal which was picked up on a direct line 235 degrees from Anchorage. It was being checked out by Air Force and civilian planes.

The men disappeared on a flight from Peter's Lake, north of here, to Fairbanks.

Aboard the missing plane were Clarence Rhode, FWS official from Juneau, his son, Jack, and Stan Frederickson, a Fairbanks FWS agent and a former Idaho fish and game official from Pocatello.

They were flying in a twin-engine Grumman Goose, an amphibious craft.

Another possible clue which turned up Thursday proved to be a fizzle. A green flash of light was seen by searching aircraft near Kotzebue, but a thorough check indicated the flash came from the small village of Notak.

An FWS spokesman said that many spot clues have turned up during the search but that none have checked out. He added that the radio signal heard may have come from a fishing vessel on the west coast, near Kotzebue.

Bad weather has hampered the search and Thursday a snowfall in the Brooks Range, the focal point of the search, further curtailed search efforts, which have now been extended past the mountain range.

Saratoga Leaves Lebanon Area

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. aircraft carrier Saratoga left the Lebanon area Friday and headed for Naples.

A Navy spokesman said the purpose of the trip was recreation for the crew. The carrier's planes have been flying reconnaisance missions over Lebanon since Marines landed in July.

The spokesman said these missions are being taken over by U.S. Air Force planes based at Adana, Turkey. The Wasp is the only carrier left in the eastern Mediterranean.

Red Chinese Bases Facing Bomb Threat

Will Be Attacked If Used To Launch Raids On Quemoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top administration official said Friday Chinese Communist air bases on the mainland would be bombed almost immediately if they were used to launch air attacks against Nationalist-held Quemoy Island.

This authority strongly hinted that Chinese Nationalist planes, not American, would carry out any such retaliatory raids as a defensive measure to protect the Quemoy garrison.

U.S. fighters and bombers would join, if needed, but only after President Eisenhower ordered such action as essential to defend Formosa against later Red Chinese invasion.

Mounting Signs

There are mounting signs that Eisenhower would order U.S. forces into action to help the Nationalists beat off any Chinese Communist effort to seize Quemoy only eight miles from the China mainland.

The official who talked of the possible retaliatory bombings spoke with knowledge of Eisenhower's discussions Thursday with Secretary of State Dulles about the Formosa crisis.

He made it plain that Nationalist planes would be "unleashed" to carry out such retaliatory raids even before any visible Chinese Red efforts to invade Quemoy with troops. At present the United States has an agreement with the Nationalists that they will not attack mainland targets without U.S. permission.

The Red Chinese air bases not only would be bombed but bombed effectively, the official said, and almost instantly once they are used as staging bases for aerial bombardment of Quemoy.

The most obvious targets would be the network of five new airfields along the China coast. Some 200 Soviet-built MIG fighters and jet bombers have been moved on to these bases within the past three weeks.

Avoided Using Bases

Thus far, the Reds have avoided bombing raids against Quemoy from these or other air bases even though shore batteries have been bombarding the island for two weeks.

Red China, this official said, will not be allowed a "privileged sanctuary" from which it could launch air attacks against Quemoy, Matsu, Formosa or the Pescadores without risking swift retaliation.

This official's comments constituted another clue that Eisenhower has all but made up his mind to order U.S. military intervention to defend Quemoy if Chiang Kai-shek's 80-to-100 man garrison appears in danger of being overwhelmed by Red Chinese invaders.

Skate Saluted By French Guard

CHERBOURG, France (UPI) — The U.S. atomic submarine Skate, second submarine to voyage under the North Pole, was saluted by a French honor guard and band when it arrived today on a European goodwill tour. The Skate came here from the Dutch navy port of Den Helder.

At a news conference, her commander, Cmdr. James F. Calvert, of Mystic, Conn., said that on Aug. 17 the Skate cruised "around the globe" by circling the North Pole at a distance of about two miles, completing the trip in an hour.

"I think that is a world record of some sort," he said, grinning.

Iceland Boats Continue To Harass Britain

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI)—Icelandic gunboats Friday stepped up their harrassment tactics against British fishing inside Iceland's asserted 12-mile territorial waters. They threatened to board two British trawlers and jammed the fishing boats radios.

United Press International Correspondent Glenne Currie reported from the British trawler Lord Beatty that the Icelandic gunboats Maria Julia and Thor steamed alongside the trawlers' Lancella and St. Nectan for about half an hour.

The gunboats stayed within 35 feet of the trawlers while crewmembers in life-jackets stood on the gunwales ready to jump.

They jammed the trawlers' radios in an attempt to prevent them from summoning aid from the British frigates which have been protecting them in the North Atlantic "fish war."

The trawler Lancella managed to contact the fishery protection vessel Eastbourne, the flagship of the British Navy escort ships, and the Eastbourne replied:

"If they try any funny business we will be there."

However, both the Lancella and the St. Nectan took evasive action until the Icelandic gunboats sailed away.

Currie reported the trawler captains were showing increasing concern over the poor catch inside the 12-mile limit and that some had moved outside in the hope of getting more fish.

However, he said official British policy was to keep the trawlers inside the limit to prove the British point.

In Grimsby, England, the British Trawlers' Guild said trawlermen were ready to accept a six-mile fishing limit around Iceland as a compromise for further negotiation.

Proposes Draft Of Peace Treaty

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany Friday proposed the formation of a Big Four commission to draft a World War II peace treaty for Germany.

The Western Big Three and the Bonn republic have no diplomatic relations with East Germany and have ignored its international communications.

The West holds a German peace treaty must be tied in with an agreement for German reunification through free elections. The Soviet Union has rejected this.

Tolerance To Radiation Discovered In Mammals

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

GENEVA (AP)—The discovery that mammals apparently can acquire tolerance to X-ray radiation was reported Friday.

"It is a first step toward protecting man against radiation," said Prof. Joseph Maisin, prominent pathologist of the University of Louvain, Belgium.

He exposed unborn rats to small doses of radiation through their mothers' abdomens. After they were born, they could take more radiation than rats not exposed before birth, he reported to the atoms-for-peace conference.

Dr. Maisin said he had absolutely no intention of doing this with humans—it would be far too dangerous.

But learning why the rats became tolerant might lead to a way of protecting humans with complete safety.

In earlier experiments, Dr. Maisin showed that exposure of yeasts to small doses of X rays allowed them to survive lethal doses later, while untreated yeasts all died.

The animal experiments are still in preliminary stages.

When female rats were halfway through their pregnancies, he beamed 15 roentgens of X rays at the unborn rodents. This is anywhere up to 60 times the amount of radiation from a chest X-ray, depending on the type of machine used.

When 50 rats treated this way were exposed to 600 roentgens of X rays later, 37 of them lived. But only 25 out of 50 nontreated rats lived.

Dr. Maisin said that giving the first X rays earlier than halfway through the pregnancy might have produced genetic damage.

Red Fleet Is Massing Off Island

Nationalist China Supply Lines Are Cut By Blockade

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A new Red China fleet buildup was reported Saturday opposite Quemoy. The report came soon after Nationalist China said the island may need U.S. help.

The English-language China Post published a story saying the Communists had concentrated 800 vessels in the area of Amoy, big mainland port.

There was no official confirmation.

The China Post gave no source, but said its information came from Quemoy. The newspaper said many of the vessels it reported in the area were amphibious types. It also said the Reds had reinforced their torpedo boat fleet in the Amoy area.

Nationalist China said it soon may need U.S. help to break through a tightening Red blockade on Quemoy.

"Our supply line to the offshore islands is threatened and there is a limit beyond which we alone will not be able to solve the problem," the chief Defense Ministry spokesman told newsmen.

Praises Ike's Pledge

Foreign Minister Huang Shao-ku at the same time issued a statement praising President Eisenhower's official pledge that U.S. forces would help fight for the offshore islands if the President felt they were vital to the defense of Formosa.

"The firm stand of the United States is thus very clear," Huang said. "By making certain military dispositions the United States has demonstrated its readiness to deal with any further Chinese Communist adventure by timely and effective counterblows."

So far the Communists have used massive artillery fire and small gunboats to try sealing off Quemoy, which lies only five miles off the China coast and 100 miles from Formosa.

There have been persistent rumors here that warships from the U.S. 7th Fleet would be called to start escorting Nationalist convoys from Formosa to Quemoy.

Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, the Defense Ministry spokesman, would only say that this plan was being considered.

Would Cross Lines

If U.S. ships had to move up to rendezvous points off Quemoy with Nationalist convoys, they would have to cross Red China's new 12-mile sea limit. The Reds have indicated they would view such a move as a foreign invasion.

The United States and the Nationalists both have rejected the Reds new boundary.

Liu surprised a crowded news conference by announcing the Nationalist troops on Quemoy now number 100,000 troops — about twice as many as previously believed.

British Arrest 150 Rioters

LONDON (AP) — British police have arrested 150 persons in London and Nottingham race rioting, Home Secretary Richard A. Butler disclosed Friday night.

Butler is the Cabinet minister responsible for maintaining law and order in the country.

His disclosure came at a political meeting where he said the government has "no intention of allowing extremist elements to take advantage of any situation."

British trade union leaders hinted earlier that Sir Oswald Mosley's old Fascist group is stirring up attacks on West Indian and other nonwhite immigrants to Britain.

The continued attacks, mostly carried out by teen-age toughs in rundown sections of London and industrial Nottingham, brought a round of urgent top official conferences during the day.

Prime Minister Macmillan and his Cabinet were under notice from nonwhite commonwealth countries that immigration curbs won't bring any solution. The government at midweek had hinted such curbs were being considered. Mosley's group is calling for restrictions.

Butler reported immigration of non-white workers to Britain increased recently at the same time as a local demand for unskilled labor had slackened. The immigrants numbered 200,000 at the end of July, 110,000 of them from the West Indies and 54,000 from Pakistan and India, he said. Their unemployed was set at 1,700.

Speculation here centered on two possible courses of action. One could be a government pronouncement or a call by Khrushchev for a U.N. debate or even a summit conference on what the Kremlin has described as the brink-of-war crisis in the Far East.

Western diplomats here hesitate to think of the second possible course of action. Pravda and all the Kremlin's other organs have stated grimly the Soviet Union would go to Communist China's aid if the duel over the off-shore islands spreads.

Not Committed

Some veteran diplomats pointed out, however, that neither Peiping nor Moscow has flatly and officially committed itself to action. Despite the barrage of denunciation it has authorized, the Kremlin so far has refrained from issuing any official warning to the U.S. government.

While both Peiping and Moscow have warned that U.S. moves in the Formosa area could lead to a general war, it is generally accepted by Western diplomats here that Khrushchev and the Soviet Union do not want war.

Despite this feeling, diplomats described the Soviet press and radio campaign as the strongest denunciation of the West since the 1956 Suez crisis in the Middle East.

When they discovered their duplicating wardrobes, the three girls reached an agreement to consult with one another each afternoon so they would not all turn up in the same evening gown on the same evening.

Kalamazoo Not Worth $1,000, Board Decides

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Kalamazoo is a lovely word, but it's not worth $1,000.

That was the reluctant agreement by the Kalamazoo Board of Education when it learned it would cost that much to put the city's name in stone on a new 1½ million-dollar public library and museum.

The board decided the $1,000 could be better used on extra facilities inside the building.

Surgeon Plans Endurance Test

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Lt. Richard H. Tabor, a Navy flight surgeon from Charleston, W. Va., entered a pressure chamber here Friday, confidently predicting he woul set an endurance record in conditions simulating space travel.

The 36-year-old Tabor said he was sure he would stay in the chamber 72 hours. He was to have company for a while in the person of hospital corpsman Carlin B. Carpenter, 20, of Nelsonville, Ohio.

Carpenter was to remain in the chamber 8 to 12 hours for observation purposes.

Tabor was aiming to beat a 44-hour endurance record set in a similar chamber here last spring. Tabor's chamber simulated conditions at more than 15 miles' altitude.

The chamber was set to test human reaction at altitudes of 80,000 to 110,000 feet.

Tabor, one of the Navy's two flight surgeons qualified to pilot jet planes, has flown as high as 56,000 in a jet fighter.

The experiment also was designed to test a new lightweight space suit.

Guardsman Held On Murder Count

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Coast Guardsman David Walker, 21, Corbin, Ky., Friday was ordered held for federal grand jury action Friday on a murder charge in the fatal beating Wednesday of William Hodges Jr., a tugboat cook, at Leonardstown, Md. Hodges earlier was listed from Martinsburg, W. Va., but authorities said his home was at Martinsville, Va.

Radio Signal Again Spurs Search For Trio

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UPI)—Spurred on by a mysterious radio signal picked up on a Fish and Wildlife radio set, planes took off again Friday in the extensive search for three men missing since Aug. 21.

The radio signal was carried on Thursday on a voice frequency on the Fish and Wildlife Service receiver but no voice transmission accompanied the signal which was picked up on a direct line 235 degrees from Anchorage. It was being checked out by Air Force and civilian planes.

The men disappeared on a flight from Peter's Lake, north of here, to Fairbanks.

Aboard the missing plane were Clarence Rhode, FWS official from Juneau, his son, Jack, and Stan Frederickson, a Fairbanks FWS agent and a former Idaho fish and game official from Pocatello.

They were flying in a twin-engine Grumman Goose, an amphibious craft.

Another possible clue which turned up Thursday proved to be a fizzle. A green flash of light was seen by searching aircraft near Kotzebue, but a thorough check indicated the flash came from the small village of Notak.

An FWS spokesman said that many spot clues have turned up during the search but that none have checked out. He added that the radio signal heard may have come from a fishing vessel on the west coast, near Kotzebue.

Bad weather has hampered the search and Thursday a snowfall in the Brooks Range, the focal point of the search, further curtailed search efforts, which have now been extended past the mountain range.

Saratoga Leaves Lebanon Area

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. aircraft carrier Saratoga left the Lebanon area Friday and headed for Naples.

A Navy spokesman said the purpose of the trip was recreation for the crew. The carrier's planes have been flying reconnaisance missions over Lebanon since Marines landed in July.

The spokesman said these missions are being taken over by U.S. Air Force planes based at Adana, Turkey. The Wasp is the only carrier left in the eastern Mediterranean.

Red Chinese Bases Facing Bomb Threat

Will Be Attacked If Used To Launch Raids On Quemoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top administration official said Friday Chinese Communist air bases on the mainland would be bombed almost immediately if they were used to launch air attacks against Nationalist-held Quemoy Island.

This authority strongly hinted that Chinese Nationalist planes, not American, would carry out any such retaliatory raids as a defensive measure to protect the Quemoy garrison.

U.S. fighters and bombers would join, if needed, but only after President Eisenhower ordered such action as essential to defend Formosa against later Red Chinese invasion.

Mounting Signs

There are mounting signs that Eisenhower would order U.S. forces into action to help the Nationalists beat off any Chinese Communist effort to seize Quemoy only eight miles from the China mainland.

The official who talked of the possible retaliatory bombings spoke with knowledge of Eisenhower's discussions Thursday with Secretary of State Dulles about the Formosa crisis.

He made it plain that Nationalist planes would be "unleashed" to carry out such retaliatory raids even before any visible Chinese Red efforts to invade Quemoy with troops. At present the United States has an agreement with the Nationalists that they will not attack mainland targets without U.S. permission.

The Red Chinese air bases not only would be bombed but bombed effectively, the official said, and almost instantly once they are used as staging bases for aerial bombardment of Quemoy.

The most obvious targets would be the network of five new airfields along the China coast. Some 200 Soviet-built MIG fighters and jet bombers have been moved on to these bases within the past three weeks.

Avoided Using Bases

Thus far, the Reds have avoided bombing raids against Quemoy from these or other air bases even though shore batteries have been bombarding the island for two weeks.

Red China, this official said, will not be allowed a "privileged sanctuary" from which it could launch air attacks against Quemoy, Matsu, Formosa or the Pescadores without risking swift retaliation.

This official's comments constituted another clue that Eisenhower has all but made up his mind to order U.S. military intervention to defend Quemoy if Chiang Kai-shek's 80-to-100 man garrison appears in danger of being overwhelmed by Red Chinese invaders.

Skate Saluted By French Guard

CHERBOURG, France (UPI) — The U.S. atomic submarine Skate, second submarine to voyage under the North Pole, was saluted by a French honor guard and band when it arrived today on a European goodwill tour. The Skate came here from the Dutch navy port of Den Helder.

At a news conference, her commander, Cmdr. James F. Calvert, of Mystic, Conn., said that on Aug. 17 the Skate cruised "around the globe" by circling the North Pole at a distance of about two miles, completing the trip in an hour.

"I think that is a world record of some sort," he said, grinning.

Iceland Boats Continue To Harass Britain

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI)—Icelandic gunboats Friday stepped up their harrassment tactics against British fishing inside Iceland's asserted 12-mile territorial waters. They threatened to board two British trawlers and jammed the fishing boats radios.

United Press International Correspondent Glenne Currie reported from the British trawler Lord Beatty that the Icelandic gunboats Maria Julia and Thor steamed alongside the trawlers' Lancella and St. Nectan for about half an hour.

The gunboats stayed within 35 feet of the trawlers while crewmembers in life-jackets stood on the gunwales ready to jump.

They jammed the trawlers' radios in an attempt to prevent them from summoning aid from the British frigates which have been protecting them in the North Atlantic "fish war."

The trawler Lancella managed to contact the fishery protection vessel Eastbourne, the flagship of the British Navy escort ships, and the Eastbourne replied:

"If they try any funny business we will be there."

However, both the Lancella and the St. Nectan took evasive action until the Icelandic gunboats sailed away.

Currie reported the trawler captains were showing increasing concern over the poor catch inside the 12-mile limit and that some had moved outside in the hope of getting more fish.

However, he said official British policy was to keep the trawlers inside the limit to prove the British point.

In Grimsby, England, the British Trawlers' Guild said trawlermen were ready to accept a six-mile fishing limit around Iceland as a compromise for further negotiation.

Proposes Draft Of Peace Treaty

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany Friday proposed the formation of a Big Four commission to draft a World War II peace treaty for Germany.

The Western Big Three and the Bonn republic have no diplomatic relations with East Germany and have ignored its international communications.

The West holds a German peace treaty must be tied in with an agreement for German reunification through free elections. The Soviet Union has rejected this.

Tolerance To Radiation Discovered In Mammals

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

GENEVA (AP)—The discovery that mammals apparently can acquire tolerance to X-ray radiation was reported Friday.

"It is a first step toward protecting man against radiation," said Prof. Joseph Maisin, prominent pathologist of the University of Louvain, Belgium.

He exposed unborn rats to small doses of radiation through their mothers' abdomens. After they were born, they could take more radiation than rats not exposed before birth, he reported to the atoms-for-peace conference.

Dr. Maisin said he had absolutely no intention of doing this with humans—it would be far too dangerous.

But learning why the rats became tolerant might lead to a way of protecting humans with complete safety.

In earlier experiments, Dr. Maisin showed that exposure of yeasts to small doses of X rays allowed them to survive lethal doses later, while untreated yeasts all died.

The animal experiments are still in preliminary stages.

When female rats were halfway through their pregnancies, he beamed 15 roentgens of X rays at the unborn rodents. This is anywhere up to 60 times the amount of radiation from a chest X-ray, depending on the type of machine used.

When 50 rats treated this way were exposed to 600 roentgens of X rays later, 37 of them lived. But only 25 out of 50 nontreated rats lived.

Dr. Maisin said that giving the first X rays earlier than halfway through the pregnancy might have produced genetic damage.

Red Fleet Is Massing Off Island

Nationalist China Supply Lines Are Cut By Blockade

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A new Red China fleet buildup was reported Saturday opposite Quemoy. The report came soon after Nationalist China said the island may need U.S. help.

The English-language China Post published a story saying the Communists had concentrated 800 vessels in the area of Amoy, big mainland port.

There was no official confirmation.

The China Post gave no source, but said its information came from Quemoy. The newspaper said many of the vessels it reported in the area were amphibious types. It also said the Reds had reinforced their torpedo boat fleet in the Amoy area.

Nationalist China said it soon may need U.S. help to break through a tightening Red blockade on Quemoy.

"Our supply line to the offshore islands is threatened and there is a limit beyond which we alone will not be able to solve the problem," the chief Defense Ministry spokesman told newsmen.

Praises Ike's Pledge

Foreign Minister Huang Shao-ku at the same time issued a statement praising President Eisenhower's official pledge that U.S. forces would help fight for the offshore islands if the President felt they were vital to the defense of Formosa.

"The firm stand of the United States is thus very clear," Huang said. "By making certain military dispositions the United States has demonstrated its readiness to deal with any further Chinese Communist adventure by timely and effective counterblows."

So far the Communists have used massive artillery fire and small gunboats to try sealing off Quemoy, which lies only five miles off the China coast and 100 miles from Formosa.

There have been persistent rumors here that warships from the U.S. 7th Fleet would be called to start escorting Nationalist convoys from Formosa to Quemoy.

Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, the Defense Ministry spokesman, would only say that this plan was being considered.

Would Cross Lines

If U.S. ships had to move up to rendezvous points off Quemoy with Nationalist convoys, they would have to cross Red China's new 12-mile sea limit. The Reds have indicated they would view such a move as a foreign invasion.

The United States and the Nationalists both have rejected the Reds new boundary.

Liu surprised a crowded news conference by announcing the Nationalist troops on Quemoy now number 100,000 troops — about twice as many as previously believed.

British Arrest 150 Rioters

LONDON (AP) — British police have arrested 150 persons in London and Nottingham race rioting, Home Secretary Richard A. Butler disclosed Friday night.

Butler is the Cabinet minister responsible for maintaining law and order in the country.

His disclosure came at a political meeting where he said the government has "no intention of allowing extremist elements to take advantage of any situation."

British trade union leaders hinted earlier that Sir Oswald Mosley's old Fascist group is stirring up attacks on West Indian and other nonwhite immigrants to Britain.

The continued attacks, mostly carried out by teen-age toughs in rundown sections of London and industrial Nottingham, brought a round of urgent top official conferences during the day.

Prime Minister Macmillan and his Cabinet were under notice from nonwhite commonwealth countries that immigration curbs won't bring any solution. The government at midweek had hinted such curbs were being considered. Mosley's group is calling for restrictions.

Butler reported immigration of non-white workers to Britain increased recently at the same time as a local demand for unskilled labor had slackened. The immigrants numbered 200,000 at the end of July, 110,000 of them from the West Indies and 54,000 from Pakistan and India, he said. Their unemployed was set at 1,700.

Georgia Judge Says He'll Jail FBI Agents In Racial Squabble

By The Associated Press

A Georgia judge threatened to jail federal civil rights investigators Friday in a labyrinth of Southern racial developments.

A government suit filed at Columbus, Ga., the first under the 1957 Civil Rights Act, aroused the ire of Superior Court Judge Walter I. Geer of Colquitt, Ga.

The jurist, in keeping with Georgia law, had appointed five Terrell County election registrars whom the suit charged with discriminating against prospective Negro voters.

In a statement, Geer called the suit an "arrogant, unwarranted, high-handed" attempt of "radical Republican leaders to intimidate the people of Terrell County."

If the FBI, in prosecuting the suit, makes any "high-handed, menacing" investigation of his court, he declared, "I will not hesitate to put them in the common jail of the county."

Minor Developments

In the meantime there were pointed, if relatively minor, school integration developments in Virginia, Arkansas and Tennessee.

At Harrisonburg, Va., U. S. Judge John Paul advised the Warren County School Board it could not bar Negroes from the county's white high school. He did not order immediate admission but said that since the county lacks a Negro high school it must admit Negroes to the white school. School board officials countered by showing him blueprints for a half-million-dollar Negro high school.

At Van Buren, Ark., about 50 segregationist white students apparently succeeded in keeping Negroes out of the high school for the day but their boast that others would join them in a boycott fell flat. None of the 13 Negro students was seen to enter the school. But only a few recruits joined the striking students.

Stairstep integration, inaugurated last year, continued without incident at Nashville, Tenn. Nine or more second-grade Negro children registered routinely for another year of integrated classes. Earlier 15 first graders had registered for mixed classes under a court-directed plan of integrating one grade a year.

King Chooses Jail

In a racial development at Montgomery, Ala., the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader of long standing, chose a 14-day jail term rather than pay a $14 fine for what he declared was a trumped-up police charge. But his fine was paid anonymously and he was released abruptly.

King, who led Montgomery's successful bus boycott two years ago, had been arrested on a charge of refusing to obey a police order to move from a stairway outside a courtroom where a hearing was being held on attempted murder charges involving two other Negroes.

Officials Await Verdict On New Timonium Fair

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—Maryland State Fair officials find out in the next eight days whether their experiment paid off.

Up until this year the full fair ran for two weeks. This year virtually the entire fair was telescoped into the first seven days.

After Saturday there will be no midway, no cattle exhibits, no exhibition hall. Four-H tractor competition is the main event Saturday, other than horse racing.

With only horse racing and horse and pony events, the fair must attract more than 90,000 patrons in the final week to match last year's attendance of 294,851.

Last year a total of 89,793 went to the races.

There will be racing Saturday, none on Sunday, and then again Monday through next Saturday when the fair winds up.

Why the streamlined fair this year?

John M. Heil, vice president and general manager, said "Marylanders won't go for a full 15-day fair." He said the same applies to other areas. However, Heil failed to reconcile his statement with last year's record attendance figures.

Whether the fair schedule will be the same next year depends on overall attendance this year and on decisions by the fair board, Heil said.

One fair official explained that one reason the horse and pony events are being held in the final week is lack of space to accommodate them in the first week.

Another reason he said, was that some fair connected activity must be conducted at the same time as racing in order to avoid federal taxes on racing.

Some of the take from racing is to go into improving the agricultural side of the fair, officials said.

Heil said the fair can't expand land-wise but he said it could expand by tearing down old buildings and put up new ones with greater capacity.

John H. Zink, fair president, estimated there might be $150,000 available for such improvements after this year's fair.

Other than some disappointment expressed by horse and pony fanciers, fair officials said they heard few complaints about this year's telescoped schedule.

Richard N. Wills, a fair vice president, said that exhibitors who had children who were 4-H or FFA exhibitors expressed a preference for the streamlined fair because it permitted all the family to be at the grounds at the same time.

The confining of most of the fair to one week also saves on fairgrounds expenses, officials pointed out. The limited activities will permit a reduction in the work staff during the second week.

Girl, 16, Best Pie Maker

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—A 16-year-old girl from the Eastern Shore, Lois Richardson of Centreville, is Maryland's champion 4-H cherry pie maker.

She won the title Friday at the State Fair and goes to a 4-H congress in February to enter a national pie-baking contest.

Lois who keeps house for her father, Calvin, on their 285-acre farm, estimates she's cooked 3,000 meals since she was 13.

The pretty blonde champion baked her first pie at nine and says she keeps changing her recipes to improve her creations.

The 1958 4-H club dairy judge team, picked at the Fair, includes Philip Jones of Sykesville; Charles Iager Jr., of Fulton; Kenneth Zimmerman, of Frederick and George Debnam of Upperco. They'll go to the national contest at Waterloo, Iowa.

The top 4 livestock judges in 4-H were Ann Gover of Lutherville; Wayne Hevner of Keymar; Gene Mullinix of Woodbine and Robert Taylor of Ellicott City. They compete in the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago in November.

Letter Threatens "Astonishment"

LONDON (UPI)—The English Law Society's Gazette Friday quoted a letter by a lawyer in India to point up the "rather monotonous English style in legal documents" published at home. The Indian letter read: "Dear Sir, unless you pay . . . the . . . rupees that you owe me . . . within seven days of this date, we shall take such steps as will cause you the utmost damned astonishment."

Man, 82, Told To Work By His Doctor

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Omer Wiles likes to work and it's a good thing.

At 82 he is well past retirement age but it's just about impossible for him to climb out of the saddle.

He has tried it three times since he was 65 and each time his doctor ordered him back to work. The doc said it was the best medicine for Wiles to keep him from going to pieces physically.

At present, Wiles is putting the finishing touches on a mountainside home he started a little over two years ago. He built the modest little home near Smithburg with the exception of installing the heating plant, electrical wiring and plumbing.

It's a five-room haven for Wiles and his wife. Looking out through its picture windows, the Wiles are treated to a peaceful view of the undulating Western Maryland countryside.

Their three-acre site abounds in peach, apple and plum trees.

And beyond the orchard the land slopes down to the peaceful town of Smithburg.

It's the kind of quiet contentment the Wiles dreamed about for years and a radical change from the big-city life they knew in Washington, D.C.

He worked for more than 35 years with a contracting company in Washington (Whitty Construction Co.) before attempting to retire when he reached 65.

He decided like many a working man it was time to sit back and take it easy. But in a short time he was under a physician's care.

"I just seemed to fall apart," he recalls, when he had no regular job to go to.

When the doctor's know-how and patent medicine failed to bring him around, the physician told him to go back to his job.

Twice again he tried retirement with the same results and went back to the construction company.

But 2½ years ago shortly before his 80th birthday, he got a break.

The three-acre site of land he'd wanted for 20 years as a homesite was up for sale.

Wiles and his wife bought it, and they lived in the house already on the property while he put up their little 28 by 38 foot home.

The venerable Wiles whose inner nature rebelled at retirement set about building the home, starting with the concrete block foundation. Fifteen months later the couple moved into their home.

Good natured and well tanned by the sun, Wiles belies his 82 years.

He was born on a farm near Myersville, Frederick County, and considered himself a full-time farmer at 11. One of seven children, all of whom are living, he and his wife reared seven children themselves. Now they count 23 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren.

Chances are the house, orchard and garden will keep Wiles busy much of the time, but he'll probably be looking around for a part-time job — building something, naturally.

Ella Gaining Speed As It Heads For Texas

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Tropical storm Ella, gaining speed but still short of hurricane force, should hit the Texas coast between Corpus Christi and Galveston Friday night, the weather bureau said.

Its 1 p.m. (CST) advisory put the center of the poorly organized storm at about 275 miles east-southeast of Corpus Christi in the Gulf of Mexico. This represented a 45-mile advance since the last advisory at 10 a.m.

Rising tides and gale warnings already had prompted the evacuation of at least three smaller communities and other low areas.

Aerial checks showed winds of 40 to 70 m.p.h. in squalls on Ella's northern semicricle as the tropical disturbance advanced west-northwest at about 15 m.p.h., the weather bureau said.

Ike Appoints Four To New Space Unit

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—President Eisenhower Thursday appointed four members to the National Aeronautics and Space Council, newly created to coordinate space activities of government agencies.

Named to the nine - member council were Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, of New York, president of the National Science Foundation; Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle (ret.), chairman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics; William A. M. Burden, of New York, a former assistant secretary of Commerce; and Dr. Alan T. Waterman, of Westmorland Hills, Md., director of the National Science Foundation.

The other members of the council include the President, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John McCone, and T. Keith Glennon, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Submariners' Holiday

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP)—Five U.S. submarines arrived here Thursday after completing secret exercises in the Atlantic.

The submarines' 40 officers and 500 enlisted men will have a five-day recreational leave in England.

Three of the submarines, the Croaker, Sea Owl, and Darter, put in at Gosport. The Saraga and Quillback berthed in Portsmouth.

Arctic Ocean Seen As Cargo Shipping Lane

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The skipper of the atomic submarine Nautilus declared Friday the ice-covered Arctic Ocean could be used for fast commercial shipping as soon as nuclear cargo - carrying submarines were available.

Cmdr. W. R. Anderson said in a speech at the National Press Club that his ship's historic cruise under the Polar ice and across the North Pole showed the feasibility of Polar operations in the atomic age.

"When nuclear power (cargo) submarines come into being," he said, "I believe this route will be feasible for such vessels."

He expressed doubt that anyone was qualified to guess when commercial passenger service beneath the Arctic ice might begin. But he said trips to the Arctic by U. S. submarines soon would become "pretty much a matter of routine."

Asked whether the Nautilus had gone under, over or through the North Pole on its recent trip, Anderson said one expert told him the ship had "pierced the pole, so I guess we went through it."

He said that peculiarities in Polar ice formations, discovered by the Nautilus and its sister ship, the Skate, indicated that mid-winter might be the best time for making a sub-Arctic cruise from the Atlantic into the Pacific.

Anderson explained that in the summer, the approaches to the ice cap from the Pacific were cluttered with coastal ice that had broken away from Siberia, Alaska and Northern Canada. He said this ice "can cause trouble."

But in the winter, he said, the coastal ice had been washed away and had been replaced by "relatively thin sea ice."

Anderson said Point Barrow, Alaska, the northernmost point of the United States, someday might be "a most important Trans-polar submarine base." He noted that another factor favoring an Arctic route for cargo submarines was the "extreme reliability" of nuclear power.

Anderson described the underside of the arctic ice as "fantastically rugged," and said there was "a lot more ice up there than anyone has estimated."

But he said the thickness of the ice was no barrier to submarine operations because it was a mere fraction of the operating depth of atomic ships like the Nautilus.

Quiz Contestant Denies "Fix"

NEW YORK (UPI) — A blonde housewife who was a contestant on the defunct television quiz show "Dotto" said Friday that "anyone would have to be an idiot not to be able to give the answers."

Mrs. Regan Leydenfrost was questioned by Asst. Dist. Atty. Melvin Stein about her appearance on the quiz show last May. The district attorney's office is investigating "fix" charges against "Dotto," "Twenty-One" and other TV jackpot programs.

Mrs. Leydenfrost won about $900 on "Dotto."

She said that she had not been given the answers in advance, but had received "help." She indicated that by "help" she meant being asked pre-show questions that had a bearing on the questions to be asked on the stage.

Nine other persons connected with "Dotto" were questioned. Two persons connected with the "Twenty-One" investigation also appeared at the district attorney's office.

"Dotto" was cancelled by its sponsor recently after charges that a contestant had been given answers in advance. Jack Narz, who was a master of ceremonies on the quiz, denied knowledge of contestants being given advance answers.

Several Persons Stricken At Timonium Fair

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—Ambulances were called to the Maryland State Fairgrounds Friday for several persons stricken by food poisoning.

Baltimore County Police said six persons were hospitalized after receiving first aid treatment at the fairgrounds dispensary.

Sgt. John Corbett and Officer John Stees, summoned by fair officials, called for ambulances from the Cockeysville and Towson Fire Departments.

Corbett said the stricken fairgoers became ill after eating at a refreshment stand.

At Baltimore Union Memorial Hospital, where the six were taken, a nurse reported none appeared to be in critical condition.

39 Students Refuse To Go To New School

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Thirty-nine students scheduled for transfer to a new elementary school at East Severna Park wouldn't transfer Friday.

They reported instead to the school which they've been attending in Severna Park, closer to their homes. The principal sent them home on orders of Dr. David S. Jenkins, county school superintendent.

The pupil rebellion was the latest step in a feud between parents and the Anne Arundel County School Board over plans to transfer 60 youngsters from West Severna Park and Round Bay—nine miles north of Annapolis—to the new school at East Severna Park.

The parents objected to their crossing the busy four-lane Ritchie Highway and said the new school is an average of 2.2 miles from their homes compared to an average distance of seven-tenths of a mile to the old school.

A group of parents from Round Bay Thursday filed suit for a Circuit Court injunction to restrain the board from making the transfer. Judge Benjamin Michaelson has given the board until Sept. 30 to show cause why it shouldn't be restrained. He did not issue a temporary order, and in the absence of such school officials attempted Friday's transfers.

The 39 pupils who walked to their old school to try to re-enroll ignored buses waiting to take them to the new 14-room school at East Severna Park.

When they showed up at the old school, Principal Margaret Moss called Dr. Jenkins for instructions. He said to send them back home.

Dr. Jenkins said buses would be provided again Monday for them to attend East Severna Park.

U.S. Could Save Russians Time

CHRIST CHURCH, New Zealand (UPI)—Russia could save both time and expense in plans to chart the entire 6,000,000 square miles of Antarctica by asking the United States for aerial photographs made by Navy, Marine, Air Force, and civilian pilots, according to Rear Adm. George J. Duek, commander of U. S. Antarctic operations.

Dufek said that Americans had mapped more than half the continent, starting with the late Adm. Richard E. Byrd's first visit there in 1928.

Shirley Temple Injures Ankle In Dance Scene

The 30-year-old actress landed on the side of her foot after being lifted into the air by dancer Carleton Carpenter. She was taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for X-rays and treatment and then returned to the studio.

Auto Accident Fatal To Man

PT. PLEASANT, W. Va. (UPI) — An automobile accident on W. Va. 62, about 15 miles north of here, Friday took the life of Eddie Ralph (Ben) Van Matre, 37, of West Columbia, Mason County.

Van Matre, who lay unconscious in the car for about an hour before a truck driver spotted the vehicle on some railroad tracks, died shortly after being admitted to Holzer Hospital at nearby Gallipolis, Ohio.

State Police said Van Matre apparently lost control of the car before the vehicle rolled over an embankment, coming to rest on the railroad tracks.

The accident brought to 222 the number of traffic fatalities reported in West Virginia this year. This total was 90 below the 312 reported to the State Police Accident Prevention Bureau during the corresponding period last year.

Two fatalities reported before Van Matre's death were Kenneth P. Tucker, 25, killed in a wreck on U. S. 50 in Grant County, and Phillip T. Francis, 23, injured fatally when the car in which he was riding crashed Thursday on U. S. 250 in Marion County.

Uranium Found

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI)—Danish scientists told the Atoms for Peace Conference here Friday that there was uranium in the hills of Greenland. J. Bondan and J. Sorensen of the University of Copenhagen said the rare mineral could be found in the southwest part of the island, but they did not know whether it could be minded economically.

Ike To Return For Conference On Far East

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—President Eisenhower made plans Friday to interrupt his vacation and go to Washington Saturday for cabinet-level conferences on the Far East and racial integration.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the Far East situation and with Attorney General William P. Rogers on integration.

Hagerty declined to reveal the exact nature of the talks.

The president was expected to be in Washington at 10:30 a. m. aboard the presidential plane Columbine III.

Hagerty at his late afternoon press conference said he knew of no plans of the President to go to the Brussels Worlds Fair either this month or next.

The President spent the morning playing golf at the Newport Country Club with his house guests, John Hay Whitney, U. S. Ambassador to Britain, William E. Robinson, president of Coca Cola, and Washington businessman George E. Allen.

He played bridge in the afternoon at the summer White House on the Fort Adams military reservation.

Also planned for Saturday was a White House reception for a group of college presidents of the American Association of Universities.

Eisenhower was expected to act on the 18 unsigned bills Saturday and make several appointments.

Early Friday he spoke with Dulles by telephone and later received a report on the Far East situation from Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House staff secretary.

He did not go to his vacation office but conducted some business.

The roll top desk was said to have been invented by Abner Cutler about 1850.

Moon Rocket Attempt Has Been Postponed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department disclosed Friday that there has been at least a month's postponement in this country's next attempt to fire a rocket to the moon.

Defense officials said the next try probably would come Oct. 11.

The second attempt had been set at least tentatively, for Saturday, Sept. 13. But the department said in an announcement that it was "unlikely any attempt will be made in September."

There was no official explanation for the postponement. But authorities said the Air Force had not been able to get a second launching vehicle ready for a new attempt.

The first American effort to shoot a rocket to the vicinity of the moon ended in failure on Aug. 17 when the first stage Thor rocket blew up 10 miles in the sky after a 77-second flight.

The Defense Department announcement said:

"In response to inquiries, the Department of Defense said today that the date of the next test flight of a United States IGY (International Geophysical Year) space exploration vehicle in the lunar probe program has not been determined, but that it is unlikely any attempt will be made in September."

September 13 was the next date when the moon would be in best position, about 220,000 miles away for an effort to launch a vehicle that would reach its vicinity and become a moon satellite.

On Oct. 11, defense officials said the moon again would be in best relation to the earth for a rocket shot.

The necessity to postpone the September attempt gave Russia additional time to beat the United States in the moon race. There have been published reports of unsuccessful Russian attempts, but no verification from Moscow.

The August failure was doubly discouraging because the part of the launching vehicle which blew up was the most tested of the stages. It was a Thor intermediate range ballistic missile of the type scheduled for military service by the end of this year.

Defense spokesmen had cautioned the public that the odds were at least 10 to 1 against the first lunar probe being successful.

Wife Stabbed

TERMINI IMERESE, Sicily (UPI)—Police spread through the hills near here Friday searching for Carmelo Furnari, who stabbed his wife and seriously wounded her when he discovered she was writing a torrid love letter. Police learned Mrs. Furnari was writing the letter for her illiterate sister.

Postponement Asked

NEW YORK (UPI) — George W. Dowdy, president of the National Retail Merchants Assn. has asked the Post Office Department to postpone the imposition of a five-cent penalty on postage - due mail. Dowdy said the association membership is especially vulnerable to the penalties proposed because a retail store takes the risk of engendering poor customer relations by refusing customer mail.

Georgia Judge Says He'll Jail FBI Agents In Racial Squabble

By The Associated Press

A Georgia judge threatened to jail federal civil rights investigators Friday in a labyrinth of Southern racial developments.

A government suit filed at Columbus, Ga., the first under the 1957 Civil Rights Act, aroused the ire of Superior Court Judge Walter I. Geer of Colquitt, Ga.

The jurist, in keeping with Georgia law, had appointed five Terrell County election registrars whom the suit charged with discriminating against prospective Negro voters.

In a statement, Geer called the suit an "arrogant, unwarranted, high-handed" attempt of "radical Republican leaders to intimidate the people of Terrell County."

If the FBI, in prosecuting the suit, makes any "high-handed, menacing" investigation of his court, he declared, "I will not hesitate to put them in the common jail of the county."

Minor Developments

In the meantime there were pointed, if relatively minor, school integration developments in Virginia, Arkansas and Tennessee.

At Harrisonburg, Va., U. S. Judge John Paul advised the Warren County School Board it could not bar Negroes from the county's white high school. He did not order immediate admission but said that since the county lacks a Negro high school it must admit Negroes to the white school. School board officials countered by showing him blueprints for a half-million-dollar Negro high school.

At Van Buren, Ark., about 50 segregationist white students apparently succeeded in keeping Negroes out of the high school for the day but their boast that others would join them in a boycott fell flat. None of the 13 Negro students was seen to enter the school. But only a few recruits joined the striking students.

Stairstep integration, inaugurated last year, continued without incident at Nashville, Tenn. Nine or more second-grade Negro children registered routinely for another year of integrated classes. Earlier 15 first graders had registered for mixed classes under a court-directed plan of integrating one grade a year.

King Chooses Jail

In a racial development at Montgomery, Ala., the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader of long standing, chose a 14-day jail term rather than pay a $14 fine for what he declared was a trumped-up police charge. But his fine was paid anonymously and he was released abruptly.

King, who led Montgomery's successful bus boycott two years ago, had been arrested on a charge of refusing to obey a police order to move from a stairway outside a courtroom where a hearing was being held on attempted murder charges involving two other Negroes.

Officials Await Verdict On New Timonium Fair

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—Maryland State Fair officials find out in the next eight days whether their experiment paid off.

Up until this year the full fair ran for two weeks. This year virtually the entire fair was telescoped into the first seven days.

After Saturday there will be no midway, no cattle exhibits, no exhibition hall. Four-H tractor competition is the main event Saturday, other than horse racing.

With only horse racing and horse and pony events, the fair must attract more than 90,000 patrons in the final week to match last year's attendance of 294,851.

Fair attendance this year, through Friday, stood at 203,619, including 52,388 racegoers.

Last year a total of 89,793 went to the races.

There will be racing Saturday, none on Sunday, and then again Monday through next Saturday when the fair winds up.

Why the streamlined fair this year?

John M. Heil, vice president and general manager, said "Marylanders won't go for a full 15-day fair." He said the same applies to other areas. However, Heil failed to reconcile his statement with last year's record attendance figures.

Whether the fair schedule will be the same next year depends on overall attendance this year and on decisions by the fair board, Heil said.

One fair official explained that one reason the horse and pony events are being held in the final week is lack of space to accommodate them in the first week.

Another reason he said, was that some fair connected activity must be conducted at the same time as racing in order to avoid federal taxes on racing.

Some of the take from racing is to go into improving the agricultural side of the fair, officials said.

Heil said the fair can't expand land-wise but he said it could expand by tearing down old buildings and put up new ones with greater capacity.

John H. Zink, fair president, estimated there might be $150,000 available for such improvements after this year's fair.

Other than some disappointment expressed by horse and pony fanciers, fair officials said they heard few complaints about this year's telescoped schedule.

Richard N. Wills, a fair vice president, said that exhibitors who had children who were 4-H or FFA exhibitors expressed a preference for the streamlined fair because it permitted all the family to be at the grounds at the same time.

The confining of most of the fair to one week also saves on fairgrounds expenses, officials pointed out. The limited activities will permit a reduction in the work staff during the second week.

Girl, 16, Best Pie Maker

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—A 16-year-old girl from the Eastern Shore, Lois Richardson of Centreville, is Maryland's champion 4-H cherry pie maker.

She won the title Friday at the State Fair and goes to a 4-H congress in February to enter a national pie-baking contest.

Lois who keeps house for her father, Calvin, on their 285-acre farm, estimates she's cooked 3,000 meals since she was 13.

The pretty blonde champion baked her first pie at nine and says she keeps changing her recipes to improve her creations.

The 1958 4-H club dairy judge team, picked at the Fair, includes Philip Jones of Sykesville; Charles Iager Jr., of Fulton; Kenneth Zimmerman, of Frederick and George Debnam of Upperco. They'll go to the national contest at Waterloo, Iowa.

The top 4 livestock judges in 4-H were Ann Gover of Lutherville; Wayne Hevner of Keymar; Gene Mullinix of Woodbine and Robert Taylor of Ellicott City. They compete in the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago in November.

Letter Threatens "Astonishment"

LONDON (UPI)—The English Law Society's Gazette Friday quoted a letter by a lawyer in India to point up the "rather monotonous English style in legal documents" published at home. The Indian letter read: "Dear Sir, unless you pay . . . the . . . rupees that you owe me . . . within seven days of this date, we shall take such steps as will cause you the utmost damned astonishment."

Man, 82, Told To Work By His Doctor

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Omer Wiles likes to work and it's a good thing.

At 82 he is well past retirement age but it's just about impossible for him to climb out of the saddle.

He has tried it three times since he was 65 and each time his doctor ordered him back to work. The doc said it was the best medicine for Wiles to keep him from going to pieces physically.

At present, Wiles is putting the finishing touches on a mountainside home he started a little over two years ago. He built the modest little home near Smithburg with the exception of installing the heating plant, electrical wiring and plumbing.

It's a five-room haven for Wiles and his wife. Looking out through its picture windows, the Wiles are treated to a peaceful view of the undulating Western Maryland countryside.

Their three-acre site abounds in peach, apple and plum trees.

And beyond the orchard the land slopes down to the peaceful town of Smithburg.

It's the kind of quiet contentment the Wiles dreamed about for years and a radical change from the big-city life they knew in Washington, D.C.

He worked for more than 35 years with a contracting company in Washington (Whitty Construction Co.) before attempting to retire when he reached 65.

He decided like many a working man it was time to sit back and take it easy. But in a short time he was under a physician's care.

"I just seemed to fall apart," he recalls, when he had no regular job to go to.

When the doctor's know-how and patent medicine failed to bring him around, the physician told him to go back to his job.

Twice again he tried retirement with the same results and went back to the construction company.

But 2½ years ago shortly before his 80th birthday, he got a break.

The three-acre site of land he'd wanted for 20 years as a homesite was up for sale.

Wiles and his wife bought it, and they lived in the house already on the property while he put up their little 28 by 38 foot home.

The venerable Wiles whose inner nature rebelled at retirement set about building the home, starting with the concrete block foundation. Fifteen months later the couple moved into their home.

Good natured and well tanned by the sun, Wiles belies his 82 years.

He was born on a farm near Myersville, Frederick County, and considered himself a full-time farmer at 11. One of seven children, all of whom are living, he and his wife reared seven children themselves. Now they count 23 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren.

Chances are the house, orchard and garden will keep Wiles busy much of the time, but he'll probably be looking around for a part-time job — building something, naturally.

Ella Gaining Speed As It Heads For Texas

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Tropical storm Ella, gaining speed but still short of hurricane force, should hit the Texas coast between Corpus Christi and Galveston Friday night, the weather bureau said.

Its 1 p.m. (CST) advisory put the center of the poorly organized storm at about 275 miles east-southeast of Corpus Christi in the Gulf of Mexico. This represented a 45-mile advance since the last advisory at 10 a.m.

Rising tides and gale warnings already had prompted the evacuation of at least three smaller communities and other low areas.

Aerial checks showed winds of 40 to 70 m.p.h. in squalls on Ella's northern semicircle as the tropical disturbance advanced west-northwest at about 15 m.p.h., the weather bureau said.

Ike Appoints Four To New Space Unit

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—President Eisenhower Thursday appointed four members to the National Aeronautics and Space Council, newly created to coordinate space activities of government agencies.

Named to the nine - member council were Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, of New York, president of the National Science Foundation; Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle (ret.), chairman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics; William A. M. Burden, of New York, a former assistant secretary of Commerce; and Dr. Alan T. Waterman, of Westmorland Hills, Md., director of the National Science Foundation.

The other members of the council include the President, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John McCone, and T. Keith Glennon, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Submariners' Holiday

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP)—Five U.S. submarines arrived here Thursday after completing secret exercises in the Atlantic.

The submarines' 40 officers and 500 enlisted men will have a five-day recreational leave in England.

Three of the submarines, the Croaker, Sea Owl, and Darter, put in at Gosport. The Saraga and Quillback berthed in Portsmouth.

Arctic Ocean Seen As Cargo Shipping Lane

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The skipper of the atomic submarine Nautilus declared Friday the ice-covered Arctic Ocean could be used for fast commercial shipping as soon as nuclear cargo - carrying submarines were available.

Cmdr. W. R. Anderson said in a speech at the National Press Club that his ship's historic cruise under the Polar ice and across the North Pole showed the feasibility of Polar operations in the atomic age.

"When nuclear power (cargo) submarines come into being," he said, "I believe this route will be feasible for such vessels."

He expressed doubt that anyone was qualified to guess when commercial passenger service beneath the Arctic ice might begin. But he said trips to the Arctic by U. S. submarines soon would become "pretty much a matter of routine."

Asked whether the Nautilus had gone under, over or through the North Pole on its recent trip, Anderson said one expert told him the ship had "pierced the pole, so I guess we went through it."

He said that peculiarities in Polar ice formations, discovered by the Nautilus and its sister ship, the Skate, indicated that mid-winter might be the best time for making a sub-Arctic cruise from the Atlantic into the Pacific.

Anderson explained that in the summer, the approaches to the ice cap from the Pacific were cluttered with coastal ice that had broken away from Siberia, Alaska and Northern Canada. He said this ice "can cause trouble."

But in the winter, he said, the coastal ice had been washed away and had been replaced by "relatively thin sea ice."

Anderson said Point Barrow, Alaska, the northernmost point of the United States, someday might be "a most important Trans-polar submarine base." He noted that another factor favoring an Arctic route for cargo submarines was the "extreme reliability" of nuclear power.

Anderson described the underside of the arctic ice as "fantastically rugged," and said there was "a lot more ice up there than anyone has estimated."

But he said the thickness of the ice was no barrier to submarine operations because it was a mere fraction of the operating depth of atomic ships like the Nautilus.

Quiz Contestant Denies "Fix"

NEW YORK (UPI) — A blonde housewife who was a contestant on the defunct television quiz show "Dotto" said Friday that "anyone would have to be an idiot not to be able to give the answers."

Mrs. Regan Leydenfrost was questioned by Asst. Dist. Atty. Melvin Stein about her appearance on the quiz show last May. The district attorney's office is investigating "fix" charges against "Dotto," "Twenty-One" and other TV jackpot programs.

Mrs. Leydenfrost won about $900 on "Dotto."

She said that she had not been given the answers in advance, but had received "help." She indicated that by "help" she meant being asked pre-show questions that had a bearing on the questions to be asked on the stage.

Nine other persons connected with "Dotto" were questioned. Two persons connected with the "Twenty-One" investigation also appeared at the district attorney's office.

"Dotto" was cancelled by its sponsor recently after charges that a contestant had been given answers in advance. Jack Narz, who was a master of ceremonies on the quiz, denied knowledge of contestants being given advance answers.

Several Persons Stricken At Timonium Fair

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—Ambulances were called to the Maryland State Fairgrounds Friday for several persons stricken by food poisoning.

Baltimore County Police said six persons were hospitalized after receiving first aid treatment at the fairgrounds dispensary.

Sgt. John Corbett and Officer John Stees, summoned by fair officials, called for ambulances from the Cockeysville and Towson Fire Departments.

Corbett said the stricken fairgoers became ill after eating at a refreshment stand.

At Baltimore Union Memorial Hospital, where the six were taken, a nurse reported none appeared to be in critical condition.

39 Students Refuse To Go To New School

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Thirty-nine students scheduled for transfer to a new elementary school at East Severna Park wouldn't transfer Friday.

They reported instead to the school which they've been attending in Severna Park, closer to their homes. The principal sent them home on orders of Dr. David S. Jenkins, county school superintendent.

The pupil rebellion was the latest step in a feud between parents and the Anne Arundel County School Board over plans to transfer 60 youngsters from West Severna Park and Round Bay—nine miles north of Annapolis—to the new school at East Severna Park.

The parents objected to their crossing the busy four-lane Ritchie Highway and said the new school is an average of 2.2 miles from their homes compared to an average distance of seven-tenths of a mile to the old school.

A group of parents from Round Bay Thursday filed suit for a Circuit Court injunction to restrain the board from making the transfer. Judge Benjamin Michaelson has given the board until Sept. 30 to show cause why it shouldn't be restrained. He did not issue a temporary order, and in the absence of such school officials attempted Friday's transfers.

The 39 pupils who walked to their old school to try to re-enroll ignored buses waiting to take them to the new 14-room school at East Severna Park.

When they showed up at the old school, Principal Margaret Moss called Dr. Jenkins for instructions. He said to send them back home.

Dr. Jenkins said buses would be provided again Monday for them to attend East Severna Park.

U.S. Could Save Russians Time

CHRIST CHURCH, New Zealand (UPI)—Russia could save both time and expense in plans to chart the entire 6,000,000 square miles of Antarctica by asking the United States for aerial photographs made by Navy, Marine, Air Force, and civilian pilots, according to Rear Adm. George J. Duek, commander of U. S. Antarctic operations.

Dufek said that Americans had mapped more than half the continent, starting with the late Adm. Richard E. Byrd's first visit there in 1928.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Lighten Your Work Load

Even though you cannot lighten your work load, the chances are that you can lighten the pressure.

Do you start each day with a plan? Are you ever depressed by the amount of work to be done? Do you ever accomplish more than one thing at a time? How often do you just plain "play out" and have to give up?

Think of your answer to these questions as you study the work precedures outlined to me by one of the nation's leading industrial efficiency experts:

1. Never start a day without a really disciplined plan. Spend a few moments each evening outlining on paper your next day's activities. Put the most important things first and do them in that order. If you fail to finish the less important tasks, simply carry them over to the next day's list. Pigeonhole your worries about getting them done as you jot down your reminders.

2. Never set more tasks for yourself than you have found in the past you could complete. Cut out all extraneous items. Learn to say "no" to the things and people that hamper your accomplishments.

3. Never try to do more than one thing at a time. Then, concentrate on it. You waste time and energy when you worry about the next obstacle.

4. Never let yourself become fatigued to the breaking point. Take a breather when you need it.

Save those four points. Carry them out to the letter for one week. If you do, you'll make it your daily plan forever. There's nothing more valuable to you than your energy. Never let it be a wasted expenditure!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Lighten Your Work Load

Even though you cannot lighten your work load, the chances are that you can lighten the pressure.

Do you start each day with a plan? Are you ever depressed by the amount of work to be done? Do you ever accomplish more than one thing at a time? How often do you just plain "play out" and have to give up?

Think of your answer to these questions as you study the work precedures outlined to me by one of the nation's leading industrial efficiency experts:

1. Never start a day without a really disciplined plan. Spend a few moments each evening outlining on paper your next day's activities. Put the most important things first and do them in that order. If you fail to finish the less important tasks, simply carry them over to the next day's list. Pigeonhole your worries about getting them done as you jot down your reminders.

2. Never set more tasks for yourself than you have found in the past you could complete. Cut out all extraneous items. Learn to say "no" to the things and people that hamper your accomplishments.

3. Never try to do more than one thing at a time. Then, concentrate on it. You waste time and energy when you worry about the next obstacle.

4. Never let yourself become fatigued to the breaking point. Take a ,breather when you need it.

Save those four points. Carry them out to the letter for one week. If you do, you'll make it your daily plan forever. There's nothing more valuable to you than your energy. Never let it be a wasted expenditure!

The Quadrangle at the University of Pennsylvania . . . here live hundreds of freshmen from towns and cities all over America. For many it is their first great venture into the world of responsibility and temptation. It is a crucial year . . . and they live it in a community all their own, surrounded by the teeming millions of a great city!

An important part of their life is the Christian Association, augmenting the programs of the campus churches. There are wholesome social activities, challenging discussion groups, services of worship, opportunities for community service.

Here, as on almost every college campus, the Church is on the job. Its specially-trained leaders are guiding our sons and daughters in their adjustment to college life and the complicated world of opportunity and danger.

Are you helping the Church in its far-reaching ministry? Are you providing the religious home life and church-centered spiritual training that a boy and girl need BEFORE THEY GO OUT INTO THE WORLD?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Quadrangle at the University of Pennsylvania . . . here live hundreds of freshmen from towns and cities all over America. For many it is their first great venture into the world of responsibility and temptation. It is a crucial year . . . and they live it in a community all their own, surrounded by the teeming millions of a great city!

An important part of their life is the Christian Association, augmenting the programs of the campus churches. There are wholesome social activities, challenging discussion groups, services of worship, opportunities for community service.

Here, as on almost every college campus, the Church is on the job. Its specially-trained leaders are guiding our sons and daughters in their adjustment to college life and the complicated world of opportunity and danger.

Are you helping the Church in its far-reaching ministry? Are you providing the religious home life and church-centered spiritual training that a boy and girl need BEFORE THEY GO OUT INTO THE WORLD?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

North Branch Train Tour Is Being Arranged

Watershed Plan To Be Outlined

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI)—A train tour through the rugged North Branch Valley will feature a two-day meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin Sept. 18-19.

The first day of the annual fall meeting at Blackwater Falls State Park near here will include addresses by John A. K. Donovan, commission chairman; West Virginia Conservation Director Warden M. Lane and Edward C. Crafts, assistant chief of the U. S. Forest Service.

Sen. John D. Hoblitzell (R - W. Va.) will address a banquet Thursday night.

On Friday, D. V. C. Birrell, assistant chief engineer of the Washington District of the U. S. Corps of Engineers will unveil plans for development of the Potomac River's North Branch watershed. Rep. Harley O. Staggers (D - W. Va.) will also speak at this session.

The train tour will follow, starting at nearby Thomas, W. Va., and winding through the canyon-like valley through Gormania, W. Va., to Westernport, Md.

The commission members and guests will view a big expansion project being undertaken by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. at Luke, Md.; the site of a proposed dam at Bloomington, Md., and a sludge plant being built at Westernport to treat wastes from the paper mill and municipal sewage from the towns of Luke and Westernport and Piedmont, W.Va.

Paper Mill Has Five Members Of Turtle Club

The five men pictured above wearing white hard hats have been accepted into membership of the Turtle Club, an international association of men and women whose lives have been saved by the wearing of protective hard hats. They are (left to right) Charles Kooken, Ray Hartman, Thomas Dawson, Joe Prado and William Perry who were working for the Maintenance Department at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company when the accidents occurred. George M. Griffith (right), maintenance superintendent at the mill, presented the men with scrolls, hard hats and lapel pins.

List Names Of Practice Teachers

FROSTBURG — The directors of junior high school student teaching at Frostburg State Teachers College, John M. Dunn and Robert W. Jones, have released a list of appointments of practice teachers for the nine-week period beginning September 2 in Garrett and Washington counties, and September 4 in Allegany County. The period will end November 10.

Appointments are as follows: Allegany High School, Oliver Rephann, Jean Davalli, Harry Reynolds, Joan Sweene, Michael Wilson and June Bush; Beall High, William Eckard, Carl Emerick, Robert Carver, Douglas Sullivan; Beall Junior High, Mrs. Sally Butler, Miss Nancy Deffenbaugh.

Pythian Sisters Plan Conclave

LONACONING — Morning Star Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, will meet Monday at 8 p.m. Convention plans will be discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Whittington, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Holshey, Mr. and Mrs. John Schramm, Mrs. Nellie Miller, Miss Edith Holder, Mrs. Eloise Stafford, Mrs. Mary Elda McCormick, Mrs. Margaret Frizzell, Mrs. Faye Turnbull, Mrs. Annie Watkinson, Mrs. Agnes Marshall, Mrs. Margaret Arnold, Mr. Joseph Morton plan to attend the convention September 11, 12 and 13 at the Francis Scott Key Hotel, Frederick.

Star Of Italy Lodge Plans Anniversary

PIEDMONT — Star of Italy Lodge 1426, will hold a dinner Sunday at 6 p. m. at their lodge hall in observance of the thirty-second anniversary of its entrance into the order.

Grand Venerable Angelo Viani will be the principal speaker. Peter Carpenti, an attorney of Cumberland, will also speak. John Gentile, will serve as toastmaster.

Guests expected include William Marconi Lodge of Clarksburg; Lodge Conte of Cavour of Masontown and William Paca Lodge, Cumberland.

Three Youths Held For Grand Jury Action

KEYSER — Three Cumberland youths are being held in Mineral County jail here for action of the next grand jury as the result of an altercation late Tuesday night in Ridgeley during which they reportedly damaged an automobile. Two other youths, one a Baltimorean, are being sought in connection with the case.

Held under $500 bond on charges of malicious destruction of property are Donald Teets, 19, of Virginia Avenue; William Friend, 18, of Potomac Street, and another youth. Police Chief Jack Cornett of Ridgeley said the boys have admitted their participation in the act (a felony in West Virginia) and implicated the other two youths. Assisting in the investigation was Cpl. Evan Moody of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police.

Chief Cornett said the five youths left a Ridgeley tavern about midnight Tuesday and started a fracas with four boys who were seated in a parked car nearby.

The boys in the car locked the doors, Chief Cornett said, after which the group outside proceeded to kick out the windshield and windows of the car. The vehicle was also damaged by rocks, the chief said. Several of the youths in the car suffered minor scratches and abrasions, he added.

Council Airs Sewer Rates

WESTERNPORT—An objection to the payment of municipal sewer fees was received at a meeting of the Mayor and Council Wednesday evening, with two residents informing the Council that no sewer line ran through their properties.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt informed Owen Lewis, Ross Street, and Lester Kirk, of near Kolberg's Hill, that the matter would be investigated. They would not be expected to pay fees if no sewer line was on their land, he explained.

The Liller Brothers Contracting Company of Cumberland was given a contract to improve the road in the vicinity of the home of Victory Post American Legion on Washington Street on a bid of $562.10.

It was estimated that it would take 230 feet of water and sewer pipe to extend them to the parsonage being built by the Christ Memorial Baptist Church on Roosevelt, Council was informed.

Council ordered that a $5,000 note due Citizens National Bank be paid off. Fifteen thousand dollars was borrowed when Philos Avenue was improved in the vicinity of the new Bruce High School, of which $10,000 has already been paid.

Weeds on Fourth Street between Church Street and the Western Maryland Railway tracks, on Fisher Street and Philos Avenue were ordered cut by city employes.

18 More Members Named To W.Va. Centennial Group

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — Charles Hodel, chairman of the West Virginia Centennial Commission, added 18 more members Friday to an advisory committee to aid the commission in planning the state's 100th birthday celebration in 1963.

A total of 33 other leading state residents had been named previously to the committee by Hodel.

At the same time, Hodel disclosed Alfred Stern, New York, employed by the commission to make plans for the observance, would report to the group at a meeting in Charleston Sept. 12.

Newly-named to the advisory committee were:

Lawrence H. Rogers II, William C. Campbell and Dr. A. E. Harris, all of Huntington; Mary E. Shelton, Logan; Bradley Nash, Washington and Martinsburg; Dr. W. J. L. Wallace, Institute; W. F. Dalzell, Moundsville.

William F. Tolbert, Williamson; the Rt. Rev. Wilburn C. Campbell, Miles C. Stanley, Rabbi Samuel Cooper and J. Howard Myers, all of Charleston; John C. McConnell and the Most Rev. Thomas J. Donnell, both of Wheeling, Ned Shott, Bluefield; John K. Sanders, Keyser; Dr. Perry E. Gresham Bethany, and Paul H. Price, Morgantown.

Mineral Co. 4-H Girls Win State Awards

KEYSER — Janet Sue Rexrode, 15, member of the Klover 4-H Klub, of Burlington, was awarded a blue ribbon and $20 as first place winner in the state individual clothing construction demonstration contest held recently at Jackson's Mill, during the annual State 4-H Roundup.

Miss Rexrode's demonstration with which she won over four competitors of the five regions in the state, showed the steps involved in inserting neckline and skirt zippers. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rexrode Sr.

Priscilla Amtower, of the Gate 4-H Club, RFD 2, Keyser, received a blue ribbon in the state individual clothing wear-care demonstration contest for her demonstration on how to pack a suitcase. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Amtower.

Elizabeth Reed, Klover 4-H Klub, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Reed, Burlington, received a red ribbon in the state public speaking contest and a red ribbon in the state 4-H style revue.

Dottie Lyon, Agricolae 4-H Club, New Creek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lyon, Star Route 1, Keyser, received a white ribbon in the state 4-H style revue.

Mrs. June Veach, home demonstration agent, accompanied the girls to Jackson's Mill.

Alumni To Meet

LONACONING — Valley High School Alumni Association will meet Tuesday, September 9, at 7 p. m. at Valley school to plan for the association's fund-raising project to start this month and continue through November 21 for Thanksgiving time.

Hard Hats Recognized At Luke

LUKE — Five employes of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company have become members of the Turtle Club as a result of their lives being saved by the hard hat they were wearing when an accident occurred.

Members of the club, an international association, are Charles Kooken, Ray Hartman, Thomas Dawson, Joseph Prado and William Perry, who were working for the Maintenance Department when the accidents occurred.

White hard hats bearing the insignia of the Turtle Club, lapel pins in the form of a turtle and scrolls setting forth the history of each case were presented to the men by George M. Griffith, maintenance superintendent.

Each of the new members qualified for membership in the club when they suffered no lasting ill effects after being struck on their hard hats by falling objects. The hard hats were credited in each instance with saving their lives.

Griffith told the group that they should encourage others to use head protection when engaged in hazardous work. He said it was the foresight of wearing hard hats that had made the recognition ceremony a pleasant experience rather than a sad one.

The hard hat program at the Luke mill was initiated by the Engineering Division Safety Committee some months ago.

Bruce High Shows Gain In Enrollment

WESTERNPORT—There were 719 students enrolled at Bruce High School yesterday, according to Kenneth S. Sheetz, principal, who said the number is approximately 25 more than were enrolled on the opening day last year.

Maynard D. Swayne, LaVale, is teaching industrial arts this year. Miss Shirley Ann Schaidt, Lonaconing, succeeded Donald Horner, who will teach dependents of Army personnel in Germany. William Williams, who was absent much of last year because of illness expects to resume his duties, Sheetz said.

James Long, Lonaconing, the other new member of the faculty is teaching seventh and eighth grade reading. James White, who taught eighth and ninth grade classes in mathematics, was transferred to Allegany High School, Cumberland.

Long is a graduate of Frostburg State Teachers College and was transferred here from Cresaptown. He is married and the father of two children. His wife teaches at Lonaconing.

There are no changes in the faculty of the Luke School this year, Mrs. Florence Liller, principal, reports the enrollment on the first day was 61, four more than the opening day last year. Miss Mary P. Wilt is the other member of the faculty.

There were 493 children enrolled at Westernport Elementary School on the opening day. This is three more than last year, Miss Nellie Dowling, principal, reveals.

Changes on the faculty are Mrs. Alice Howard, Bloomington, replacing Mrs. Leona Gowans, who is teaching at Central School in Lonaconing, and Miss Rose Marie Winner, Lonaconing, will teach the second grade, succeeding Mrs. Elloween Lipscomb, who has gone to teach at Anchorage, Alaska.

Lonaconing Briefs

Mrs. Jessie Foot, Watercliff, is home from Miners Hospital, Frostburg, recuperating.

Philip Shockey, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Shockey, Charles Town, is home from Miners Hospital and is much improved from being seriously ill.

Birth Announced

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Caton, city, announce the birth of a daughter Sunday in Miners Hospital.

CHOSEN PRINCESS—Peggy Ann Shufflebarger, daughter of Mrs. Helen C. Shufflebarger, Pineville, has been selected as a princess for the Mountain State Forest Festival to be held October 1-4 at Elkins. She is a student at Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia, where she is a member of the YWCA and Wesley Choir.

W.Va. Property Assessments Upped Slowly

78 Per Cent Hike Since 1925

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Assessed valuations of all West Virginia property has increased only 78 per cent — an average of 2.4 per cent a year — in the 33-year period since 1925, the State Chamber of Commerce said Thursday.

The chamber called it "a regretably slow rate of gain" to be recorded during a period when there were "rising market values, vast industrial development, burgeoning inflation and a population gain of nearly 400,000."

These factors, the chamber said in a bulletin to members, "might well have increased the total of 1958 assessments to at least 6 billion dollars whereas the current figure is only 3.8 billion.

"The low prevailing level of property assessments in the state's 55 counties completely accounts for whatever paucity of local school support may exist in the several counties," it said.

Tabulations of assessments showed that in 1930 assessments equaled only 94 per cent of the 1925 figure of $2,133,491,140. In 1935 they were equal to only 81 per cent of the 1925 figure, 86 per cent in 1940, 99 per cent in 1945, 124 per cent in 1950 and 149 per cent in 1955.

Counties which more than doubled the assessed value of their property from 1925 to 1958 included Hancock, which registered a 502 per cent gain; Jackson 409 per cent, Mason 317, Putnam 301, Hardy 289, Kanawha 258, Wyoming 251, Logan 256, Hampshire 241, Wood 231, Pendleton 212, Pleasants 209, Brooke 207 and Raleigh 203.

In Doddridge County, 1958 assessments amounted to only 83 per cent of the 1925 total. In Barbour County the figure was down to 99 per cent and in Ritchie down to 92 per cent.

Assisting in the investigation was Cpl. Evan Moody of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police.

Chief Cornett said the five youths left a Ridgeley tavern about midnight Tuesday and started a fracas with four boys who were seated in a parked car nearby.

The boys in the car locked the doors, Chief Cornett said, after which the group outside proceeded to kick out the windshield and windows of the car. The vehicle was also damaged by rocks, the chief said. Several of the youths in the car suffered minor scratches and abrasions, he added.

Council Airs Sewer Rates

WESTERNPORT—An objection to the payment of municipal sewer fees was received at a meeting of the Mayor and Council Wednesday evening, with two residents informing the Council that no sewer line ran through their properties.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt informed Owen Lewis, Ross Street, and Lester Kirk, of near Kolberg's Hill, that the matter would be investigated. They would not be expected to pay fees if no sewer line was on their land, he explained.

The Liller Brothers Contracting Company of Cumberland was given a contract to improve the road in the vicinity of the home of Victory Post American Legion on Washington Street on a bid of $562.10.

It was estimated that it would take 230 feet of water and sewer pipe to extend them to the parsonage being built by the Christ Memorial Baptist Church on Roosevelt, Council was informed.

Council ordered that a $5,000 note due Citizens National Bank be paid off. Fifteen thousand dollars was borrowed when Philos Avenue was improved in the vicinity of the new Bruce High School, of which $10,000 has already been paid.

Weeds on Fourth Street between Church Street and the Western Maryland Railway tracks, on Fisher Street and Philos Avenue were ordered cut by city employes.

18 More Members Named To W.Va. Centennial Group

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — Charles Hodel, chairman of the West Virginia Centennial Commission, added 18 more members Friday to an advisory committee to aid the commission in planning the state's 100th birthday celebration in 1963.

A total of 33 other leading state residents had been named previously to the committee by Hodel.

At the same time, Hodel disclosed Alfred Stern, New York, employed by the commission to make plans for the observance, would report to the group at a meeting in Charleston Sept. 12.

Newly-named to the advisory committee were:

Hard Hats Recognized At Luke

LUKE — Five employes of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company have become members of the Turtle Club as a result of their lives being saved by the hard hat they were wearing when an accident occurred.

Members of the club, an international association, are Charles Kooken, Ray Hartman, Thomas Dawson, Joseph Prado and William Perry, who were working for the Maintenance Department when the accidents occurred.

White hard hats bearing the insignia of the Turtle Club, lapel pins in the form of a turtle and scrolls setting forth the history of each case were presented to the men by George M. Griffith, maintenance superintendent.

Each of the new members qualified for membership in the club when they suffered no lasting ill effects after being struck on their hard hats by falling objects. The hard hats were credited in each instance with saving their lives.

Griffith told the group that they should encourage others to use head protection when engaged in hazardous work. He said it was the foresight of wearing hard hats that had made the recognition ceremony a pleasant experience rather than a sad one.

The hard hat program at the Luke mill was initiated by the Engineering Division Safety Committee some months ago.

Bruce High Shows Gain In Enrollment

WESTERNPORT—There were 719 students enrolled at Bruce High School yesterday, according to Kenneth S. Sheetz, principal, who said the number is approximately 25 more than were enrolled on the opening day last year.

Maynard D. Swayne, LaVale, is teaching industrial arts this year. Miss Shirley Ann Schaidt, Lonaconing, succeeded Donald Horner, who will teach dependents of Army personnel in Germany. William Williams, who was absent much of last year because of illness expects to resume his duties, Sheetz said.

James Long, Lonaconing, the other new member of the faculty is teaching seventh and eighth grade reading. James White, who taught eighth and ninth grade classes in mathematics, was transferred to Allegany High School, Cumberland.

Long is a graduate of Frostburg State Teachers College and was transferred here from Cresaptown. He is married and the father of two children. His wife teaches at Lonaconing.

There are no changes in the faculty of the Luke School this year, Mrs. Florence Liller, principal, reports the enrollment on the first day was 61, four more than the opening day last year. Miss Mary P. Wilt is the other member of the faculty.

There were 493 children enrolled at Westernport Elementary School on the opening day. This is three more than last year, Miss Nellie Dowling, principal, reveals.

Changes on the faculty are Mrs. Alice Howard, Bloomington, replacing Mrs. Leona Gowans, who is teaching at Central School in Lonaconing, and Miss Rose Marie Winner, Lonaconing, will teach the second grade, succeeding Mrs. Elloween Lipscomb, who has gone to teach at Anchorage, Alaska.

Circle To Send Toys To Mission

The Kathryn Eye Circle of Melvin Methodist Church held a "Back to School" party Thursday evening in the recreation hall. The room was decorated to resemble a class room. Darlene Klavuhn opened the session by ringing a bell.

Linda Northcraft led the worship and had a meditation on "Tuning Up." Judy Sturtz read the Scripture and Blanche Speir offered prayer. The group sang, "What A Friend."

Routine reports were given by Diana Wentling and Carol Day. Christian art calendars will be sold by the group. A Nursery committee was appointed, consisting of Barbara Delagrange, Linda Northcraft and Sharon Sampson. The group will collect used toys to send to a mission in time for Christmas. Plans were made for a joint birthday party, October 2.

Joy Goodrich was awarded a cash prize for winning the contest to enlist new members and to promote church attendance. During the social hour the group sang "School Days" and played games in keeping with the theme. School box lunches were served.

Missionary To Speak In Lonaconing Church

Raymond M. Stawinski, missionary to Paraguay, will be the guest speaker at services this Sunday at First Pentecostal Church, Lonaconing, according to Rev. Charles E. Fussell, pastor.

He will speak at both the 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. services, describing his experiences as a missionary and unusual native customs in Paraguay.

He plans soon to return to the mission field, accompanied by his wife and daughters, Judy and Marcia, under an appointment of the Foreign Missions Department of the Assemblies of God.

publican candidate for Governor, he said, is excellently qualified and is going to be elected.

The re-election of Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Mr. Mason said, is important so that he can complete the C & O Canal Park project. Mr. Hyde's opponent, he said, lacks experience and thus far has failed to take a stand on the C & O Park bill.

John A. Derr, candidate for comptroller, and Robert A. Wallace, for attorney-general, he said, are important and should have the full support of Allegany County Republicans.

There is no substitute for experience, he concluded in urging voters to go down the line for Republican candidates on November 4.

Youth Receives Jail Sentence On Two Counts

A local youth, free while waiting trial of his appeal of a two-year prison sentence, was back in the hands of the law yesterday.

Robert Ellsworth Adams, 407 Hay Street, in Trial Magistrates Court received two 60-day sentences in the County Jail plus two $100 fines.

He pleaded guilty to operating on a revoked driver's permit and was found guilty of driving at a speed greater than reasonable when he wrecked the auto he was driving Sunday on Valley Road three miles north of Cumberland.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick sentenced him to pay $100 fine and to serve 60 days in jail on each of the violations.

Dick pointed out that Adams will have to serve an additional 30 days for each of the $100 fines he cannot pay.

Adams recently was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction when he was found guilty in Trial Magistrates Court of two breaking and enterings in establishments on Route 36. He has been free after appealing the decision.

The owner of the car Adams was using Sunday, Robert Eugene Dawson, 415 Columbia Street, was fined $25.75 when he pleaded guilty to permitting an unauthorized person to drive his vehicle.

On top of all this, three other companions of Adams, who appeared at Memorial Hospital Sunday to see him, were arrested by Trooper First Class John F. Browning for disorderly conduct.

The officer said he was investigating another case at the hospital Sunday night when he was summoned to the Adams room by a physician and a nurse.

Three young men who arrived to see the injured Adams were creating a disturbance on the second floor of the hospital, Browning said. They were placed under arrest, and taken to the City Jail.

The three, James Dorsey Marrale, George William Meyers and Robert Joseph Hager, all of this city, forfeited $10 bonds in Trial Magistrates Court.

Potential Dam Sites Are Studied From Helicopter

Corps of Army Engineers personnel flew into this section recently on part of a tour of potential reservoir sites which would safeguard the Washington area's future water supply.

The group of engineers and reporters in a large helicopter was led by Lt. Col. Roy Spurlock of Washington.

They flew over the Potomac River and its North and South branches as a part of the long range study.

Some of the sites viewed included Springfield, Orleans and Patterson Creek.

In 1946, the Army Engineers recommended a comprehensive plan that included 13 impoundments which they considered economically feasible.

Proposed at that time were seven storage reservoirs,—Patterson Creek, Springfield, Edes Fort, Royal Glen, Millville, Brocks Gap and River Bend.

All these were to be operated coordinately for water power, pollution abatement and flood control.

In addition, six head development reservoirs were to be operated mainly for hydroelectric power in conjunction with storage basins.

These six were at Orleans, Rockymarsh Run, Pinesburg, Harpers Ferry, Bear Island and Chain Bridge.

The engineers urged the initial construction of the River Bend project since it had a drainage area of 11,457 miles and its cost was estimated at $15 per acre foot of storage at 1944 prices.

By comparison, a 185-foot dam at Millville, with a 3032-acre drainage area, would have cost $25 per acre foot.

Massive opposition, stirred up by conservationists and farmers whose orchards and land would have been inundated, caused the plan to be shelved.

LaVale Sewage Meeting Set For Monday

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, has requested the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to have at least one of their members attend a meeting Monday on a LaVale sewage problem.

The health officer said that several Health Department officials will attend the session at Dave Gunter's in LaVale. The definite time has not been set.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said he would be unable to attend as he will be on vacation the next three weeks. Commissioner James Orr said that either he or Commissioner William A. Wilson could attend the meeting.

A letter of appreciation was received from the Cresaptown Community Council for the grading of the playground in that area for use as a baseball field. The letter was signed by Florence Borror, secretary of the organization.

Merwin Hast, dog warden for the eastern section of the county and the immediate Cumberland area submitted his report for August.

Hast sold licenses for 227 male dogs, 69 females, four kennels with receipts of $405. His commission was $75. He also reported receipts of $40.50 for adoption of dogs.

Hast picked up 239 dogs, destroyed 201 dogs, 10 dogs were reclaimed by owners and 28 animals were placed in adoption.

The board was notified that Mason Diehl has completed the six-month probationary period as a janitor at the Court House. He is now a permanent employe of the county.

An engineering firm, Hazen and Sawyer, of New York, notified the commissioners that they could not submit a proposal on the survey and report on the Georges Creek sewage situation.

Jewell Is Police Officer At Ridgeley

Donald E. Jewell was appointed a regular member of the Ridgeley Police Force at a meeting of the Mayor and Council Thursday night.

Jewell was named on the recommendation of Police Chief Jack Cornett, who informed Council that Jewell had been a member of the town's Special Police Force for more than two years. The special police assist Chief Cornett in directing traffic and other activities when the occasion arises.

Chief Cornett reported that $448 in fines was collected during August. The major portion of the fines, he explained, resulted from convictions for speeding, which numbered 30, although 16 arrests were made for breach of peace and five motorists were fined for reckless driving.

Public Is Invited To Hear Speech

Parent - Teacher Association members and all others interested have been invited to hear Dr. G. F. Z. Bereday, associate professor of education at Teachers College, Columbia University, today at 10 a. m. in Allegany High School auditorium.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County schools, said the meeting is for the county's 650 teachers and supervisors, but added that any interested person may attend.

Schools opened Thursday and full day sessions will begin Monday.

Circle To Send Toys To Mission

The Kathryn Eye Circle of Melvin Methodist Church held a "Back to School" party Thursday evening in the recreation hall. The room was decorated to resemble a class room. Darlene Klavuhn opened the session by ringing a bell.

Linda Northcraft led the worship and had a meditation on "Tuning Up." Judy Sturtz read the Scripture and Blanche Speir offered prayer. The group sang, "What A Friend."

Routine reports were given by Diana Wentling and Carol Day. Christian art calendars will be sold by the group. A Nursery committee was appointed, consisting of Barbara Delagrange, Linda Northcraft and Sharon Sampson. The group will collect used toys to send to a mission in time for Christmas. Plans were made for a joint birthday party, October 2.

Joy Goodrich was awarded a cash prize for winning the contest to enlist new members and to promote church attendance. During the social hour the group sang "School Days" and played games in keeping with the theme. School box lunches were served.

Missionary To Speak In Lonaconing Church

Raymond M. Stawinski, missionary to Paraguay, will be the guest speaker at services this Sunday at First Pentecostal Church, Lonaconing, according to Rev. Charles E. Fussell, pastor.

He will speak at both the 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. services, describing his experiences as a missionary and unusual native customs in Paraguay.

He plans soon to return to the mission field, accompanied by his wife and daughters, Judy and Marcia, under an appointment of the Foreign Missions Department of the Assemblies of God.

The re-election of Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Mr. Mason said, is important so that he can complete the C & O Canal Park project. Mr. Hyde's opponent, he said, lacks experience and thus far has failed to take a stand on the C & O Park bill.

John A. Derr, candidate for comptroller, and Robert A. Wallace, for attorney-general, he said, are important and should have the full support of Allegany County Republicans.

There is no substitute for experience, he concluded in urging voters to go down the line for Republican candidates on November 4.

Youth Receives Jail Sentence On Two Counts

A local youth, free while waiting trial of his appeal of a two-year prison sentence, was back in the hands of the law yesterday.

Robert Ellsworth Adams, 407 Hay Street, in Trial Magistrates Court received two 60-day sentences in the County Jail plus two $100 fines.

He pleaded guilty to operating on a revoked driver's permit and was found guilty of driving at a speed greater than reasonable when he wrecked the auto he was driving Sunday on Valley Road three miles north of Cumberland.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick sentenced him to pay $100 fine and to serve 60 days in jail on each of the violations.

Dick pointed out that Adams will have to serve an additional 30 days for each of the $100 fines he cannot pay.

Adams recently was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction when he was found guilty in Trial Magistrates Court of two breaking and enterings in establishments on Route 36. He has been free after appealing the decision.

The owner of the car Adams was using Sunday, Robert Eugene Dawson, 415 Columbia Street, was fined $25.75 when he pleaded guilty to permitting an unauthorized person to drive his vehicle.

On top of all this, three other companions of Adams, who appeared at Memorial Hospital Sunday to see him, were arrested by Trooper First Class John F. Browning for disorderly conduct.

The officer said he was investigating another case at the hospital Sunday night when he was summoned to the Adams room by a physician and a nurse.

Three young men who arrived to see the injured Adams were creating a disturbance on the second floor of the hospital, Browning said. They were placed under arrest, and taken to the City Jail.

The three, James Dorsey Marrale, George William Meyers and Robert Joseph Hager, all of this city, forfeited $10 bonds in Trial Magistrates Court.

Potential Dam Sites Are Studied From Helicopter

Corps of Army Engineers personnel flew into this section recently on part of a tour of potential reservoir sites which would safeguard the Washington area's future water supply.

The group of engineers and reporters in a large helicopter was led by Lt. Col. Roy Spurlock of Washington.

They flew over the Potomac River and its North and South branches as a part of the long range study.

Some of the sites viewed included Springfield, Orleans and Patterson Creek.

In 1946, the Army Engineers recommended a comprehensive plan that included 13 impoundments which they considered economically feasible.

Proposed at that time were seven storage reservoirs,—Patterson Creek, Springfield, Edes Fort, Royal Glen, Millville, Brocks Gap and River Bend.

All these were to be operated coordinately for water power, pollution abatement and flood control.

In addition, six head development reservoirs were to be operated mainly for hydroelectric power in conjunction with storage basins.

These six were at Orleans, Rockymarsh Run, Pinesburg, Harpers Ferry, Bear Island and Chain Bridge.

The engineers urged the initial construction of the River Bend project since it had a drainage area of 11,457 miles and its cost was estimated at $15 per acre foot of storage at 1944 prices.

By comparison, a 185-foot dam at Millville, with a 3032-acre drainage area, would have cost $25 per acre foot.

Massive opposition, stirred up by conservationists and farmers whose orchards and land would have been inundated, caused the plan to be shelved.

LaVale Sewage Meeting Set For Monday

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, has requested the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to have at least one of their members attend a meeting Monday on a LaVale sewage problem.

The health officer said that several Health Department officials will attend the session at Dave Gunter's in LaVale. The definite time has not been set.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said he would be unable to attend as he will be on vacation the next three weeks. Commissioner James Orr said that either he or Commissioner William A. Wilson could attend the meeting.

A letter of appreciation was received from the Cresaptown Community Council for the grading of the playground in that area for use as a baseball field. The letter was signed by Florence Borror, secretary of the organization.

Merwin Hast, dog warden for the eastern section of the county and the immediate Cumberland area submitted his report for August.

Hast sold licenses for 227 male dogs, 69 females, four kennels with receipts of $405. His commission was $75. He also reported receipts of $40.50 for adoption of dogs.

Hast picked up 239 dogs, destroyed 201 dogs, 10 dogs were reclaimed by owners and 28 animals were placed in adoption.

Certain Circles Relish Inflation

It isn't greatly surprising that the prospect of further inflation is reported to be relished in certain business circles.

One reason why inflation always has nine lives politically is that those who oppose it publicly do not always oppose it privately. They may actually be pulling for it because they have arranged their affairs on the expectation of further inflation. It is nevertheless doubtful whether inflation ever serves anyone in the long run.

Take the case of the nationally known hotel chain which reportedly is licking its chops about an anticipated inflationary increase in the dollar value of its far-flung real estate holdings.

Despite their bloated book value these hotel properties could quickly become tax-riddled liabilities if they couldn't be profitably operated. The inflation that increased the dollar value of hotel real estate would also multiply wage costs, tax costs and every other operating cost of doing business.

It remains to be demonstrated that endlessly spiraling hotel operating costs could always be passed on in increased room fees. If they couldn't and hotels ever stood vacant the inflated book value of their real estate would be a mirage.

Florida Primary Called Showdown Between Liberals, Conservatives

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The most significant test of liberalism vs. conservatism in the nation is now taking place in Florida in the knockdown drag-out race between ex-Sen. Claude Pepper and Sen. Spessard Holland, both alleged Democrats. The outcome may show a significant trend for the nation.

This summer there have been two elections in Texas and Tennessee which scored important victories for liberals Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee beat a rootin-tootin reactionary backed up by all kinds of Republican-Dixiecrat money; while in Texas, Sen. Ralph Yarborough beat not only Dixiecrat money but the oil crowd and its candidate, ex-Sen. William Blakley of Braniff Airways.

These two tests of liberals vs. conservatives, though important, are nowhere near as clean-cut as the Florida showdown where one of the strongest backers of the New Deal, Claude Pepper, is challenging Senator Holland, idol of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, in a primary vote Sept. 9, which is equivalent to election.

The issue is twofold: 1. McCarthyism. 2. Conservatism.

Palmetto McCarthy

Holland has used the old techniques perfected by the late Senator from Wisconsin, which the Miami News labels "Palmetto McCarthyism," by digging up a photo of Senator Pepper with Vice President Henry Wallace and the Negro singer, Paul Robeson, taken at a Madison Square rally Feb. 12, 1946, when Russia still ranked as a friendly ally and when General Eisenhower had just returned from being feted in Moscow.

The photo, together with an attempt to make Pepper a great friend of the Negro, is being circulated throughout Florida by the "Citizens Committee for Holland," headed by Gen. Sumpter Lowry of Tampa, and will be an important test of whether guilt by association still can be used effectively in a political campaign.

In the Senate, no two men could have been more the opposite than Pepper and Holland. Pepper was not only a backer of New Deal reforms, but a close personal friend of President Roosevelt. He had entree at the White House at almost any hour of the day, frequently attended FDR's intimate Sunday-night suppers, and was a brilliant defender of the President on the Senate floor. His votes were pro-labor, anti-big business. He also introduced much of the public health legislation which led to the National Health Institute, an act which has won the undying opposition of the doctors' lobby, though not of the research specialists.

Holland's Senate record has been exactly the opposite. He helped keep the fair labor clause out of the highway bill, worked privately with Secretary Benson for flexible price supports on farm commodities, officially praised the appointment of Richard Mack to the Federal Communications Commission, though Mack was later forced to resign for a conflict of interest.

Holland's Law Clients

You will find one extremely interesting bill, S 2880, which he introduced in 1957 to amend the Pure Food and Drug Act to "exempt from labelling any pesticide chemicals used to spray agricultural commodities." This would mean that the public would not know whether the fruit it ate was sprayed with DDT or other chemicals now found to be poisonous and dangerous.

Senator Holland introduced this bill for the aid of Florida citrus fruit growers, now heavy backers of his re-election. The bill also helped some of his law clients. American Cyanamid, which retains the Holland law firm, manufactures pesticide chemicals. Holland also represents Ridge Growers, Inc which would benefit from the labelling exemption.

Though Holland has done a lot of favors for the Eisenhower administration, they did not go along with him on his food and drug change. The Acting Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, E. L. Richardson, ruled that "this bill would permit preservative chemicals to be added to fresh fruits and vegetables without any notice to the purchaser or consumer." The bill was killed in the Senate.

In 1950, Holland introduced another bill that would have permitted banks in cities under 12,000 population to serve as insurance agents. He persuaded Pepper, then in the Senate, to join in sponsoring the bill. What Holland didn't tell Pepper, however, was that the bill would have benefited one of his law clients, the Florida National Bank, which is located in Bartow, Fla., a city of 8,000 population. Under the existing regulations, only banks serving cities under 5,000 population would qualify to do insurance business. However, Holland's measure would have raised the population figure just enough to include his Bartow client.

Senate Lobbyists

The Senator from Florida also made Senate history by bringing two lobbyists for the oil industry, Walter Johnson and John Madden, onto the Senate floor to help mastermind the tidelands oil debate. This was the first time in 100 years of Senate history this had happened.

Also well remembered on Capitol Hill was Holland's fight to give Pan American Airways an extra $12,590,000 in subsidies after the Civil Aeronautics Board and other legislators opposed it. Though Holland preaches economy and has opposed subsidies to farmers in the farm bill, nevertheless in the closed-door session of the House-Senate Conference Committee, he argued vigorously for an additional subsidy for Pan American. He pleaded for the subsidy as a "personal thing."

These are the contrasts in the bitter Florida Senate primary. Money has been poured in to re-elect Holland from the Florida duPonts, Arthur Davis of the Aluminum Corporation, Charles Payson, brother-in-law of Ambassador Jock Whitney, James Rand of Remington Rand, and Carl Shwisher, president of King Edward cigars.

Pepper, on the other hand, is getting money in smaller amounts from labor and northern liberals. The odds today are on Holland. The press, the big-money, and big business are 99 per cent behind him. The interesting question is: Will Claude Pepper be able to pull a Harry Truman?

American Imperialism

There never was a less imperialistic nation than the United States. Even such countries as Cuba and the Philippines which we won by war, were given their freedom.

Nevertheless, Soviet and Nasser propaganda in the Middle East has succeeded in building the impression, which is generally believed to be true, that imperialistic United States is the central problem of the era.

The twist has been accomplished mostly by radio which blares forth, in constant repetition, the same tales day in and day out. Even those who are too ignorant to read can listen and here is a sample of the truck that Arab-speaking people hear:

"American imperialism supports France in its dirty war in Algeria and works for its continuation so it will have an opportunity to seize French interests there. The United States, since the end of World War II, has opposed the people. Its weapon has been the traitorous imperialist associates and conspiracies. The U.S. aim was and continues to be the uprooting of the people's liberation movements, and domination of them by force in order to guarantee the sources of raw materials and cheap labor. The aim of American imperialism was and continues to be dragging the people to war whenever possible. War is the source of enormous profits to the war and arms merchants among American industrialists."

The fact that none of this is true does not affect the situation at all. Why need it be true to be believed? Man, in his long travail, has believed much that was not true. There used to be a blackmailer in Shanghai who would approach his victim with the statement: "It has been said and it has not been denied . . ." And so we have been libelled throughout the world as imperialists!

Another libel that is widespread is that our Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, "wants to ignite a war in the Middle East." Why should a meek Presbyterian like Dulles want to foment a war? The answer over the radio is:

". . . He does not care for the people or for peace. What he wants is the oil, cheap raw materials, and cheap labor as well as the opening of markets to the American arms merchants — the merchants of destruction and death."

What will these people say when Europe moves from oil to atomic power, as Europe has moved from coal to oil? What would they say if automobiles ran on alcohol instead of gasoline? It is an easy conversion to make and would use up the surplus grain of the United States and Canada. If it is oil exploitation that alone stands in the way of a peaceful world, the Arabs may discover that the world is no longer as dependent upon oil as it once was. The "Nautilus" has established beyond any doubt that the most modern sea craft can undertake the most daring voyage without dependence upon oil.

If the Arabs make their oil unavailable or too expensive, no one needs to use it. Perhaps Nasser can drown in it. They might get some of their learned men to tell them what is going on in the world today.

It would do the Arabs good to listen to a broadcast from the "Voice of America" on why we do not need their oil and why it will not be long before Europe will not need their oil. As a matter of fact, these Arabs might be given some statistics to show how our own industry has been limited by reducing the allowable removal of oil from the ground.

In a word, these people need to be told a few facts of life. The Arabs have been a subject people for centuries, impoverished, hungry, suffering, sick, scrawny. In some of their countries, the exploitation of oil brought a measure of wealth to their rulers and states, some of which worked its way down to the people. This was not an Arab accomplishment. It was done by British, Americans, Dutch, etc., and Mr. Gulbenkian, the Armenian five percenter. It would do the Arabs no harm to remind them that although they have a long history and a great culture, what have they produced in recent years? Shall we go back to Avicenna (980-1037) and Averroes (1126-1198) to prove that the Arabs are cultured or shall we recognize that it was Great Britain that freed them from the Turks?

Use Of American Armed Forces Is Foreseen

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The use of American armed forces, if this proves necessary to defend Quemoy and the Matsus, is now very nearly a foregone conclusion.

Therefore it is also an even bet—if anything, rather better than even — that this country will be drawn into the fight for these little islands in the Formosa Straits. Quemoy is fairly effectively blockaded already, and the Chinese Nationalists do not have the power to ward off an attack on the scale that the Chinese Communists seem to be preparing.

There are a good many reasons for thinking that the official American policy of "keeping them guessing" masks an actual intention to fight if need be. The most important reason is simply the pattern of attitudes within the Administration.

Those with the most serious shares in the decision, to fight or not to fight, are the President, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and the four Joint Chiefs of Staff. Of the Chiefs of Staff, only Gen. Maxwell W. Taylor has been cautious and hesitant, voicing the kind of doubts that Gen. Omar Bradley also voiced before the decision to respond to the challenge in Korea.

The Navy, in the persons of Adm. Arthur Radford and Adm. Felix Stump, has the largest share of responsibility for Chiang Kai-Shek's heavy, continuing commitment on the offshore islands. Hence the Chief of Staff of the Navy, Adm. Arleigh Burke, is strongly oposed to any backdown or surrender. The same line has been vigorously taken by the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, Gen. Nathan Twining, and the Chief of Staff of the Air Force, Gen. Thomas White.

Secretary of State Dulles, meanwhile, is passionately convinced that any backdown or surrender on Quemoy or the Matsus will surely imperil the Chinese Nationalist regime on Formosa. He further argues that this kind of Chinese Communist triumph will lead on to other very grave Western reverses throughout Asia. Hence Dulles is the most determined of fighting if we must.

In this frame of mind, Dulles would be formidable, even if he were alone. Long ago, President Eisenhower surrendered to his Secretary of State an unprecedented share of the decision-making power in the field of foreign relations. With three of the four Joint Chiefs powerfully backing him, Dulles seems all but certain to carry the day with the President.

As an indication of how far the thing has gone already, it can be stated that a minimum defense line in the Formosa Straits was traced at the top governmental level before Secretary Dulles's flight to see the President in Newport. Certain bare rocks that hardly deserve the name of islands were classified as expendable. But Big Quemoy, Little Quemoy and the five major islands in the Matsu group were all placed on the "must-defend" list.

Such is the trend within the American government. The trend in the Chinese Communist government is equally clearly marked. The Communist leaders have not as yet flatly promised their own people that they will "liberate" the offshore islands. But the domestic propaganda tone has been growing ominously sharper in the last days.

Meanwhile, Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai have deeply engaged their international prestige, by quite openly warning leading members of the diplomatic colony in Peking of their intention to drive Chiang Kai-shek's troops out of Quemoy and the Matsus at all cost. Besides various Asian diplomats, this warning has been bluntly given to the British charge d'affaires at Peking, A. D. Wilson. The Chinese leaders have added, rather grimly, that they would not be deflected from their purpose by American intervention.

In addition, it can now be stated that the Chinese Communist military preparations are on an even more massive scale than had been generally supposed. The redeployment of their most important air units to airfields threatening Quemoy, the Matsus and Formosa proper has already been disclosed. But it has just been learned on high authority that strong Chinese Communist armed forces, numbering about 200,000 men now, have also been assembled in coastal Fukien during the last month. The only possible purpose is to prepare for an attempted landing on the offshore islands.

An immediate landing attempt is not expected, although such an attempt is entirely possible. Here in Washington, the best authorities instead envision a series of harder and harder tests of American intentions, beginning with the semi-blockade of Quemoy already mentioned, which must of course be broken somehow if Quemoy is to be held. If this view is correct, the crisis will develop by stages and rather slowly. But for all the reasons above given, the final prognosis is very far from optimistic.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Our diplomatic bureau has been playing both ends against the middle like a pretzel bender.

Just eased through that last crisis by the skin on Dulles' alligator bag.

But it stitched a fine seam on the Near East. And bit the thread off close to the button.

Protocol was rubbed to a high gloss and the vote was so unanimous that Pakistan forgot to abstain. There wasn't one barber in the posse chasing the headless hossman.

It was so unanimous that even the proxies got a good conduct medal for attendance.

It was a feather in the chicken broth of United Nations. And the first unanimous decision since the monkeys helped Noah pull up the anchor.

Risibles In Church

By Brother Barnabas

"Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone
For this sad old earth must borrow its mirth
It has troubles enough of its own."

The man worth while
Is the man who can smile
When everything goes dead wrong

Man is the only animal that can smile but not all who smile have a sense of humor. Babies smile when they have the colic and that is no laughing matter for the parents.

Laughing may be a special gift of Providence designed to counteract the miseries of man as he travels through this vale of tears. The lachrymose glands provide an emotional outlet at times when the doctor says "she must weep or she will die."

Or, if the trouble is hypertension a hearty, side-splitting yarn may be the proper therapy.

So the medico and the comedian may be partners in the art of healing.

By the same token God himself must have a sense of humor or he wouldn't have made so many people who are jokes.

In Ecclesiastes 3:4 we have on divine authority that there is a time to weep and a time to laugh.

In olden Puritan days church was no place for laughter; rather it was where people went to weep for their sins and to face God whose nature was dimly understood.

The architecture was sombre and sepulchral, and a solemn hush pervaded the stuffy air of sanctity.

This deponent has a feeling that religion is coming to its own in these latter days as evidenced by the fact that more church edifices are being built, more people are worshiping in them, more money is being given for missions and education and that our piety is more intelligent and pragmatic than ever.

There is however room for improvement without a loss to spirituality.

Risibles happen in church when it is noted that 258 separate denominations exist in America each claiming a patent right on salvation. The moon must laugh at that.

Blue Monday

Preachers out of the pulpit swap stories on blue Monday to drive dull care away.

Three of the cloth were discussing the incident of David dancing before the Ark (II Samuel 6:14).

The Presbyterian said it meant that David danced in front of the Ark. The Baptist said no, he danced before the Ark danced; while the Methodist said he danced before the Ark was built.

They were raising money at the dedication of a new church. The hawker was calling out the separate donations.

He came to one and said, "Whose subscription is this? It's a penny. It must be Caesar's."

If anyone wants to know why ministers wear a robe in the pulpit let him turn to Psalm 147: 10 and read: "The Lord takes no pleasure in the legs of a man."

What is the difference between the cherubim and the seraphim? There was a difference but they made it up—a righteous example of church union in recent times.

Humor In Church

Carolyn Wells tells of an impression of her youth when the congregation sang, "Here I'll Raise Mine Ebenezer." She had a doting uncle by that name who was a Presbyterian and she thought the song meant the resolve of a pious mother to raise her son a Presbyterian.

A childish interpreter misread Genesis 5: 24: Enoch walked with God, and was not what God took him for.

Risibles happen in church. If the preacher makes a slip, laugh with him but not at him.

A minister in shaving cut his face and had to wear a patch of court plaster. In explaining how it happened he said he was thinking of his sermon and cut himself.

Next time said the Elder shave your face and cut your sermon.

Isaiah declared (12:3) "With joy you will draw water from the wells of salvation."

There is no place in our religion for longfacedness.

Slipped Disk And Pressure On Sciatic Nerve

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Pain, numbness, and weakness in an arm or a leg may originate in the spine. Pressure on a nerve as it leaves the spinal cord may be responsible, even though distress appears in the extremity. Damage to the cushioning material (disk) between vertebrae is the common cause.

Joe was 40, muscular, and hefty. His lower back ached occasionally but it really gave way when he lifted — in a stooping position — a 75 pound portable saw. Pain in his lower back and right hip was so severe he was unable to straighten up. Backache was gone by the next day but pain in the hip persisted and it was beginning to go down the back of the leg.

He limped into the hospital and was put to bed. The foot was becoming numb and weak, indicating pressure on the sciatic nerve leading to the right leg. Joe remained in bed 10 days until acute distress cooled off. He recovered but had to return to the hospital a year later with the same condition.

Surgery was advised this time as pain failed to subside within two weeks. The surgeon found a ruptured ligament and a disk pushing against the sciatic nerve. There was immediate relief of the intolerable hip and leg pain. He spent another week in the hospital and returned to work a month later after regaining strength.

The vertebrae are separated by firm tough cushioning material that looks like a thick slice of baloney and feels like a piece of broiled lobster. It is softer in the center than on the edge. The disk is held in place by ligaments extending up and down the spine. The spinal cord and nerves are adjacent to and run parallel with the vertebrae column.

When the back is bent and under strain, the disk may slip out of place and press upon a nerve. This happened to Joe, and when the cushioning material failed to go back in place, operation was advised.

PRIMARY TB

Mrs. T. writes: The doctor says my child has primary tuberculosis. How does this differ from ordinary tuberculosis?

REPLY

This is the initial contact with the tubercle bacillus and usually occurs in childhood. In most instances, the disease escapes detection because it may not be as severe as a common cold. Primary tuberculosis is more serious in older persons but is less common because most of us have encountered the bacillus in childhood. The majority of patients in tuberculosis sanitariums have the secondary type of tuberculosis. It is more extensive because the individual has been sensitized to the causative germ through the primary attack.

DIABETIC NEURITIS

Mrs. R. writes: Does diabetes cause neuritis?

REPLY

Yes. The cause is not clear except that a nutritional deficiency usually exists. Relief follows the use of vitamin B, improvements in the diet, and bringing diabetes under control.

DAILY SALTS

L. M. writes: I drink a glass of Epsom salts every day. My family tells me this is harmful. Is it?

REPLY

Yes, if the dose is large enough to create irritation and purging.

NOSEBLEEDS AND PRESSURE

M. R. writes: Is it good for a person with high blood pressure to have frequent nosebleeds?

REPLY

It does no harm, provided it is not massive and anemia does not exist. There is a saying that it is better to have a blood vessel rupture in the nose than in the brain.

MENOPAUSAL AGE

Mrs. W. writes: What is the average age for the menopause?

REPLY

Age 46-47.

REGULAR MEASLES

Mrs. J. writes: Is ordinary measles as harmful as German measles to a pregnant woman?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge, although statistics along this line are meager. The majority of women have had regular measles long before reaching the marriageable age.

GERM REPELLENT

Mrs. L. writes: Generations ago, mothers tied a bag of asafetida around the neck of their offspring. What was this supposed to do?

REPLY

Repel germs through its foul smell.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A clumsy guest at Dorothy Rodgers' beautiful country home toppled over a priceless vase which shattered into a hundred pieces on the marble floor. Beside himself with embarrassment and chagrin, the guest (a lifelong friend, by the way) virtually bought out a florist the next day and inundated Mrs. Rodgers with roses and other blooms. Mrs. Rodgers called him up to thank him, her opening remark being, "That you, Bull? This is China Shop!"

In Las Vegas there's a croupier in one of the posh gambling casinos who bears the improbable name of Sherlock Feldman. He is a great spinner of yarns and, for all I know, several of his reminiscences may have a gem (or germ) of truth in them. Take his story of the time an amateur gambler at the dice table got so excited that the lower plate fell out of his mouth. Without hesitation Sherlock planked his upper on the table and remarked quietly, "You're faded."

Certain Circles Relish Inflation

It isn't greatly surprising that the prospect of further inflation is reported to be relished in certain business circles.

One reason why inflation always has nine lives politically is that those who oppose it publicly do not always oppose it privately. They may actually be pulling for it because they have arranged their affairs on the expectation of further inflation. It is nevertheless doubtful whether inflation ever serves anyone in the long run.

Take the case of the nationally known hotel chain which reportedly is licking its chops about an anticipated inflationary increase in the dollar value of its far-flung real estate holdings.

Despite their bloated book value these hotel properties could quickly become tax-riddled liabilities if they couldn't be profitably operated. The inflation that increased the dollar value of hotel real estate would also multiply wage costs, tax costs and every other operating cost of doing business.

It remains to be demonstrated that endlessly spiraling hotel operating costs could always be passed on in increased room fees. If they couldn't and hotels ever stood vacant the inflated book value of their real estate would be a mirage.

Florida Primary Called Showdown Between Liberals, Conservatives

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The most significant test of liberalism vs. conservatism in the nation is now taking place in Florida in the knockdown drag-out race between ex-Sen. Claude Pepper and Sen. Spessard Holland, both alleged Democrats. The outcome may show a significant trend for the nation.

This summer there have been two elections in Texas and Tennessee which scored important victories for liberals Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee beat a rootin-tootin reactionary backed up by all kinds of Republican-Dixiecrat money; while in Texas, Sen. Ralph Yarborough beat not only Dixiecrat money but the oil crowd and its candidate, ex-Sen. William Blakley of Braniff Airways.

These two tests of liberals vs. conservatives, though important, are nowhere near as clean-cut as the Florida showdown where one of the strongest backers of the New Deal, Claude Pepper, is challenging Senator Holland, idol of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, in a primary vote Sept. 9, which is equivalent to election.

The issue is twofold: 1. McCarthyism. 2. Conservatism.

Palmetto McCarthy

Holland has used the old techniques perfected by the late Senator from Wisconsin, which the Miami News labels "Palmetto McCarthyism," by digging up a photo of Senator Pepper with Vice President Henry Wallace and the Negro singer, Paul Robeson, taken at a Madison Square rally Feb. 12, 1946, when Russia still ranked as a friendly ally and when General Eisenhower had just returned from being feted in Moscow.

The photo, together with an attempt to make Pepper a great friend of the Negro, is being circulated throughout Florida by the "Citizens Committee for Holland," headed by Gen. Sumpter Lowry of Tampa, and will be an important test of whether guilt by association still can be used effectively in a political campaign.

In the Senate, no two men could have been more the opposite than Pepper and Holland. Pepper was not only a backer of New Deal reforms, but a close personal friend of President Roosevelt. He had entree at the White House at almost any hour of the day, frequently attended FDR's intimate Sunday-night suppers, and was a brilliant defender of the President on the Senate floor. His votes were pro-labor, anti-big business. He also introduced much of the public health legislation which led to the National Health Institute, an act which has won the undying opposition of the doctors' lobby, though not of the research specialists.

Holland's Senate record has been exactly the opposite. He helped keep the fair labor clause out of the highway bill, worked privately with Secretary Benson for flexible price supports on farm commodities, officially praised the appointment of Richard Mack to the Federal Communications Commission, though Mack was later forced to resign for a conflict of interest.

Holland's Law Clients

You will find one extremely interesting bill, S 2880, which he introduced in 1957 to amend the Pure Food and Drug Act to "exempt from labelling any pesticide chemicals used to spray agricultural commodities." This would mean that the public would not know whether the fruit it ate was sprayed with DDT or other chemicals now found to be poisonous and dangerous.

Senator Holland introduced this bill for the aid of Florida citrus fruit growers, now heavy backers of his re-election. The bill also helped some of his law clients, American Cyanamid, which retains the Holland law firm, manufactures pesticide chemicals. Holland also represents Ridge Growers, Inc which would benefit from the labelling exemption.

Though Holland has done a lot of favors for the Eisenhower administration, they did not go along with him on his food and drug change. The Acting Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, E. L. Richardson, ruled that "this bill would permit preservative chemicals to be added to fresh fruits and vegetables without any notice to the purchaser or consumer." The bill was killed in the Senate.

In 1950, Holland introduced another bill that would have permitted banks in cities under 12,000 population to serve as insurance agents. He persuaded Pepper, then in the Senate, to join in sponsoring the bill. What Holland didn't tell Pepper, however, was that the bill would have benefited one of his law clients, the Florida National Bank, which is located in Bartow, Fla., a city of 8,000 population. Under the existing regulations, only banks serving cities under 5,000 population would qualify to do insurance business. However, Holland's measure would have raised the population figure just enough to include his Bartow client.

Senate Lobbyists

The Senator from Florida also made Senate history by bringing two lobbyists for the oil industry, Walter Johnson and John Madden, onto the Senate floor to help mastermind the tidelands oil debate. This was the first time in 100 years of Senate history this had happened.

Also well remembered on Capitol Hill was Holland's fight to give Pan American Airways an extra $12,500,000 in subsidies after the Civil Aeronautics Board and other legislators opposed it. Though Holland preaches economy and has opposed subsidies to farmers in the farm bill, nevertheless in the closed-door session of the House-Senate Conference Committee, he argued vigorously for an additional subsidy for Pan American. He pleaded for the subsidy as a "personal thing."

These are the contrasts in the bitter Florida Senate primary. Money has been poured in to re-elect Holland from the Florida duPonts, Arthur Davis of the Aluminum Corporation, Charles Payson, brother-in-law of Ambassador Jock Whitney, James Rand of Remington Rand, and Carl Shwisher, president of King Edward cigars.

Pepper, on the other hand, is getting money in smaller amounts from labor and northern liberals. The odds today are on Holland. The press, the big-money, and big business are 99 per cent behind him. The interesting question is: Will Claude Pepper be able to pull a Harry Truman?

Here in Washington, the best authorities instead envision a series of harder and harder tests of American intentions, beginning with the semi-blockade of Quemoy already mentioned, which must of course be broken somehow if Quemoy is to be held. If this view is correct, the crisis will develop by stages and rather slowly. But for all the reasons above given, the final prognosis is very far from optimistic.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Our diplomatic bureau has been playing both ends against the middle like a pretzel bender.

Just eased through that last crisis by the skin on Dulles' alligator bag.

But it stitched a fine seam on the Near East. And bit the thread off close to the button.

Protocol was rubbed to a high gloss and the vote was so unanimous that Pakistan forgot to abstain. There wasn't one barber in the posse chasing the headless hossman.

It was so unanimous that even the proxies got a good conduct medal for attendance.

It was a feather in the chicken broth of United Nations. And the first unanimous decision since the monkeys helped Noah pull up the anchor.

Risibles In Church

By Brother Barnabas

"Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone
For this sad old earth must borrow its mirth
It has troubles enough of its own."

The man worth while
Is the man who can smile
When everything goes dead wrong

Man is the only animal that can smile but not all who smile have a sense of humor. Babies smile when they have the colic and that is no laughing matter for the parents.

Laughing may be a special gift of Providence designed to counteract the miseries of man as he travels through this vale of tears. The lachrymose glands provide an emotional outlet at times when the doctor says "she must weep or she will die."

Or, if the trouble is hypertension a hearty, side-splitting yarn may be the proper therapy.

So the medico and the comedian may be partners in the art of healing.

By the same token God himself must have a sense of humor or he wouldn't have made so many people who are jokes.

In Ecclesiastes 3:4 we have on divine authority that there is a time to weep and a time to laugh.

In olden Puritan days church was no place for laughter; rather it was where people went to weep for their sins and to face God whose nature was dimly understood.

The architecture was sombre and sepulchral, and a solemn hush pervaded the stuffy air of sanctity.

This deponent has a feeling that religion is coming to its own in these latter days as evidenced by the fact that more church edifices are being built, more people are worshiping in them, more money is being given for missions and education and that our piety is more intelligent and pragmatic than ever.

There is however room for improvement without a loss to spirituality.

Risibles happen in church when it is noted that 258 separate denominations exist in America each claiming a patent right on salvation. The moon must laugh at that.

Blue Monday

Preachers out of the pulpit swap stories on blue Monday to drive dull care away.

Three of the cloth were discussing the incident of David dancing before the Ark (II Samuel 6:14).

The Presbyterian said it meant that David danced in front of the Ark. The Baptist said no, he danced before the Ark danced; while the Methodist said he danced before the Ark was built.

They were raising money at the dedication of a new church. The hawker was calling out the separate donations.

He came to one and said, "Whose subscription is this? It's a penny. It must be Caesar's."

If anyone wants to know why ministers wear a robe in the pulpit let him turn to Psalm 147: 10 and read: "The Lord takes no pleasure in the legs of a man."

What is the difference between the cherubim and the seraphim? There was a difference but they made it up—a righteous example of church union in recent times.

Humor In Church

Carolyn Wells tells of an impression of her youth when the congregation sang, "Here I'll Raise Mine Ebenezer." She had a doting uncle by that name who was a Presbyterian and she thought the song meant the resolve of a pious mother to raise her son a Presbyterian.

A childish interpreter misread Genesis 5: 24: Enoch walked with God, and was not what God took him for.

Risibles happen in church. If the preacher makes a slip, laugh with him but not at him.

A minister in shaving cut his face and had to wear a patch of court plaster. In explaining how it happened he said he was thinking of his sermon and cut himself.

Next time said the Elder shave your face and cut your sermon.

Isaiah declared (12:3) "With joy you will draw water from the wells of salvation."

There is no place in our religion for longfacedness.

Slipped Disk And Pressure On Sciatic Nerve

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Pain, numbness, and weakness in an arm or a leg may originate in the spine. Pressure on a nerve as it leaves the spinal cord may be responsible, even though distress appears in the extremity. Damage to the cushioning material (disk) between vertebrae is the common cause.

Joe was 40, muscular, and hefty. His lower back ached occasionally but it really gave way when he lifted — in a stooping position — a 75 pound portable saw. Pain in his lower back and right hip was so severe he was unable to straighten up. Backache was gone by the next day but pain in the hip persisted and it was beginning to go down the back of the leg.

He limped into the hospital and was put to bed. The foot was becoming numb and weak, indicating pressure on the sciatic nerve leading to the right leg. Joe remained in bed 10 days until acute distress cooled off. He recovered but had to return to the hospital a year later with the same condition.

Surgery was advised this time as pain failed to subside within two weeks. The surgeon found a ruptured ligament and a disk pushing against the sciatic nerve. There was immediate relief of the intolerable hip and leg pain. He spent another week in the hospital and returned to work a month later after regaining strength.

The vertebrae are separated by firm tough cushioning material that looks like a thick slice of baloney and feels like a piece of broiled lobster. It is softer in the center than on the edge. The disk is held in place by ligaments extending up and down the spine. The spinal cord and nerves are adjacent to and run parallel with the vertebrae column.

When the back is bent and under strain, the disk may slip out of place and press upon a nerve. This happened to Joe, and when the cushioning material failed to go back in place, operation was advised.

PRIMARY TB

Mrs. T. writes: The doctor says my child has primary tuberculosis. How does this differ from ordinary tuberculosis?

REPLY

This is the initial contact with the tubercle bacillus and usually occurs in childhood. In most instances, the disease escapes detection because it may not be as severe as a common cold. Primary tuberculosis is more serious in older persons but is less common because most of us have encountered the bacillus in childhood. The majority of patients in tuberculosis sanitariums have the secondary type of tuberculosis. It is more extensive because the individual has been sensitized to the causative germ through the primary attack.

DIABETIC NEURITIS

Mrs. R. writes: Does diabetes cause neuritis?

REPLY

Yes. The cause is not clear except that a nutritional deficiency usually exists. Relief follows the use of vitamin B, improvements in the diet, and bringing diabetes under control.

DAILY SALTS

L. M. writes: I drink a glass of Epsom salts every day. My family tells me this is harmful. Is it?

REPLY

Yes, if the dose is large enough to create irritation and purging.

NOSEBLEEDS AND PRESSURE

M. R. writes: Is it good for a person with high blood pressure to have frequent nosebleeds?

REPLY

It does no harm, provided it is not massive and anemia does not exist. There is a saying that it is better to have a blood vessel rupture in the nose than in the brain.

MENOPAUSAL AGE

Mrs. W. writes: What is the average age for the menopause?

REPLY

Age 46-47.

REGULAR MEASLES

Mrs. J. writes: Is ordinary measles as harmful as German measles to a pregnant woman?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge, although statistics along this line are meager. The majority of women have had regular measles long before reaching the marriageable age.

GERM REPELLENT

Mrs. L. writes: Generations ago, mothers tied a bag of asafetida around the neck of their offspring. What was this supposed to do?

REPLY

Repel germs through its foul smell.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A clumsy guest at Dorothy Rodgers' beautiful country home toppled over a priceless vase which shattered into a hundred pieces on the marble floor. Beside himself with embarrassment and chagrin, the guest (a lifelong friend, by the way) virtually bought out a florist the next day and inundated Mrs. Rodgers with roses and other blooms. Mrs. Rodgers called him up to thank him, her opening remark being, "That you, Bull? This is China Shop!"

In Las Vegas there's a croupier in one of the posh gambling casinos who bears the improbable name of Sherlock Feldman. He is a great spinner of yarns and, for all I know, several of his reminiscences may have a gem (or germ) of truth in them. Take his story of the time an amateur gambler at the dice table got so excited that the lower plate fell out of his mouth. Without hesitation Sherlock planked his upper on the table and remarked quietly, "You're faded."

Bill Virdon's Homer In Tenth Gives Pirates 1-0 Victory

30,319 Fans See Buccos Beat Braves

Witt Beats Willey, Catch By Skinner Saves Game In 10th

By JOHN CARROLL

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Billy Virdon belted a towering home run to lead off the bottom of the 10th inning Friday night to break up a tight pitching duel between rookies George Witt and Carleton Willey and give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 1-0 shutout over the Milwaukee Braves in the opener of the showdown series between the two teams.

Virdon's homer, his ninth of the year, brought 30,319 jubilant Pirate fans to their feet, but proved a heartbreaking loss for Willey who was working on a string of 26 consecutive scoreless innings against the Pittsburghers.

Hits First Pitch

Virdon picked up the first offering from the rookie Braves right hander and shot it into the upper right field stands to cut Milwaukee's National League lead to 8½ games as the Pirates move back into a second-place tie with the rained-out San Francisco Giants.

The victory was a remarkable feat for young Witt, who pitched near-flawless five-hit ball and stretched his scoreless streak against the Braves through 19 innings. In his only other appearance against the world champions this season, he blanked them 10-0 on a two-hitter.

Friday night's game kept the home fans on edge throughout 9½ innings as both teams threatened on several occasions but failed to score in the earlier innings.

Skinner Saves Game

However, it may have been left fielder Bob Skinner's sparkling catch in the tenth inning that saved the game for Witt. With Bill Bruton on third and two out, Johnny Logan sent a ball soaring toward the scoreboard which Skinner caught with his gloved hand after leaping against the board. The cheers had hardly subsided from that play when Virdon delivered his payoff shot.

Witt limited the powerful Braves' batting order to just four singles and a double by Frank Torre as he recorded his eighth victory against two losses. The 10-inning shutout dropped his glittering 1.83 earned run average even lower.

The Pirates now have won 19 of their last 22 home games and the victory was their 71st this season — the most games they have won in any season since 1949.

Bosox Wallop Orioles, 10-2

Baltimore Knocked From Fourth Place

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox went on a hitting spree Friday night and trounced Baltimore, 10-2, behind the four-hit pitching of Tommy Brewer. The loss knocked the Orioles out of fourth place.

The Red Sox backed Brewer with a 14-hit attack with Bill Renna driving in four runs with a pair of doubles, Pete Runnels batting in three, and Dick Gernert lining out three singles and a double in five trips to the plate. But Brewer needed little support as he permitted only four balls to be hit out of the infield.

Wildness cost Brewer a shutout, although he breezed to his 11th victory against 10 defeats. He issued a pair of walks with one out in the eighth and gave up a run-scoring single to Bob Boyd. He gave up another single in the ninth to Bob Nieman, walked the bases loaded and uncorked a wild pitch which allowed the Orioles' final run to score.

The Red Sox were limited to one hit through the first four innings by Jack Harshman, but Renna doubled home a pair of runs in the fifth to start the rout and send Harshman on the way to his 12th loss against 11 victories.

Renna doubled across two more runs in the sixth and before the cannonading was over, Boston, added five more runs off Connie Johnson in the seventh and eighth innings.

Anderson, Schmidt, Cooper And Fraser Reach Semi-Finals

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Queenslander Mal Anderson cracked big Dick Savitt's resistance in one marathon set Friday and scored an 18-16, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3 victory which produced the first all-foreign men's semifinals in 77 years of the U.S. National Tennis Championships.

Before Savitt trudged wearily to the sidelines—a fighting but exhausted loser — Ulf Schmidt, a strapping young Swede, disposed of the lone other American left in the tournament, scampering Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Flam, only U.S. semifinalist a year ago, went down 7-5, 8-6, 8-6.

Three Aussies In Finals

Saturday Anderson goes against Schmidt and Wimbledon titlist Ashley Cooper faces his Australian Davis Cup mate and doubles partner, Neale Fraser.

It was the darkest day ever in American tennis. Oldsters had to go back to 1926 to recall a similarly disheartening turn of events. That year big Bill Tilden and little Bill Johnston fell in the quarter-finals, leaving three Frehchmen—Rene Lacoste, Jean Borotra and Henri Cochet—and Ameiica's Vinnie Richards. Lacoste won it.

Only in the women's division could the Americans in the crowd of 7,000 at the West Side Tennis Club take a great deal of pride.

Althea Is Finalist

Miss Gibson, pressed in the first set, turned her latent power on Britain's 17-year-old, 6-foot Christine Truman for a 11-9, 6-1, victory. Mrs. Fleitz, shifting the racket from right hand to left, crushed Brazil's sensational Maria Ester Bueno 6-2, 6-1.

Miss Gibson and Mrs. Fleitz meet in one semifinal. Those two unseeded dark horses, Jeanne Arth of St. Paul, Minn., and Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., clash in the other.

Optimists, Lions Win

Reach Hot Stove Playoff Finals

The Cumberland Optimists and Lions marched into the final playoffs in the Hot Stove Baseball League by eliminating the Kiwanis Club and Elks last night in a twin bill at Penn Avenue Field.

Allan Kaplon pitched a three-hitter and fanned ten as the Optimists disposed of the pennant winning Kiwanians in the opener by the score of 5-2.

In the nightcap affair, the Lions whipped the Elks by the score of 7-2.

A three-run triple by Jim Stewart was the big blow in the victory of the Optimist Club. Mick Keller and Del Proudfoot also slammed three-baggers. Powelson hit a homer and Charley Boone got a triple for the losers. Boone, losing pitcher, and Powelson, his successor, struck out nine. After being replaced on the mound, Boone played an outoutstanding game at short.

John Balch banged a double and single and Jimmy Bell and Frank Murray also hit safely twice in the Lions' victory. Ronnie Evans started on the mound for the Lions but a bad back forced him out early and Mike Miller, who came on in the second, received credit for the win. The latter fanned nine in the last 5⅓ innings. Ray Redinger, Elks' hurler, whiffed eleven.

The Elks were limited to five hits. Gary Zembower excelled at second base for the losers.

Turnesa, Souchak Lead Utah Open

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The pros were expected to take the course apart in the $17,000 Utah Open and Jimmy Turnesa of Elms Ford, N. Y., and Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., started the wrecking work Friday with first round 64s.

Souchak fired a sizzling five-under par 30 on the front nine of the 6,394-yard Salt Lake Country Club course and came in with a 34 on the back nine. Turnesa had an even 32-32—64.

800 Attend Beall Program, Donate $150 Toward Fund

Approximately 800 persons turned out last night for Beall High School's "Meet The Squad Night" program at Beall Stadium and contributed $150 toward the insurance fund being raised for the school's football players.

In a scrimmage between teams picked from Coach Gerard "Jerry" Calhoun's Beall squad, the Reds defeated the Blues by the score of 12-6.

Dick Plummer put the Blues in front in the first period with a 42-yard touchdown run but Ronnie Komatz scored twice in the third period on runs of 19 and 24 yards to win the game for the Reds. The game was played with the temperature in the high 70s.

Dr. Wayne Hill, Beall High School principal, delivered the address of welcome and Tom Hutchinson was the announcer.

The school's majorettes and twirlers participated in the exercises.

Martinsburg To Host CCC Team Sunday

Local Golfers Seek 7th Win Of Season

The men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club will play its eighth match of the season on Sunday when it engages the Martinsburg Country Club linksmen in a return match at Martinsburg, W. Va.

A buffet luncheon will precede the match scheduled to get under way at 1 p. m.

Cumberland's record to date is six wins and one tie.

The locals won the first match with Martinsburg by the score of 28-5 here on June 8.

Other wins scored by the CCC team were over Fountain Head, Hagerstown, 41¼ to 14¼, North Fork of Johnstown, Pa., 20½ to 18½, Maplehurst of Frostburg, 50 to 13½ and 29½ to 24½ and Kingwood 18-6.

A match scheduled with North Fork on August 13 was rained out. The Preston Country Club held the locals to a 15-15 draw at Kingwood, W. Va., August 24.

Senators Beat Yanks In Ninth

Duren Blows Up And Loses, 6-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Relief ace Ryne Duren walked home three runs with two out in the ninth that gave Washington a 6-3 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night after the Senators had blown a 3-0 lead built on home runs by Roy Sievers and Albie Pearson.

It was the first defeat since July 19 for Duren (6-4), who came on in the ninth after 20-game winner Bob Turley had been lifted for a pinch-hitter as the Yankees tied it 3-all in the eighth.

Dick Hyde (10-3) was the winner in relief, shutting off the Yankees in the eighth, and with his 19 saves has now figured in more than half of Washington's 56 victories for the season. This was Hyde's 49th appearance.

Duren couldn't do anything right. Sievers led off with a bad bounce single in the ninth. Clint Courtney walked and Norm Zauchin was hit with a pitch, loading the bases. Sievers and Courtney were forced at the plate, on a pair of infield grounders, but Duren then walked pinchhitter Neil Chrisley, Ossie Alvarez and Herb Plews for three runs.

Beverly Hanson Leads With 69

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Beverly Hanson, the slender Californian who is having one of her better years as a golf pro, nudged her way in front by a stroke in the Dallas Womens' Open tournament Friday with a first round 3-under-par 35-34—69.

Miss Hanson, fourth-ranking money-winner on the tour this season, packed four birdies into her front nine and picked up another coming home as she nosed out playing partner Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, N. C., who fashioned a 36-34—70.

United States Leads Americas Cup Golf Tests

Canada Is Second And Mexico Third

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor crushed the amateur champs of Canada and Mexico Friday and led the U. S. forces into a huge lead in the fourth Americas Cup match.

Given the No. 1 role in singles, the 41-year-old dentist from Pomona, Calif., helped collect four points for the U. S. team in the first half of the two-day, three-way international match.

Dr. Taylor, runnerup in last year's National Amateur Golf Championships, first teamed with Bill Hyndman III, a lanky Philadelphian, to pick up two points in the morning alternate stroke sixsomes. Then he went out alone and trounced Bruce Castator of Toronto, the 1958 Canadian champion, 6 and 5, and Juan Antonio Estrada, Mexico's amateur titlist, 6 and 4.

It was the most impressive performance of a day which saw the cup defenders rally from a shaky start and pile up a huge lead. At the end of the first day, the scores stood United States 15, Canada 8 and Mexico 4.

In the morning, when heavy dew-wet rough caused some early trouble, the cup defenders had come out of the sixsomes with 4½ points to 2½ for Canada and 2 for Mexico.

One point is awarded for each victory. Three sixsome matches and six singles made up Friday's program and a similar schedule is listed for Saturday.

Taylor's success made up for the comparatively sad showing of Harvie Ward, San Francisco's two-time national champion, who had to work hard for an even break in his matches.

Teamed with defending amateur champion Hillman Robbins in the morning, Ward won one point and lost one in the sixsomes. They needed 80 strokes to get around. It was the same in the afternoon. Ward went out in 40, took a 3 and 2 licking from Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ontario, but won easily 4 and 3 from Mexico's Rafael Quiroz.

Charlie Coe, Okalhoma City, and Rex Baxter Jr., of Amarillo, Tex., also were two-point winners in the singles after they teamed in the morning to earn 1½ points.

Chisox Edge Indians, 4-3

Jim Landis' Hit Breaks 3-3 Tie

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Chicago White Sox came from behind with a three-run rally in the seventh inning Friday night, defeating the Cleveland Indians 4-3. A game-winning single by Jim Landis scored Sherm Lollar, who had tied the score with a two-run double.

Larry Doby drove in all three Cleveland runs with a home run and single. Al Smith homered for Chicago.

Herb Score, who relieved starter Don Mossi, was charged with the loss. Coming in with the Indians leading 3-1 and two men on base, Score gave up Lollar's double and the game-winning single by Landis.

Early Wynn picked up his 13th victory to go with the same amount of losses. It was his fourth win over the Tribe, who have been unable to beat the big right-hander since they traded him to Chicago.

Cardinals Lose To Dodgers, 2-1

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Charley Neal drove in two runs with a second inning single to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

There was no waste motion to the Dodgers' win as they got all three of their hits in the scoring inning.

Steve Bilko led off with a single and stopped at third on Don Zimmer's double to set up Neal's game winning blow.

The Cards loaded the bases in their half of the second on infield hits by Ken Boyer, Del Ennis and Gene Green, then scored their lone run on Wally Moon's ground ball out.

Fred Kipp, removed when the Cards threatened in the seventh inning, was credited with the win to make his season mark 6-4. Clem Labine held the Cards in check the rest of the way.

Barton Tops Westernport In 15-2 Tilt

Braves Take Lead In Twilight Series

Belting the offerings of two pitchers for a total of 12 hits and scoring in five of the seven innings, Barton's Braves trimmed Westernport yesterday on the latter's field by the score of 15-2 and grabbed a 2-1 lead in the final best-of-five games series in the Twilight Baseball League.

Mike Muir and Ed Warnick with a double and single each and Ellis Fazenbaker and Johnson with two singles apiece sparked the Braves' assault on Junie Perry and Dick Niland.

Ronald "Butch" Young turned back Westernport with five safeties and struck out five. Perry, who was supplanted by Niland in the final frame when Barton scored five runs, was tagged with the loss. He whiffed six.

Ollie Smith garnered two of the losers' five hits. Alex Ambrose smacked a two-bagger.

Manager Louis Lashbaugh's Braves will play host in the fourth game of the series on Monday at 5:30 p. m. Score:

Stringtown Cops Series Opener, 3-2

Kennell's Mill Is Host Tuesday

Stringtown drew first blood in the final playoff series of the County Softball League by defeating Kennell's Mill in the opener of the best-of-five set yesterday at Stringtown by the score of 3-2.

Bill and "Corky" Jamison and "Solly" Emerick accounted for the winners' five hits. Bill slammed a homer, "Corky" belted a triple and single and "Solly" collected a pair of one-base knocks.

Jack Lowery collected two hits and Gomer smacked a two-bagger for Kennell's Mill.

Ray Troutman went the distance for Stringtown. Paul Stair started on the mound for Kennell's Mill and was relieved by Vernon Lowery in the fifth when Stringtown sewed up the decision with a three-run rally.

The second game of the series is set for Kennell's Mill Tuesday at 6 p. m. Score:

Kennell's Mill	002	000	0— 2	6 0

Local 26 Bags Series Opener

Decker Gets 4 Hits In 10 To 6 Victory

Manager Don Decker, who gained fame as an extra point kicker in football at Fort Hill High School and the University of Maryland, used a bat with telling effect yesterday when he slammed a pair of doubles and two singles for a perfect day at the plate to lead Local 26 to a 10-6 victory over Western Maryland Railway at East Side Field in the first game of the best-of-three final playoff series in the Men's Rec Softball League.

The Rubber Workers sewed it up with four runs in the last two inning after Lambert's three-run homer in the fifth had knotted the score at 6-6.

Lou Fabbri pounded a triple and single and Frank "Pickles" Doolan, the winning pitcher, collected a pair of singles.

John Russell had two blows for the railroaders who outhit the pennant winners, 11 to 8.

The second game is set for Tuesday at Post Field and the third contest, if necessary, will be staged Thursday at East Side. Score:

Pen-Mar Teams To Battle For Finals Berths Today

Barrelville Visits Hyndman; Zihlman Faces Grantsville

Finals berths in the Pen-Mar Baseball League playoffs are at stake today when Zihlman tackles Grantsville on the Garrett countians' field and Barrelville's Old Exports do battle with the Hyndman Merchants at Hyndman in the third and deciding games of their series.

The winners of today's games will clash Sunday in the opener of the best-of-five final playoff series. The site for Sunday's game will not be known until today's contests are completed.

Today's finale between Barrelville and Hyndman should be a humdinger since all six games played by these teams this season have been close. Bob Bryant's Merchants bagged the season championship and won three out of four games from the Old Exports. The scores were 2-1, 4-1 and 3-0 and Barrelville's lone win was by the score of 6-3. Last Sunday, Manager "Buck" Fiorita's outfit won the series opener in Hyndman, 2-1, but the Merchants came back to square up the count at one-all by copping a 2-1 thriller. Last season Barrelville won the playoffs after Hyndman bagged the season title.

Grantsville won the season series from Zihlman, three games to one. In the playoff opener, the Zippers won by the score of 8-3. The Sluggers squared accounts on Labor Day by blanking Zihlman, 5-0.

Probable pitchers for today's games will be Glenn Deremer or Jim Leydig for Hyndman; Bobby Raines or Jesse Markley for Barrelville; Bill Haberlein for Zihlman and either Bobby Dawson or Robert Keister for Grantsville.

The Saturday and Sunday games are scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m.

Basilio Stops Aragon In 8th At Los Angeles

One-sided Affair Halted By Referee

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rugged Carmen Basilio, 155½, of Canastota, N. Y., dealt out the cruellest sort of punishment and knocked out Art Aragon, 152, Los Angeles' Golden Boy of boxing, in the eighth round of their scheduled 12-rounder in Wrigley Field Friday night.

Referee Tommy Hart stopped the one-sided brawl after 1:27 of the round as a crowd estimated at 20,000 appealed for him to halt the slaughter.

Earning a chance to regain the world middleweight championship he lost to Sugar Ray Robinson last March, Basilio had Aragon battered and bleeding from bad cuts of both eyes.

Referee Hart did not bother to count out Aragon. Under California rules, a match can be stopped if a fighter is helplessly beaten, and it goes into the books as a knockout.

The knockout was the first in 103 fights for the Californian dating back to 1944.

Cut eyes halted one of his earlier fights in 1948 when the technical knockout rule was in force in this state.

The battle-scarred Basilio entered the ring a solid 3-1 favorite in a fight that actually had little betting on it. It was not long before the ringside fans and a national television audience could tell that the odds were justified.

Detroit Beats Athletics, 4-1

Foytack Registers 12th Win Of Year

DETROIT (UPI) — Al Kaline homered and Frank Bolling doubled in two runs in the first inning Friday to give Paul Foytack all he needed for a 4-1 Detroit Tiger victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Foytack scattered five hits in winning his 12th against 11 defeats. He struck out eight and walked four and didn't give up a hit until the fourth inning.

Kaline walloped his 14th homer with two out in the first off Ned Garver. Gail Harris singled and Charlie Maxwell walked to set the stage for Bolling's two-run double.

Detroit put together a pair of singles and a walk for a final run in the eighth.

Redlegs Whip Robin Roberts

Newcombe Scores 6th Triumph, 8-4

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Cincinnati Redlegs chased Robin Roberts with four straight hits to open the sixth inning Friday night and then went on to hand the Philadelphia Phillies an 8-4 defeat for the Phils' fourth straight loss.

Gus Bell and Jerry Lynch each batted in three runs as Don Newcombe won his sixth victory as a Redleg and his fourth in a row. Big Newk gave up nine hits, including Harry Anderson's 20th homer with one on in the sixth before he retired in favor of Brooks Lawrence who pitched the final three innings.

The score was tied 2-2, in the sixth when George Crowe, Alex Grammas, Roy McMillan and Newcombe broke off successive singles for two runs. Jack Meyer came in and walked Johnny Temple to fill the bases.

An infield out scored the third run and then Bell hit a two-run triple for two more before Jack Sanford came to Meyer's rescue to retire the next two batters.

Rookie Don Erickson pitched the final two innings for the Phils and gave up two hits and one unearned run.

VFW Bounce Back, Whip Caseys, 7-1

Elliott And Grimes Hit Round-Trippers

The Veterans of Foreign Wars bounced back yesterday to even up their final playoff series in the Rocking Chair Softball League with the Knights of Columbus by trimming the latter by the score of 7-1 at Stitcher Field.

Homers accounted for five of the seven runs scored by the pennant winners. Floyd "Pete" Elliott clubbed a four-master after Manager Cecil Grimes had singled in the second inning and in the sixth Grimes hit a round-tripper after Mil Dean and "Butch" Johnson had connected for singles.

The Vets scored their first run in the opening stanza when Ted Durbin singled, Jim Eckard was safe on an error and Vern Penner hammered over the tally on a fielder's choice. Singles by Dean, "Bub" Porter and Elliott produced another tally in the fourth.

Al Sheetz was nicked for an even dozen safeties while Elliott was turning back the Caseys with six bingles, two of which were credited to "Chug" Aman.

The Caseys averted a shutout in the fifth inning when singles by Norm Geatz, Bob McGreevy and Jack Steiner produced their lone marker.

Phil Reuschel obtained three hits for the V.F.W. while Grimes, Elliott and Dean garnered two each. Eckard at short was the game's fielding star.

Each team has won two games in the series which will be concluded Monday at 6 p.m., at Stitcher Field. Score:

Orioles Recall Jerry Walker

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) —The Baltimore Orioles Friday recalled pitcher Jerry Walker, shortstop Ron Hansen and outfielder Leo Burke from their Knoxville (Tenn) Club in the Sally League.

Hansen and Burke will join the Orioles in Baltimore this week end and Walker will report to the club next week in Kansas City.

Walker, a right-hander who signed a bonus contract with Baltimore in May of 1957, had an 18-4 record with Knoxville this season. Burke, a right-handed hitter, batted .308 at Knoxville and hit 17 home runs. Hansen hit .213 for the Sally League team.

Bill Virdon's Homer In Tenth Gives Pirates 1-0 Victory

Witt Beats Willey, Catch By Skinner Saves Game In 10th

By JOHN CARROLL

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Billy Virdon belted a towering home run to lead off the bottom of the 10th inning Friday night to break up a tight pitching duel between rookies George Witt and Carleton Willey and give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 1-0 shutout over the Milwaukee Braves in the opener of the showdown series between the two teams.

Virdon's homer, his ninth of the year, brought 30,319 jubilant Pirate fans to their feet, but proved a heartbreaking loss for Willey who was working on a string of 26 consecutive scoreless innings against the Pittsburghers.

Hits First Pitch

Virdon picked up the first offering from the rookie Braves right hander and shot it into the upper right field stands to cut Milwaukee's National League lead to 8½ games as the Pirates move back into a second-place tie with the rained-out San Francisco Giants.

The victory was a remarkable feat for young Witt, who pitched near-flawless five-hit ball and stretched his scoreless streak against the Braves through 19 innings. In his only other appearance against the world champions this season, he blanked them 10-0 on a two-hitter.

Friday night's game kept the home fans on edge throughout 9½ innings as both teams threatened on several occasions but failed to score in the earlier innings.

Skinner Saves Game

However, it may have been left fielder Bob Skinner's sparkling catch in the tenth inning that saved the game for Witt. With Bill Bruton on third and two out, Johnny Logan sent a ball soaring toward the scoreboard which Skinner caught with his gloved hand after leaping against the board. The cheers had hardly subsided from that play when Virdon delivered his payoff shot.

Witt limited the powerful Braves' batting order to just four singles and a double by Frank Torre as he recorded his eighth victory against two losses. The 10-inning shutout dropped his glittering 1.83 earned run average even lower.

The Pirates now have won 19 of their last 22 home games and the victory was their 71st this season — the most games they have won in any season since 1949.

Bosox Wallop Orioles, 10-2

Baltimore Knocked From Fourth Place

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox went on a hitting spree Friday night and trounced Baltimore, 10-2, behind the four-hit pitching of Tommy Brewer. The loss knocked the Orioles out of fourth place.

The Red Sox backed Brewer with a 14-hit attack with Bill Renna driving in four runs with a pair of doubles, Pete Runnels batting in three, and Dick Gernert lining out three singles and a double in five trips to the plate. But Brewer needed little support as he permitted only four balls to be hit out of the infield.

Wildness cost Brewer a shutout, although he breezed to his 11th victory against 10 defeats. He issued a pair of walks with one out in the eighth and gave up a run-scoring single to Bob Boyd. He gave up another single in the ninth to Bob Nieman, walked the bases loaded and uncorked a wild pitch which allowed the Orioles' final run to score.

The Red Sox were limited to one hit through the first four innings by Jack Harshman, but Renna doubled home a pair of runs in the fifth to start the rout and send Harshman on the way to his 12th loss against 11 victories.

Renna doubled across two more runs in the sixth and before the cannonading was over, Boston added five more runs off Connie Johnson in the seventh and eighth innings.

Savitt And Flam Beaten, Althea Gibson Finalist

Anderson, Schmidt, Cooper And Fraser Reach Semi-Finals

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Queenslander Mal Anderson cracked big Dick Savitt's resistance in one marathon set Friday and scored an 18-16, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3 victory which produced the first all-foreign men's semifinals in 77 years of the U.S. National Tennis Championships.

Before Savitt trudged wearily to the sidelines—a fighting but exhausted loser — Ulf Schmidt, a strapping young Swede, disposed of the lone other American left in the tournament, scampering Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Flam, only U.S. semifinalist a year ago, went down 7-5, 8-6, 8-6.

Three Aussies In Finals

Saturday Anderson goes against Schmidt and Wimbledon titlist Ashley Cooper faces his Australian Davis Cup mate and doubles partner, Neale Fraser.

It was the darkest day ever in American tennis. Oldsters had to go back to 1926 to recall a similarly disheartening turn of events. That year big Bill Tilden and little Bill Johnston fell in the quarter-finals, leaving three Frehchmen—Rene Lacoste, Jean Borotra and Henri Cochet—and Amelica's Vinnie Richards. Lacoste won it.

Only in the women's division could the Americans in the crowd of 7,000 at the West Side Tennis Club take a great deal of pride.

Althea Is Finalist

Miss Gibson, pressed in the first set, turned her latent power on Britain's 17-year-old, 6-foot Christine Truman for a 11-9, 6-1, victory. Mrs. Fleitz, shifting the racket from right hand to left, crushed Brazil's sensational Maria Ester Bueno 6-2, 6-1.

Miss Gibson and Mrs. Fleitz meet in one semifinal. Those two unseeded dark horses, Jeanne Arth of St. Paul, Minn., and Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., clash in the other.

Optimists, Lions Win

Reach Hot Stove Playoff Finals

The Cumberland Optimists and Lions marched into the final playoffs in the Hot Stove Baseball League by eliminating the Kiwanis Club and Elks last night in a twin bill at Penn Avenue Field.

Allan Kaplon pitched a three-hitter and fanned ten as the Optimists disposed of the pennant winning Kiwanians in the opener by the score of 5-2.

In the nightcap affair, the Lions whipped the Elks by the score of 7-2.

A three-run triple by Jim Stewart was the big blow in the victory of the Optimist Club. Mick Keller and Del Proudfoot also slammed three-baggers. Powelson hit a homer and Charley Boone got a triple for the losers. Boone, losing pitcher, and Powelson, his successor, struck out nine. After being replaced on the mound, Boone played an outoutstanding game at short.

John Balch banged a double and single and Jimmy Bell and Frank Murray also hit safely twice in the Lions' victory. Ronnie Evans started on the mound for the Lions but a bad back forced him out early and Mike Miller, who came on in the second, received credit for the win. The latter fanned nine in the last 5⅓ innings. Ray Redinger, Elks' hurler, whiffed eleven.

The Elks were limited to five hits. Gary Zembower excelled at second base for the losers.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The pros were expected to take the course apart in the $17,000 Utah Open and Jimmy Turnesa of Elms Ford, N. Y., and Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., started the wrecking work Friday with first round 64s.

Souchak fired a sizzling five-under par 30 on the front nine of the 6,394-yard Salt Lake Country Club course and came in with a 34 on the back nine. Turnesa had an even 32-32—64.

800 Attend Beall Program, Donate $150 Toward Fund

Approximately 800 persons turned out last night for Beall High School's "Meet The Squad Night" program at Beall Stadium and contributed $150 toward the insurance fund being raised for the school's football players.

In a scrimmage between teams picked from Coach Gerard "Jerry" Calhoun's Beall squad, the Reds defeated the Blues by the score of 12-6.

Dick Plummer put the Blues in front in the first period with a 42-yard touchdown run but Ronnie Komatz scored twice in the third period on runs of 19 and 24 yards to win the game for the Reds. The game was played with the temperature in the high 70s.

Dr. Wayne Hill, Beall High School principal, delivered the address of welcome and Tom Hutchinson was the announcer.

The school's majorettes and twirlers participated in the exercises.

Martinsburg To Host CCC Team Sunday

Local Golfers Seek 7th Win Of Season

The men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club will play its eighth match of the season on Sunday when it engages the Martinsburg Country Club linksmen in a return match at Martinsburg, W. Va.

A buffet luncheon will precede the match scheduled to get under way at 1 p. m.

Cumberland's record to date is six wins and one tie.

The locals won the first match with Martinsburg by the score of 28-5 here on June 8.

Other wins scored by the CCC team were over Fountain Head, Hagerstown, 41¼ to 14¼, North Fork of Johnstown, Pa., 20½ to 18½, Maplehurst of Frostburg, 50 to 13½ and 29½ to 24½ and Kingwood 18-6.

A match scheduled with North Fork on August 13 was rained out. The Preston Country Club held the locals to a 15-15 draw at Kingwood, W. Va., August 24.

Senators Beat Yanks In Ninth

Duren Blows Up And Loses, 6-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Relief ace Ryne Duren walked home three runs with two out in the ninth that gave Washington a 6-3 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night after the Senators had blown a 3-0 lead built on home runs by Roy Sievers and Albie Pearson.

It was the first defeat since July 19 for Duren (6-4), who came on in the ninth after 20-game winner Bob Turley had been lifted for a pinch-hitter as the Yankees tied it 3-all in the eighth.

Dick Hyde (10-3) was the winner in relief, shutting off the Yankees in the eighth, and with his 19 saves has now figured in more than half of Washington's 56 victories for the season. This was Hyde's 49th appearance.

Duren couldn't do anything right. Sievers led off with a bad bounce single in the ninth. Clint Courtney walked and Norm Zauchin was hit with a pitch, loading the bases. Sievers and Courtney were forced at the plate, on a pair of infield grounders, but Duren then walked pinchhitter Neil Chrisley, Ossie Alvarez and Herb Plews for three runs.

Miss Hanson, fourth-ranking money-winner on the tour this season, packed four birdies into her front nine and picked up another coming home as she nosed out playing partner Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, N. C., who fashioned a 36-34—70.

United States Leads Americas Cup Golf Tests

Canada Is Second And Mexico Third

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor crushed the amateur champs of Canada and Mexico Friday and led the U. S. forces into a huge lead in the fourth Americas Cup match.

Given the No. 1 role in singles, the 41-year-old dentist from Pomona, Calif., helped collect four points for the U. S. team in the first half of the two-day, three-way international match.

Dr. Taylor, runnerup in last year's National Amateur Golf Championships, first teamed with Bill Hyndman III, a lanky Philadelphian, to pick up two points in the morning alternate stroke sixsomes. Then he went out alone and trounced Bruce Castator of Toronto, the 1958 Canadian champion, 6 and 5, and Juan Antonio Estrada, Mexico's amateur titlist, 6 and 4.

It was the most impressive performance of a day which saw the cup defenders rally from a shaky start and pile up a huge lead. At the end of the first day, the scores stood United States 15, Canada 8 and Mexico 4.

In the morning, when heavy dew-wet rough caused some early trouble, the cup defenders had come out of the sixsomes with 4½ points to 2½ for Canada and 2 for Mexico.

One point is awarded for each victory. Three sixsome matches and six singles made up Friday's program and a similar schedule is listed for Saturday.

Taylor's success made up for the comparatively sad showing of Harvie Ward, San Francisco's two-time national champion, who had to work hard for an even break in his matches.

Teamed with defending amateur champion Hillman Robbins in the morning, Ward won one point and lost one in the sixsomes. They needed 80 strokes to get around. It was the same in the afternoon. Ward went out in 40, took a 3 and 2 licking from Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ontario, but won easily 4 and 3 from Mexico's Rafael Quiroz.

Charlie Coe, Okalhoma City, and Rex Baxter Jr., of Amarillo, Tex., also were two-point winners in the singles after they teamed in the morning to earn 1½ points.

Chisox Edge Indians, 4-3

Jim Landis' Hit Breaks 3-3 Tie

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Chicago White Sox came from behind with a three-run rally in the seventh inning Friday night, defeating the Cleveland Indians 4-3. A game-winning single by Jim Landis scored Sherm Lollar, who had tied the score with a two-run double.

Larry Doby drove in all three Cleveland runs with a home run and single. Al Smith homered for Chicago.

Herb Score, who relieved starter Don Mossi, was charged with the loss. Coming in with the Indians leading 3-1 and two men on base, Score gave up Lollar's double and the game-winning single by Landis.

Early Wynn picked up his 13th victory to go with the same amount of losses. It was his fourth win over the Tribe, who have been unable to beat the big right-hander since they traded him to Chicago.

Jim Wilson took over when Wynn gave way to pinch-hitter Lollar in the seventh. Wilson shut out the Indians the rest of the way, giving up only one hit, a double by Rocky Colavito.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Charley Neal drove in two runs with a second inning single to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

There was no waste motion to the Dodgers' win as they got all three of their hits in the scoring inning.

Steve Bilko led off with a single and stopped at third on Don Zimmer's double to set up Neal's game winning blow.

The Cards loaded the bases in their half of the second on infield hits by Ken Boyer, Del Ennis and Gene Green, then scored their lone run on Wally Moon's ground ball out.

Fred Kipp, removed when the Cards threatened in the seventh inning, was credited with the win to make his season mark 6-4. Clem Labine held the Cards in check the rest of the way.

Barton Tops Westernport In 15-2 Tilt

Braves Take Lead In Twilight Series

Belting the offerings of two pitchers for a total of 12 hits and scoring in five of the seven innings, Barton's Braves trimmed Westernport yesterday on the latter's field by the score of 15-2 and grabbed a 2-1 lead in the final best-of-five games series in the Twilight Baseball League.

Mike Muir and Ed Warnick with a double and single each and Ellis Fazenbaker and Johnson with two singles apiece sparked the Braves' assault on Junie Perry and Dick Niland.

Ronald "Butch" Young turned back Westernport with five safeties and struck out five. Perry, who was supplanted by Niland in the final frame when Barton scored five runs, was tagged with the loss. He whiffed six.

Ollie Smith garnered two of the losers' five hits. Alex Ambrose smacked a two-bagger.

Manager Louis Lashbaugh's Braves will play host in the fourth game of the series on Monday at 5:30 p. m. Score:

Stringtown Cops Series Opener, 3-2

Kennell's Mill Is Host Tuesday

Stringtown drew first blood in the final playoff series of the County Softball League by defeating Kennell's Mill in the opener of the best-of-five set yesterday at Stringtown by the score of 3-2.

Bill ard "Corky" Jamison and "Solly" Emerick accounted for the winners' five hits. Bill slammed a homer, "Corky" belted a triple and single and "Solly" collected a pair of one-base knocks.

Jack Lowery collected two hits and Gomer smacked a two-bagger for Kennell's Mill.

Ray Troutman went the distance for Stringtown. Paul Stair started on the mound for Kennell's Mill and was relieved by Vernon Lowery in the fifth when Stringtown sewed up the decision with a three-run rally.

The second game of the series is set for Kennell's Mill Tuesday at 6 p. m. Score:

Local 26 Bags Series Opener

Decker Gets 4 Hits In 10 To 6 Victory

Manager Don Decker, who gained fame as an extra point kicker in football at Fort Hill High School and the University of Maryland, used a bat with telling effect yesterday when he slammed a pair of doubles and two singles for a perfect day at the plate to lead Local 26 to a 10-6 victory over Western Maryland Railway at East Side Field in the first game of the best-of-three final playoff series in the Men's Rec Softball League.

The Rubber Workers sewed it up with four runs in the last two inning after Lambert's three-run homer in the fifth had knotted the score at 6-6.

Lou Fabbri pounded a triple and single and Frank "Pickles" Doolan, the winning pitcher, collected a pair of singles.

John Russell had two blows for the railroaders who outhit the pennant winners, 11 to 8.

The second game is set for Tuesday at Post Field and the third contest, if necessary, will be staged Thursday at East Side. Score:

Pen-Mar Teams To Battle For Finals Berths Today

Barrelville Visits Hyndman; Zihlman Faces Grantsville

Finals berths in the Pen-Mar Baseball League playoffs are at stake today when Zihlman tackles Grantsville on the Garrett countians' field and Barrelville's Old Exports do battle with the Hyndman Merchants at Hyndman in the third and deciding games of their series.

The winners of today's games will clash Sunday in the opener of the best-of-five final playoff series. The site for Sunday's game will not be known until today's contests are completed.

Today's finale between Barrelville and Hyndman should be a humdinger since all six games played by these teams this season have been close. Bob Bryant's Merchants bagged the season championship and won three out of four games from the Old Exports. The scores were 2-1, 4-1 and 3-0 and Barrelville's lone win was by the score of 6-3. Last Sunday, Manager "Buck" Fiorita's outfit won the series opener in Hyndman, 2-1, but the Merchants came back to square up the count at one-all by copping a 2-1 thriller. Last season Barrelville won the playoffs after Hyndman bagged the season title.

Grantsville won the season series from Zihlman, three games to one. In the playoff opener, the Zippers won by the score of 8-3. The Sluggers squared accounts on Labor Day by blanking Zihlman, 5-0.

Probable pitchers for today's games will be Glenn Deremer or Jim Leydig for Hyndman; Bobby Raines or Jesse Markley for Barrelville; Bill Haberlein for Zihlman and either Bobby Dawson or Robert Keister for Grantsville.

The Saturday and Sunday games are scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m.

Basilio Stops Aragon In 8th At Los Angeles

One-sided Affair Halted By Referee

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rugged Carmen Basilio, 155½, of Canastota, N. Y., dealt out the cruellest sort of punishment and knocked out Art Aragon, 152, Los Angeles' Golden Boy of boxing, in the eighth round of their scheduled 12-rounder in Wrigley Field Friday night.

Referee Tommy Hart stopped the one-sided brawl after 1:27 of the round as a crowd estimated at 20,000 appealed for him to halt the slaughter.

Earning a chance to regain the world middleweight championship he lost to Sugar Ray Robinson last March, Basilio had Aragon battered and bleeding from bad cuts of both eyes.

Referee Hart did not bother to count out Aragon. Under California rules, a match can be stopped if a fighter is helplessly beaten, and it goes into the books as a knockout.

The knockout was the first in 103 fights for the Californian dating back to 1944.

Cut eyes halted one of his earlier fights in 1948 when the technical knockout rule was in force in this state.

The battle-scarred Basilio entered the ring a solid 3-1 favorite in a fight that actually had little betting on it. It was not long before the ringside fans and a national television audience could tell that the odds were justified.

Detroit Beats Athletics, 4-1

Foytack Registers 12th Win Of Year

DETROIT (UPI) — Al Kaline homered and Frank Bolling doubled in two runs in the first inning Friday to give Paul Foytack all he needed for a 4-1 Detroit Tiger victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Foytack scattered five hits in winning his 12th against 11 defeats. He struck out eight and walked four and didn't give up a hit until the fourth inning.

Kaline walloped his 14th homer with two out in the first off Ned Garver. Gail Harris singled and Charlie Maxwell walked to set the stage for Bolling's two-run double.

Detroit put together a pair of singles and a walk for a final run in the eighth.

VFW Bounce Back, Whip Caseys, 7-1

Elliott And Grimes Hit Round-Trippers

The Veterans of Foreign Wars bounced back yesterday to even up their final playoff series in the Rocking Chair Softball League with the Knights of Columbus by trimming the latter by the score of 7-1 at Stitcher Field.

Homers accounted for five of the seven runs scored by the pennant winners. Floyd "Pete" Elliott clubbed a four-master after Manager Cecil Grimes had singled in the second inning and in the sixth Grimes hit a round-tripper after Mil Dean and "Butch" Johnson had connected for singles.

The Vets scored their first run in the opening stanza when Ted Durbin singled, Jim Eckard was safe on an error and Vern Penner hammered over the tally on a fielder's choice. Singles by Dean, "Bub" Porter and Elliott produced another tally in the fourth.

Al Sheetz was nicked for an even dozen safeties while Elliott was turning back the Caseys with six bingles, two of which were credited to "Chug" Aman.

The Caseys averted a shutout in the fifth inning when singles by Norm Geatz, Bob McGreevy and Jack Steiner produced their lone marker.

Phil Reuschel obtained three hits for the V.F.W. while Grimes, Elliott and Dean garnered two each. Eckard at short was the game's fielding star.

Each team has won two games in the series which will be concluded Monday at 6 p.m., at Stitcher Field. Score:

Orioles Recall Jerry Walker

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) —The Baltimore Orioles Friday recalled pitcher Jerry Walker, shortstop Ron Hansen and outfielder Leo Burke from their Knoxville (Tenn) Club in the Sally League.

Hansen and Burke will join the Orioles in Baltimore this week end and Walker will report to the club next week in Kansas City.

Walker, a right-hander who signed a bonus contract with Baltimore in May of 1957, had an 18-4 record with Knoxville this season. Burke, a right-handed hitter, batted .308 at Knoxville and hit 17 home runs. Hansen hit .213 for the Sally League team.

Scoring one or more touchdowns in every period, Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks launched their 25th football campaign by clobbering Hancock High School by the score of 53-0 yesterday at Ridgeley in the first game of the 1958 season in the tri-state area.

Bill Scott accounted for two of the Hawks' eight touchdowns and also made two of the five conversions. The other tds were credited to Frank Lambert, Mike Detrick, Ronnie Gulbronson, Roger Powers, Ken Phillips and Dave Aldridge.

On the first play from scrimmage in the opening period, Roger Powers scored on a 62-yard run. A Frank Lambert to Bill Scott pass covered 52 yards for another six-pointer and Mike Lambert tallied on a 22-yard pass from Frank Lambert.

Ronnie Gulbronson intercepted Kenny Shives' pass and returned it forty yards for the last Ridgeley touchdown in the closing seconds of the game.

Other scores were registered on short gains.

Hancock's small and inexperienced team never had a chance. The Washington countians were limited to three first downs, completed four of eight passes for only seven yards and picked up only 30 net yards rushing.

Ridgeley reeled off 10 first downs, completed 12 of 17 aerials for 157 yards and piled up 228 net yards on the ground.

It was the second meeting of the teams, Ridgeley having won the 1957 game by the score of 18-6.

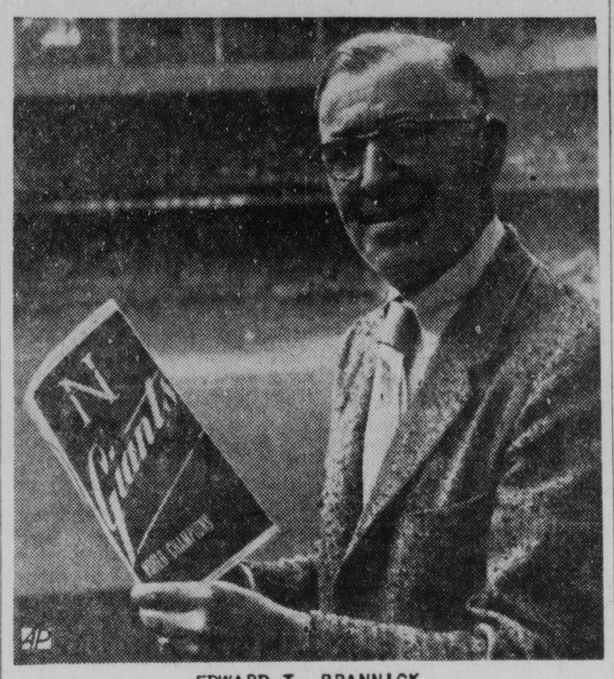
DETROIT — The Detroit Lions scored a field goal, a touchdown, an extra point and a safety, in 95 seconds in a 26-7 pre-season game victory over the New York Giants.

Pitchman Ed Brannick Grew Up With Giants



EDWARD T. BRANNICK

A LIFE-TIME OF BASEBALL: Edward T. Brannick, who went to work for the old New York Giants in 1905 as a scoreboard boy and rose through the years to the position of traveling secretary, poses with one of his mementos. Brannick now practices his trade in San Francisco.

By GEORGE ESPER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — When you first see the guy, he might strike you as being a song and dance man out of vaudeville.

The straw hat, bushy eyebrows, dark-rimmed glasses, blue serge suit, pin-striped tie, black and white shoes, the shortness of the man.

Then someone introduces you and you're shaking hands with Edward T. Brannick, traveling secretary of the San Francisco Giants.

Brannick is an institution with the Giants. He was 66 years old July 22 and he's been with the team since 1905 when he started out as a 12-year-old scoreboard boy, moving into the front office the next year as an office boy.

He was named assistant traveling secretary in 1921, assuming his present post in 1936.

"I was born in baseball," he says, "and I love it. It's my game. I like meeting people and traveling."

Brannick has seen many managers come and go during his time.

"But John T. McGraw was the greatest. He was a great theory man. He understood human nature and had exceptional foresight. He would have made a great business executive."

And during all these years Brannick has developed a philosophy.

"The big thing in life is to gather friends and keep them. Truth is a great thing. I dislike playing favorites and selfishness.

"I figure if you are charitable, the guy upstairs will be pretty good to you."

When Eddie announced he was going to be married, his mother warned the bride-to-be:

"You'd better watch yourself. He's liable to give you away, too."

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

Pro tennis czar Jack Kramer insists Alex Olmedo of Peru, the national collegiate champ from the University of Southern California, could be one of the world's greatest players if he corrects an unusual flaw . . . "He goes to pieces when he's ahead," said Kramer. "In this game, like in boxing, you can't let a man up once you've knocked him down."

Billy Conn, the ex-light heavyweight champ who now weighs more than Joe Louis, recently told the old "Brown Bomber" he'd have made a million dollars if Joe had let him win the title the first time they fought . . . Joe's answer was the same as always, "you had it for 12 rounds and didn't know what to do with it." . . . Conn led Louis on points for 12 until Joe flattened him.

Tackle Lou (the Toe) Groza of the Cleveland Browns, still worth his big pay in pro football after 13 seasons, is cleaning up in outside activities, too . . . Lou has a dry-cleaning establishment as well as an insurance business.

Bauer Owns Restaurant

Hank Bauer, the Yankee outfielder who owns a Kansas City restaurant and pays the tab for everyone in the joint whenever he hits a homer, turned down an off-season job in New York and will open a second eatery in Kansas City . . . same deal goes when he homers, too.

Emil Lence, the New York dressmaker who expects to promote Floyd Patterson's next title defense, has about given up interesting Patterson's manager in a fight at Madison Square Garden . . . Manager Cus D'Amato is suspicious of anything with such a close connection to his old enemy, the International Boxing Club. . . So Emil is dickering for an armory in the Bronx to give Floyd a shot.

Ancient Satchel Paige, the eighth wonder of the world, told a buddy recently he used to pitch 130 games a season when he was working for the Pittsburgh Crawfords in the old days . . . "course," said Satch, "I'd pitch maybe only four, five innings some days."

Cash in on Fame

Newspaper ads recently have been featuring an "Earl Buchholz" autograph model tennis racquet to cash in on the publicity according to U.S. junior champ Earl Buchholz of St. Louis . . . Normally that's ag'in in the amateur rules but there's a gimmick in this case . . . Earl Buchholz, Sr., is a tennis pro and within his rights to market a racquet . . . So it's a coincidence, maybe, the lad's name is Earl, Jr.

In the early days of tennis, there was a rule all players had to show up for a match with a kit containing every item of repair that might be necessary at courtside . . . "We could have used one at Forest Hills last Thursday," said 76-year-old coach Mercer Beasley. "Darlene Hard broke a shoulder strap on her bra during a match and everyone retired in confusion for 10 minutes."

And as for those sack dresses in tennis, every gal wearing one in the Nationals at Forest Hills lost her match . . . 'nuf said.

Gallant Man Runs Today In Sysonby

Carries 134 Pound Impost At Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Gallant Man begins a rugged fall race scheduled Saturday at Belmont Park, designed to convince the thoroughbred racing pollsters that he deserves 1958 horse of the year honors.

The little Irishman tackles seven opponents in the $25,000-added Sysonby Handicap at one mile, and must concede from 10 to 26 pounds. Gallant Man, now the 75 per cent property of a syndicate, has won his last three in a row.

Eddie Arcaro will be aboard Gallant Man, who packs 134 pounds — most he has ever attempted — as he returns to action after a seven-week layoff.

The toughest competition in the Sysonby appears to be the Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged, with 124 pounds, the Greentree Stable's Cohoes, 116, and Edward Seinfeld's Admiral Vee, 113. All are recent stakes winners.

Others in the Sysonby, to be televised (CBS) from 3:30-4 p.m. EST, are Ambergris, 108; Ocelote, 108; Mister Jive, 113; and Tick Tock, 111.

Quill Wins At Belmont

Scores By Length Over Mommy Dear

ELMONT, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Reginald N. Webster's Quill came off the pace to win the Mapleton Purse for 2-year-old fillies at Belmont Park today.

The daughter of Princequillo-Quick Touch, ridden by Paul Bailey, was teletimed in the brisk time of 1:09 2/5 in scoring by a length over Circle M Farm's Mommy Dear in the six furlong dash down the Widener straightaway course. Rockburn Farm's Recite was third a length and a half back and four and a half lengths ahead of Christopher T. Chenery's Rich Tradition.

It was the third victory in five starts for the homebred, who finished third in two other starts.

Given but scant backing in the wagering by the crowd of 18,022 fans, Quill returned the across the board mutuels of $24.70, $10.00 and $5.20. Mommy Dear paid $6.30 and $4.10 and Recite was $3.00 to show.

Night Races Sought By Tropical Park

BALTIMORE (AP)—Saul Silberman, Baltimore businessman who owns Tropical Park, says his Florida track will have night racing next year if he can get permission.

Night racing has been a boon to both Scarborough Downs and Wheeling Downs and the president of Tropical says his attorneys are prepared to seek permission for the night sport during the 1959-60 meeting.

"We're very serious in our intent to race at night," Silberman said. "We are ready to go ahead with the work immediately."

Silberman estimates the cost for construction of the necessary lighting facilities will run from $250,000 to $300,000. He believes the mutuel handle at the track will jump 30 per cent with night racing.

League To Start

The South Cumberland Business Men's Association Bowling League will start its 1958-59 season next Wednesday, September 10, at 9 p. m. at K. O. Christner's, according to D. W. Dively, league president.

KEYSER HIGH SCHOOL'S CAPTAINS—Three players who participated in all of the games played by Keyser High School last season when the Golden Tornado won ten of 11 games will captain Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's eleven this year. The trio, left to right, is as follows: Billy Boor, 5-9, 160 pounds, senior fullback; Jerry Shumacker, 6-3, 193 pounds, senior tackle, and Scott Brown, 6-3, 187 pounds, senior center. Keyser opens its ten-game schedule today with Coach Dick Harmison's Panthers at Charles Town. Other games on the KHS schedule are with Parsons, Beall, Ridgeley, Allegany, LaSalle, Moorefield, Southern, Petersburg and Romney.

Bill Clark Needs 10 Wins For 100 Firsts At Fairgo

Owns 90-56-48 Log, Will Ride Here 9th Year, Sept. 15-27

William Clark, the Mt. Holly (N.J.) saddlesmith, needs ten more winners to boost his record to an even 100 at Fairgo and he hopes to attain that goal when the Cumberland Fair Association holds its 34th annual race meet September 15 to 27.

Willie Clark

Clark will be riding at the local half mile oval for the ninth year. His eight-year record is 90 wins, 56 seconds and 48 thirds.

In 1955 he hung up an all-time high when he booted home 26 winners in the last 10-day session at the local track. He also paced the riders here last year with a 13-12-8 record.

Caseys Beat Old Exports, Even Series

Finale Set Today; Hermans Triumph

A three-run homer by Harold Hudson highlighted a six-run rally in the 6th inning and gave the Knights of Columbus a 9-4 decision over the Old Exports and squared their City Softball League series at one-all yesterday at Naval Reserve Field.

At Post Field, the Hermans made it two wins in a row by whipping the Sports Shoppe, 4-2, and qualified for the league's final playoffs.

The Caseys and Old Exports will meet today at 6 p.m., in the "rubber" game of their series at Stitcher Field. The winner will open the final series with the Hermans next week.

Bob Hook gained the verdict over Junior Brelsford as the Knights handed the Old Exports their first defeat since August 8. The Exporters had won seven and played one tie game since their last setback.

Donnie Madden collected three of the Caseys' 11 hits, a triple and two singles. The winners also turned in a pair of snappy double plays. George McGregor accounted for two of the Exports' nine blows.

Manager Jimmy Allen's Hermans swept the series with the Sports Shoppe by bunching hits with errors for their four runs in the first two innings. The winners collected seven singles. Powelson and Hamilton with three and two hits, respectively, paced the Sports Shoppe stickers. Scores:

Hirsch To Remain Out Of Pro Ball

LOS NAGELES (AP) — Elroy (Crazylegs) Hirsch said Friday he is not going back to professional football.

Some sports writers speculated recently that the retired Hirsch might succumb to the urge to play one more season with the Los Angeles Rams.

Hirsch issued a statement saying the Rams had invited him to return and the Union Oil Co., for which he is sports director, had offered to give him a leave of absence, but he had decided to remain full time with Union Oil.

Scoring one or more touchdowns in every period, Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks launched their 25th football campaign by clobbering Hancock High School by the score of 53-0 yesterday at Ridgeley in the first game of the 1958 season in the tri-state area.

Bill Scott accounted for two of the Hawks' eight touchdowns and also made two of the five conversions. The other tds were credited to Frank Lambert, Mike Detrick, Ronnie Gulbronson, Roger Powers, Ken Phillips and Dave Aldridge.

On the first play from scrimmage in the opening period, Roger Powers scored on a 62-yard run. A Frank Lambert to Bill Scott pass covered 52 yards for another six-pointer and Mike Lambert tallied on a 22-yard pass from Frank Lambert.

Ronnie Gulbronson intercepted Kenny Shives' pass and returned it forty yards for the last Ridgeley touchdown in the closing seconds of the game.

Other scores were registered on short gains.

Hancock's small and inexperienced team never had a chance. The Washington countians were limited to three first downs, completed four of eight passes for only seven yards and picked up only 30 net yards rushing.

Ridgeley reeled off 10 first downs, completed 12 of 17 aerials for 157 yards and piled up 228 net yards on the ground.

It was the second meeting of the teams, Ridgeley having won the 1957 game by the score of 18-6.

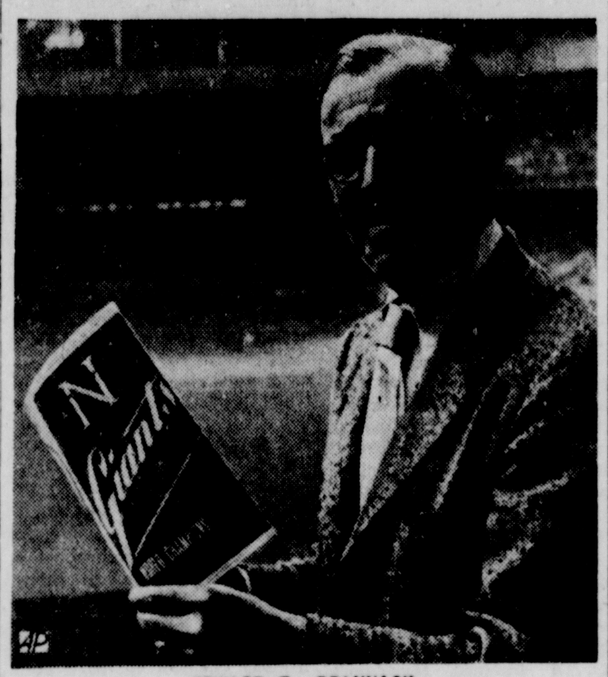
DETROIT — The Detroit Lions scored a field goal, a touchdown, an extra point and a safety, in 95 seconds in a 26-7 pre-season game victory over the New York Giants.

Pitchman Ed Brannick Grew Up With Giants



EDWARD T. BRANNICK

A LIFE-TIME OF BASEBALL: Edward T. Brannick, who went to work for the old New York Giants in 1905 as a scoreboard boy and rose through the years to the position of traveling secretary, poses with one of his mementos. Brannick now practices his trade in San Francisco.

By GEORGE ESPER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — When you first see the guy, he might strike you as being a song and dance man out of vaudeville.

The straw hat, bushy eyebrows, dark-rimmed glasses, blue serge suit, pin-striped tie, black and white shoes, the shortness of the man.

Brannick is an institution with the Giants. He was 66 years old July 22 and he's been with the team since 1905 when he started out as a 12-year-old scoreboard boy, moving into the front office the next year as an office boy.

He was named assistant traveling secretary in 1921, assuming his present post in 1936.

"I was born in baseball," he says, "and I love it. It's my game. I like meeting people and traveling."

"But John T. McGraw was the greatest. He was a great theory man. He understood human nature and had exceptional foresight. He would have made a great business executive."

When Eddie announced he was going to be married, his mother warned the bride-to-be:

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

Pro tennis czar Jack Kramer insists Alex Olmedo of Peru, the national collegiate champ from the University of Southern California, could be one of the world's greatest players if he corrects an unusual flaw . . . "He goes to pieces when he's ahead," said Kramer. "In this game, like in boxing, you can't let a man up once you've knocked him down."

Billy Conn, the ex-light heavyweight champ who now weighs more than Joe Louis, recently told the old "Brown Bomber" he'd have made a million dollars if Joe had let him win the title the first time they fought . . . Joe's answer was the same as always, "you had it for 12 rounds and didn't know what to do with it." . . . Conn led Louis on points for 12 until Joe flattened him.

Tackle Lou (the Toe) Groza of the Cleveland Browns, still worth his big pay in pro football after 13 seasons, is cleaning up in outside activities, too . . . Lou has a dry-cleaning establishment as well as an insurance business.

Bauer Owns Restaurant

Hank Bauer, the Yankee outfielder who owns a Kansas City restaurant and pays the tab for everyone in the joint whenever he hits a homer, turned down an off-season job in New York and will open a second eatery in Kansas City . . . same deal goes when he homers, too.

Emil Lence, the New York dressmaker who expects to promote Floyd Patterson's next title defense, has about given up interesting Patterson's manager in a fight at Madison Square Garden . . . Manager Cus D'Amato is suspicious of anything with such a close connection to his old enemy, the International Boxing Club. . . So Emil is dickering for an armory in the Bronx to give Floyd a shot.

Ancient Satchel Paige, the eighth wonder of the world, told a buddy recently he used to pitch 130 games a season when he was working for the Pittsburgh Crawfords in the old days . . . "course," said Satch, "I'd pitch maybe only four, five innings some days."

Cash in on Fame

Newspaper ads recently have been featuring an "Earl Buchholz" autograph model tennis racquet to cash in on the publicity according to U.S. junior champ Earl Buchholz of St. Louis . . . Normally that's ag'in in the amateur rules but there's a gimmick in this case . . . Earl Buchholz, Sr., is a tennis pro and within his rights to market a racquet . . . So it's a coincidence, maybe, the lad's name is Earl, Jr.

In the early days of tennis, there was a rule all players had to show up for a match with a kit containing every item of repair that might be necessary at courtside . . . "We could have used one at Forest Hills last Thursday," said 76-year-old coach Mercer Beasley. "Darlene Hard broke a shoulder strap on her bra during a match and everyone retired in confusion for 10 minutes."

Gallant Man Runs Today In Sysonby

Carries 134 Pound Impost At Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Gallant Man begins a rugged fall race scheduled Saturday at Belmont Park, designed to convince the thoroughbred racing pollsters that he deserves 1958 horse of the year honors.

The little Irishman tackles seven opponents in the $25,000-added Sysonby Handicap at one mile, and must concede from 10 to 26 pounds. Gallant Man, now the 75 per cent property of a syndicate, has won his last three in a row.

Eddie Arcaro will be aboard Gallant Man, who packs 134 pounds — most he has ever attempted — as he returns to action after a seven-week layoff.

The toughest competition in the Sysonby appears to be the Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged, with 124 pounds, the Greentree Stable's Cohoes, 116, and Edward Seinfeld's Admiral Vee, 113. All are recent stakes winners.

Others in the Sysonby, to be televised (CBS) from 3:30-4 p.m. EST, are Ambergris, 108; Ocelote, 108; Mister Jive, 113; and Tick Tock, 111.

Quill Wins At Belmont

Scores By Length Over Mommy Dear

ELMONT, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Reginald N. Webster's Quill came off the pace to win the Mapleton Purse for 2-year-old fillies at Belmont Park today.

The daughter of Princequillo-Quick Touch, ridden by Paul Bailey, was teletimed in the brisk time of 1:09 2/5 in scoring by a length over Circle M Farm's Mommy Dear in the six furlong dash down the Widener straightaway course. Rockburn Farm's Recite was third a length and a half back and four and a half lengths ahead of Christopher T. Chenery's Rich Tradition.

It was the third victory in five starts for the homebred, who finished third in two other starts.

Given but scant backing in the wagering by the crowd of 18,022 fans, Quill returned the across the board mutuels of $24.70, $10.00 and $5.20. Mommy Dear paid $6.30 and $4.10 and Recite was $3.00 to show.

Night Races Sought By Tropical Park

BALTIMORE (AP)—Saul Silberman, Baltimore businessman who owns Tropical Park, says his Florida track will have night racing next year if he can get permission.

Night racing has been a boon to both Scarborough Downs and Wheeling Downs and the president of Tropical says his attorneys are prepared to seek permission for the night sport during the 1959-60 meeting.

"We're very serious in our intent to race at night," Silberman said. "We are ready to go ahead with the work immediately."

Silberman estimates the cost for construction of the necessary lighting facilities will run from $250,000 to $300,000. He believes the mutuel handle at the track will jump 30 per cent with night racing.

League To Start

The South Cumberland Business Men's Association Bowling League will start its 1958-59 season next Wednesday, September 10, at 9 p. m. at K. O. Christner's, according to D. W. Dively, league president.

KEYSER HIGH SCHOOL'S CAPTAINS—Three players who participated in all of the games played by Keyser High School last season when the Golden Tornado won ten of 11 games will captain Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's eleven this year. The trio, left to right, is as follows: Billy Boor, 5-9, 160 pounds, senior fullback; Jerry Shumacker, 6-3, 193 pounds,, senior tackle, and Scott Brown, 6-3, 187 pounds, senior center. Keyser opens its ten-game schedule today with Coach Dick Harmison's Panthers at Charles Town. Other games on the KHS schedule are with Parsons, Beall, Ridgeley, Allegany, LaSalle, Moorefield, Southern, Petersburg and Romney.

Bill Clark Needs 10 Wins For 100 Firsts At Fairgo

Owns 90-56-48 Log, Will Ride Here 9th Year, Sept. 15-27

William Clark, the Mt. Holly (N.J.) saddlesmith, needs ten more winners to boost his record to an even 100 at Fairgo and he hopes to attain that goal when the Cumberland Fair Association holds its 34th annual race meet September 15 to 27.

Willie Clark

Clark will be riding at the local half mile oval for the ninth year. His eight-year record is 90 wins, 56 seconds and 48 thirds.

In 1955 he hung up an all-time high when he booted home 26 winners in the last 10-day session at the local track. He also paced the riders here last year with a 13-12-8 record.

Sammy Palumbo, the veteran rider, who hasn't been here in recent years, holds the record of having been the leading winning rider at Fairgo by having topped the colony four different years, including a tie during the last 5-day session in 1934. Buddy Root and Mike Sorrentino headed the list three times each. Clark will be gunning for his third title in the meet which opens one week from Monday. This will be the third 12-day meet at Fairgo.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The friendship of Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford has blossomed into a business deal and they will jointly produce "Ocean 11" at Las Vegas with themselves, Dean Martin and Sammy Davis, Jr., in the cast.

The location is the famed magnesium plant in Henderson, Nev., a few miles outside of Las Vegas and the Sands Hotel. I saw the framework of the small cottages outside the plant which will be destroyed when a fire breaks out. While the fire department and police are busy fighting the fire, the gangsters will attempt to hold up six hotels on the Strip. Justice will prevail in the end and the money will be returned.

While Frank, Peter, Dean and Sammy, Jr., are in Vegas for five weeks they will alternate being on a show at the Sands every night.

When I left Honolulu, plans were being made for the arrival of Jane Russell, Donald O'Connor and other stars taking part in the installation of a waif charity in Hawaii.

When I returned one of the first bits of news I heard was that Jane was awakened at 7:00 in the morning to be told that Queen Fredericka of Greece and her 18-year-old daughter, Princess Sophia, would be here in November to be guests of honor at our local waif ball.

The queen, who captivates everyone who meets her, and is a darling, has refused to let the waif association buy her ticket or pay her expenses. She believes in the cause of this association which Jane founded for care of homeless children.

One of my first calls after I returned was from Betsy Drake (in private life Mrs. Cary Grant). Betsy told me that although she has made three motion pictures within the past year, two of them were in London. Producers do not realize she is available and wants to work.

"I made 'Intent to Kill' with Richard Todd and another with Kenneth Moore in London, and in Hollywood I made 'Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?'."

Betsy says she has an appointment with General Electric to do a TV show and then she will meet Cary and Sophia Loren in Chicago when they go there to finish scenes for Alfred Hitchcock's "North by Northwest." Whatever happened to the title "The Man On Lincoln's Nose?"

Hot or cold William Holden is being fitted for costumes for "The Horse Soldiers" which he wants to make with John Wayne for Batjac and the Mirisches. Marty Rackin, one of the producers, told me that Bill spent one whole day being fitted for his Civil War toggery.

"What about the legal aspect and Paramount's insistence that Bill hasn't fulfilled his contract?" I asked.

Marty replied, "We consulted our attorney who says Holden has the right to make it."

Well, here's news from the other side: If Bill himself says he's going to co-star in "The Horse Soldiers," Paramount's attorneys say their only recourse is to take legal action.

You cannot be away from your desk for a month without being surprised, and often shocked, at what has happened. One of the happenings for which I am most sorry is the divorce of Taina Elg and Carl Bjorkenheim. I had met them at Dinah Shore and George Montgomery's house at dinner just before I went to Honolulu. I've never seen two people who seemed more compatible. I don't know the cause of their separation, but I do wish Taina had waited.

The death of Don McElwaine filled me with sadness. He was one of the first press agents who planted copy with me when I came to Hollywood. Also the death of Margaret O'Brien's devoted mother, Gladys. The sudden death of Kurt Newmann was another bit of sadness. And I've just had a letter from Mrs. John Savage telling me of the passing of her dear husband.

Ann Miller became Mrs. William Moss while I was in the islands, but that I knew because she sent me a telegram. Chico who admits he's the oldest of the Marx brothers, took himself a wife.

QUEEN AT ZURICH

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Queen Mother Zein of Jordan arrived Thursday on her way to Lausanne for what has been described officially as "a visit for medical reasons and reconvalescence."

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

Old Fashioned Quiz

Quizdom, which has recently been convulsed by charges and countercharges, has gone through a good many phases in its pursuit of the ridiculous. The original TV quizzes were all terribly physical—Ilka Chase running around a table balancing an egg on a spoon, that sort of thing. Invariably Conrad Nagel moderated. If it wasn't visual, the cry went up, it isn't television. But then "What's My Line?" came along in which people just sat there, doing nothing much more visual than thinking, and the visual crowd lost caste. Later, much later, the merchandise mob who gave out matched luggage, mink coats and Cadillacs elbowed aside the thinkers and still later came the big money mob, "The $64,000 Question" crowd with their isolation booths and intellectual giants. And that is the history of quizdom, junior.

Meanwhile, as other quiz empires rose and fell, the original and terribly physical quiz, "Pantomime Quiz" still chugs along on two cylinders which is to say, it's a summer replacement. Come this November, "Pantomime Quiz" will be twelve years old and, if there's any other TV show that can make that statement, I can't think what it is. "'Pantomime Quiz' and I have been on all four networks and on both coasts," says Mike Stokey, its emcee, originator, and owner.

"If I could say I was a permanent summer replacement I'd be a happy man. I'd have forty-two weeks vacation. Unfortunately, I can't even be sure of that. Every year I have to wait and see. Sometimes I only get a week's notice to bring the show to the network. Time and again I have thought I had a deal to be on for the fall and winter but something always fell through."

Stokey, whose quiz is simply a TV version of charades, harbors a low opinion of most of the recent TV fare. "The networks should be ashamed of themselves. They are glutting the airways with garbage. I dislike most game shows. I hate those miserable quiz shows like 'Strike It Rich' where the show feeds on human misery. I can't stand those smiling hosts on shows that give away half of America. I'm a smiling host, too, I suppose, but I wouldn't be connected with one of those shows for anything. They're buying an audience."

The Game, as charades is known in Hollywood, has produced some really great players and 'Pantomime Quiz" might be said to be the major leagues. Among game players. Dorothy Hart, who is both a redoubtable sexpot and an enormously skilled game player, plays the game in skintight dresses which hamper her not a bit. "I lose myself completely," she says. "I don't have time to think what I'm doing. All I know is that I've got two minutes to do a stumper and anything that keeps me from doing it is my enemy. Sometimes the camera comes in too close and I feel like knocking it out of the way."

I watched her acting out a punch line, "He runs things around his house—the vacuum cleaner, the lawnmower and the laundromat," with wild but ingenious abandon on last week's show and I must agree. If Miss Hart had got any more uninhibited, the American Broadcasting Company would have blown a tube.

"Oddly enough," said Mr. Stokey, "it's not the comedians who make the best players. The best panel members are Hans Conreid, Barry Sullivan, Jackie Coogan, and our new regular, Dick Van Dyke. Conreid will do anything to win, including trying to steal the answers before the show. Sullivan is the leading man type; you wouldn't think he'd be good but he is. The female players are Dorothy Hart and Carol Haney."

"'Pantomime Quiz' is an intellectually honest show. Bright people are having a good time on it. It's a challenge but most of all, it's fun. A lot of agents call me up and tell me they have clients who have been pantomimists for years in vaudeville. Would I let them on the show? The answer is no. The whole idea is to mate the mental with the physical. So many comedians and mimics have gone blank when they see the slogan and realize they have only two minutes to get it across.'

I've never seen two people who seemed more compatible. I don't know the cause of their separation, but I do wish Taina had waited.

The death of Don McElwaine filled me with sadness. He was one of the first press agents who planted copy with me when I came to Hollywood. Also the death of Margaret O'Brien's devoted mother, Gladys. The sudden death of Kurt Newmann was another bit of sadness. And I've just had a letter from Mrs. John Savage telling me of the passing of her dear husband.

Ann Miller became Mrs. William Moss while I was in the islands, but that I knew because she sent me a telegram. Chico who admits he's the oldest of the Marx brothers, took himself a wife.

QUEEN AT ZURICH

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Queen Mother Zein of Jordan arrived Thursday on her way to Lausanne for what has been described officially as "a visit for medical reasons and reconvalescence."

Television and Radio

Old Fashioned Quiz

Quizdom, which has recently been convulsed by charges and countercharges, has gone through a good many phases in its pursuit of the ridiculous. The original TV quizzes were all terribly physical—Ilka Chase running around a table balancing an egg on a spoon, that sort of thing. Invariably Conrad Nagel moderated. If it wasn't visual, the cry went up, it isn't television. But then "What's My Line?" came along in which people just sat there, doing nothing much more visual than thinking, and the visual crowd lost caste. Later, much later, the merchandise mob who gave out matched luggage, mink coats and Cadillacs elbowed aside the thinkers and still later came the big money mob, "The $64,000 Question" crowd with their isolation booths and intellectual giants. And that is the history of quizdom, junior.

Meanwhile, as other quiz empires rose and fell, the original and terribly physical quiz, "Pantomime Quiz" still chugs along on two cylinders which is to say, it's a summer replacement. Come this November, "Pantomime Quiz" will be twelve years old and, if there's any other TV show that can make that statement, I can't think what it is. "'Pantomime Quiz' and I have been on all four networks and on both coasts," says Mike Stokey, its emcee, originator, and owner.

"If I could say I was a permanent summer replacement I'd be a happy man. I'd have forty-two weeks vacation. Unfortunately, I can't even be sure of that. Every year I have to wait and see. Sometimes I only get a week's notice to bring the show to the network. Time and again I have thought I had a deal to be on for the fall and winter but something always fell through."

Stokey, whose quiz is simply a TV version of charades, harbors a low opinion of most of the recent TV fare. "The networks should be ashamed of themselves. They are glutting the airways with garbage. I dislike most game shows. I hate those miserable quiz shows like 'Strike It Rich' where the show feeds on human misery. I can't stand those smiling hosts on shows that give away half of America. I'm a smiling host, too, I suppose, but I wouldn't be connected with one of those shows for anything. They're buying an audience."

The Game, as charades is known in Hollywood, has produced some really great players and 'Pantomime Quiz" might be said to be the major leagues. Among game players. Dorothy Hart, who is both a redoubtable sexpot and an enormously skilled game player, plays the game in skintight dresses which hamper her not a bit. "I lose myself completely," she says. "I don't have time to think what I'm doing. All I know is that I've got two minutes to do a stumper and anything that keeps me from doing it is my enemy. Sometimes the camera comes in too close and I feel like knocking it out of the way."

I watched her acting out a punch line, "He runs things around his house—the vacuum cleaner, the lawnmower and the laundromat," with wild but ingenious abandon on last week's show and I must agree. If Miss Hart had got any more uninhibited, the American Broadcasting Company would have blown a tube.

"Oddly enough," said Mr. Stokey, "it's not the comedians who make the best players. The best panel members are Hans Conreid, Barry Sullivan, Jackie Coogan, and our new regular, Dick Van Dyke. Conreid will do anything to win, including trying to steal the answers before the show. Sullivan is the leading man type; you wouldn't think he'd be good but he is. The female players are Dorothy Hart and Carol Haney."

"'Pantomime Quiz' is an intellectually honest show. Bright people are having a good time on it. It's a challenge but most of all, it's fun. A lot of agents call me up and tell me they have clients who have been pantomimists for years in vaudeville. Would I let them on the show? The answer is no. The whole idea is to mate the mental with the physical. So many comedians and mimics have gone blank when they see the slogan and realize they have only two minutes to get it across."

Profit-Taking Brings Irregularity To Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Weekend profit-taking brought irregularity into the market and reduced activity sharply — to 2,520,000 shares, lightest of the holiday week, from 3,100,000 on Thursday.

There were numerous individual features on either side of the previous — gains ranging to more than 5 points in Kroger and declines of as much as 2¾ in United Board.

Highlighted in the late trading, Western Union ran up 1 to 26⅝ on volume which made it the day's most active issue. Studebaker - Packard followed. It rose ⅛. Loew's, also up fractionally, completed the top three on the active list.

Late features also were Eastman Kodak, which rose nearly 4 points, and Chemetron, up close to 2.

Oils had strong spots in Kern County and Richfield, each up 2 ¼. Honolulu and Mission, however lost around a point. There were gains of a point to more than 2 points in Harris-Intertype, selling ex-dividend, Johnson & Johnson, Newport News Shipbuilding, U.S. Tobacco, Cuban American Sugar, Stauffer Chemical and Parke Davis.

Steels had a gain of a point in Acme; a drop of 1⅛ in Continental; fractional changes either way in most of the leaders.

Standing out on the downside, Firestone, recent strong leader, backed off 2½. Bell & Howell, Dresser Industries, Island Creek Coal, Jewel Tea, Worthington Corp lost a point to more than 2 points.

Chicago Grains.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures prices closed on fairly easy to steady levels Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off ½ to up ⅜ cent; corn (old) off ⅜ to 1 cent; (new) off ⅛ to ⅜ cent; oats off ⅜ to up ¼ cent; rye up ¼ to 1¼ cents; soy beans unchanged to off 1⅜ cents.

Few commission house orders and decreased wheat supplies dulled the market with light activity. International tension had the effect of cautioning the traders to do little business. There was some early selling by an elevator house, particularly in the September contract.

Corn prices fell lower after a relatively active opening. Most business was in the September delivery and the contract was under pressure throughout the day. Cash houses, however, spotlighted the March option. Acceptances on export subsudy bids totaled 900,000 bushels.

Easiness had the right of way in oats circles. Commission house trade was mixed. The only selling was by local longs.

Trade Friday was slow.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Profit-Taking Brings Irregularity To Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Weekend profit-taking brought irregularity into the market and reduced activity sharply — to 2,520,000 shares, lightest of the holiday week, from 3,100,000 on Thursday.

There were numerous individual features on either side of the previous — gains ranging to more than 5 points in Kroger and declines of as much as 2¾ in United Board.

Typical of the market generally, however, was the auto group with Chrysler off ⅛, Ford up ⅛, General Motors unchanged.

Highlighted in the late trading, Western Union ran up 1 to 26⅝ on volume which made it the day's most active issue. Studebaker - Packard followed. It rose ⅛. Loew's, also up fractionally, completed the top three on the active list.

Late features also were Eastman Kodak, which rose nearly 4 points, and Chemetron, up close to 2.

Oils had strong spots in Kern County and Richfield, each up 2 ¼. Honolulu and Mission, however lost around a point. There were gains of a point to more than 2 points in Harris-Intertype, selling ex-dividend, Johnson & Johnson, Newport News Shipbuilding, U.S. Tobacco, Cuban American Sugar, Stauffer Chemical and Parke Davis.

Steels had a gain of a point in Acme; a drop of 1⅛ in Continental; fractional changes either way in most of the leaders.

Standing out on the downside, Firestone, recent strong leader, backed off 2½. Bell & Howell, Dresser Industries, Island Creek Coal, Jewel Tea, Worthington Corp lost a point to more than 2 points.

Chicago Grains.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures prices closed on fairly easy to steady levels Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off ½ to up ⅜ cent; corn (old) off ¾ to 1 cent; (new) off ½ to ⅝ cent; oats off ⅜ to up ¼ cent; rye up ¼ to 1¼ cents; soy beans unchanged to off 1⅜ cents.

Few commission house orders and decreased wheat supplies dulled the market with light activity. International tension had the effect of cautioning the traders to do little business. There was some early selling by an elevator house, particularly in the September contract.

Corn prices fell lower after a relatively active opening. Most business was in the September delivery and the contract was under pressure throughout the day. Cash houses, however, spotlighted the March option. Acceptances on export subsudy bids totaled 900,000 bushels.

Easiness had the right of way in oats circles. Commission house trade was mixed. The only selling was by local longs.

Processors continued to buy November soybeans. But only a moderate demand and comparatively weak trade was drawn to the September contract.

Trade Friday was slow.

GOP Rally Told State Needs Experience

Mason Gives Party Keynote Address

Saying "we cannot afford to risk having our state or county run by amateurs," Donald W. Mason, campaign chairman, last night urged Lonaconing Republicans to elect all Republican candidates with big majorities on November 4.

Mr. Mason's speech was delivered to some 200 party members who attended a rally held in the Lonaconing Republican Club to kick off the GOP's election campaign in Allegany County.

The campaign, Mr. Mason said, will be organized in a business-like manner under the direction of a hard-working State Central Committee.

He pledged the Republican Party will conduct a clean, honest campaign, present facts and not indulge in personalities.

Cites GOP Platform

One of the aims, he added, will be to acquaint all voters with the Republican platform and the record and qualifications of GOP candidates.

The Republican Party, he said, adopted the hardest-hitting Civil Rights plank ever embraced by either party and condemned discrimination against minority groups in employment practices of public officials, management and labor.

"In highway safety legislation, the party's platform proposes legislation for periodic examination of both drivers and automobiles and recommends the most stringent possible laws to impose license suspension and revocation for habitual traffic offenders."

All local Republican candidates, he said, are experienced and are either serving or have recently served in the offices they are seeking.

Running As Team

He saw the Democrats' emphasis on "Harmony" as "an indication of intra-party strife and weakness."

All Republican candidates are running as a team, he said, whereas Democrat advertisements indicate each of their candidates is running separately and independent of each other.

I nthe GOP campaign keynote speech, Mr. Mason endorsed the entire GOP county slate, saying it is composed of capable and qualified candidates.

It is imperative, he added, to re-elect Senator J. Glenn Beall, who has served almost 20 years in Washington.

Represents County

He pointed out that Senator Beall's opponent is from Baltimore and if elected, "would no doubt neglect Allegany County and the rest of the state."

Catholic Editor Will Speak At Special Dinner

Gerald E. Sherry, managing editor of The Catholic Review, official publication of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, will be the principal speaker at the annual Defenders Day dinner this evening at the Clary Club.

The affair, scheduled at 6:30 p. m., is being sponsored by Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus. A native of London, Mr. Sherry is now an American citizen.

Prior to going to work for the Catholic Review, he was on the staff of the Catholic Universe Bulletin in Cleveland. Before going to Cleveland, he worked for two years as Catholic editor of Religious News Services in New York and an associate editor of the National Catholic Almanac.

Charles B. Humelsine, of Hagerstown, a supreme director of the Knights of Columbus, and state deputy of Maryland, will be a guest at the affair.

On behalf of the Assembly he will be presented a gift by James F. Quinn, faithful navigator for his tenure in office as master of the Fourth Degree from 1948 to 1955 and state deputy from 1955 to 1958 as well as his recent election as supreme director.

Toastmaster at the banquet will be Norman Fearnow. General chairman of the event is John Kreidler, pilot of the Assembly. A dance will follow.

PSC Probe Will Start Thursday

Hughes' Action Prompts Study

BALTIMORE (AP) — A legislative investigating committee Friday invited members of Maryland' Public Service Commission to appear before the group next Thursdey.

The committee, headed by State Sen. Philip H. Goodman (D-Balto 5th), is looking into policies and activities of the PSC, which regulates the service and rates charged by utilities.

Goodman said the first session in Baltimore's City Hall will be devoted to outlining the form and goals of the investigation.

Invitations went to Chairman Stanford Hoff and PSC members Francis V. duPoint and Albert L. Sklar. Also invited was Wilfred T. McQuaid, who as peoples counsel before the commission is charged with protecting the interests of utilities users.

The Goodman Committee was named by the Legislative Council, a 20-member between - session agency of the General Assembly.

A general probe of PSC operations developed from an inquiry into rate increases charged to gas users in Allegany County. That inquiry was initiated by Del. George R. Hughes, vice chairman of the new nine-member Goodman group.

Senator Beall Rebuts Butler

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP)—Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall said Friday he was "somewhat disturbed" about being called a good fellow by Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler.

"He has such a well established, national reputation for being consistently wrong," chided Beall.

Winding up a quiet four-day tour of the Eastern Shore in his campaign for re-election, Beall also took exception to Butler's suggestion that he was not qualified to serve another term in the Senate.

His opponent, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, "obviously feels that qualifications are unimportant in our senatorial race," said Beall, because he has based much of his campaign on a call for a straight party ticket vote.

"Apparently nobody told Mr. Butler this," added the Republican senator, and "in his typically bungling fashion he barged right into our state and started talking about qualifications."

Beall also chuckled that it must have been embarrassing to D'Alesandro when Butler several weeks ago failed to include Maryland among states in which he predicted the election of a Democratic senator.

City Voting Rolls Drop

Fourteen new voters, seven white males and seven white females, were placed on the books and the names of 17 voters who died recently were stricken from the books.

As September opened, the books contained the names of 6,125 white males, 5,425 white females, 133 colored males and 79 colored females.

Westernport Man Gets Home Permit

Ronald P. Jezerc, of 512 B Maryland Avenue, Westernport, has been issued a permit to build a frame dwelling by the Allegany County Assessing Department.

The 26 feet by 50 feet home which will have a cellar will be constructed on Horse Rock Road near Westernport.

Tawes Carries Party Banner Into Garrett

Democrat Slate Tours County

OAKLAND, Md. (AP)—J. Millard Tawes, carrying his Democratic campaign for governor into this traditionally Republican stronghold of Western Maryland, said Friday the State's fiscal policy will be a key issue in his bid for new office.

But Tawes, comptroller of the State for 16 years, said he would not discuss this in detail until later in the campaign.

He turned aside a reporter's attempts to get his views publicly on the tax program enacted by the 1958 General Assembly. The program, calling for increases in the sales and income taxes from two to three per cent, was enacted after Tawes advised Democratic leaders to break a deadlock and go along with proposals originating from Republican Gov. McKeldin.

"It was the only thing they could do at the time," he said when pressed for his views on the legislative action. He has never publicly endorsed the program.

The Democratic standard-bearer made the comments as he toured Garrett County with two of his running mates, Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, who is seeking re-election, and Louis L. Goldstein, running for Tawes' job as comptroller after serving as president of the State Senate for four years.

Accompanied by a number of local candidates, the state candidates and a number of county party leaders made a tour of the county, sticking close to a previously announced itinerary. They had luncheon at Friendsville, dinner at Kitzmiller and attended a reception last night at the William James Hotel. They also visited Accident, Mt. Lake Park, Deer Park and Grantsville.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, the ticket's candidate for U. S. Senate, did not make the swing into Garrett. After a dinner rally in neighboring Allegany County on Thursday night, he returned to Baltimore. The mayor was guest of honor Friday at the nearby Maryland State Fair.

Hikers May Use Entire Length Of C&O Canal

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — It is now possible to hike or ride a bicycle or a horse the entire length of the 185 mile Chesapeake and Ohio Canal towpath.

E. M. Dale, superintendent of the canal National Park renovation work, said a summer program of maintenance on the federal property along the historic waterway was about finished.

He said the project was aimed at minimizing further damage to the historic features of the canal itself, and to make it as useful as possible to the public. The canal was abandoned in 1924.

Tree groth and other debris were removed from masonry and locks, large areas of the canal bed were cleared of trees, foot bridges were erected, and many breaks in the towpath were repaired.

Dale said parking areas also were built at points of heavy usage.

About 95 men have been working through the summer, Dale reported, and up until now it was not possible to make a complete trip on the towpath from near Georgetown, Md. to Cumberland without numerous detours.

Legislation to make the canal and adjacent land a national park failed in the recent Congress, but the canal and property immediately alongside it has been the responsibility of the park service since 1938.

Money for the current repair work came from the National Park Service maintenance fund.

Md. Roads Commission Purchases Property

A number of deeds were recorded in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday including property sold to the State Roads Commission.

M. Lillian Rinard, of Bedford County, has sold property to the SRC which is needed for improvement work on U.S. Route 40, Maryland Route 36 to Long.

A local piece of property was also purchased by the SRC. It is located at 174 Thomas Street and was conveyed to the Commission by Dwight C. Leese and Linda Leese, his wife.

Paul K. Mullan and his wife, Betty L. Mullan have purchased property from the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

It is Lot 18 of Section One of the "Horse Rock Hill Subdivision," near Westernport. The parcel of land is located on the northwest side of Horse Rock Road and the north side of Shawnee Road, according to the deed.

Meeting Time Changed

Beginning Wednesday, September 10, the volunteer firemen of Bowling Green will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday of each week. During the summer months the members met at 8:30 p.m.

PPG Ordered To Recognize IBEW Local

NLRB Instructs Firm To Bargain

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has been ordered to recognize the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as the bargaining agent for electricians at the company's Works 7 here.

The Associated Press reported from Washington that the National Labor Relations yesterday instructed the company to bargain collectively with the union and to refrain from interferences of any kind between the employes and the union.

The NLRB decision gave the IBEW bargaining rights for all electricians, including shift, shop and electronics electricians, and apprentices for such classifications.

Last year, maintenance electricians at the plant won an NLRB election and were chartered as Local 2001, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO.

The election held here last year, union sources said, marked the first time the IBEW has succeeded in winning bargaining rights for electricians in a PPG glass plant.

In other plants, it was explained, the Glass and Ceramics union bargains for all hourly-paid plant workers.

Rep. Hyde Opens Campaign Office

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, who is running for re-election to the U. S. House of Representatives from the Sixth District of Maryland, announced yesterday he has officially opened his campaign headquarters at 11031 Veirs Mill Road, Wheaton, Silver Spring.

He has appointed Mrs. Ann C. Smith as his campaign manager; Alvin L. Aubinoe, finance chairman, and J. R. Pat Gorman, treasurer and political agent.

His county chairmen are J. Glenn Beall Jr., Allegany; Emmert R. Bowlus, Frederick; William D. Casteel, Garrett; David Scull, Montgomery, and Joseph S. Ward, Washington County.

Crafts Will Meet

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Allegany Labor Temple, according to Harry Hickle, president.

Book On Solar Furnaces Added To Local Library

A book on solar furnaces is among the new books which have been added to the shelves of the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said yesterday that "Solar Energy," by Franklin M. Branley has information on solar furnaces, telephone operated with energy from the sun and space heating.

Illustrations are clear with detailed drawings and maps.

"British Columbia Rides A Star" by Vera Kelsey gives a vivid picture of Canada's most beautiful and fast-growing province. This lively and comprehensive volume is illustrated with 32 pages of photographs and eight authentic maps.

One of the most interesting biographies is "John Carroll of Baltimore" by Annabelle M. Melville. After much new research the author has presented a charming portrait of this eminent churchman and statesman with emphasis on his individual life and its effects on his era.

"Lady From Savannah" is a well-written and inspiring biography of Juliette Low. All scout leaders and many Girl Scouts will be delighted with this colorful description of their famous foundress.

After long participation in international affairs, George Kennan has published "Russia, the Atom and the West." This text contains a survey of the world scene with suggestions to individual consciences and to the governments representing them.

"Stay Slim For Life" is an informative, fool-proof cook book for those maintaining a sensible eating pattern. This book contains caloried-counted menus, diet aids, appetite curbs and exercises which aid in arriving at and keeping your correct weight.

Junior readers will be delighted with "The Silver Spoon Mystery" by Dorothy Sterling and "A Dream To Touch" by Anne Emery. These are Junior Literary Guild selections chosen as outstanding books for boys and girls.

25 Register For Voting As Pace Moves Upward

Within the past two days, some 25 additional residents of Allegany County became eligible to vote in the general election in November when they were registered by the substitute registrars of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Yesterday nine employes of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory signed up when the registrars visited the plant. Five registered as Democrats, four men and one woman while four signed up as Republicans, three women and one man.

When the registrars visited the Armstrong Store at Rawlings, two persons of that area signed up. Both are Republican men.

On Thursday, a total of 14 LaVale residents became eligible to vote in November. Eight additional Republicans were registered including six women and two men.

Six signed up as Democrats, three men and three women.

On Monday and Tuesday of next week, John Zapf and Miss Bessie Baird, substitute registrars, will be in South Cumberland at the Herman S. Athey Wallpaper and Paint Store, 432 Virginia Avenue.

The hours will be 2 to 5 p. m. and from 6 to 9 p. m. On Wednesday from 2 to 5 p. m. they will be at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

Rec Sponsored Bridge Lessons To Begin Soon

The eighth beginners bridge class to be sponsored by the City Recreation Department will open Wednesday, September 10, at 7:30 p.m. in Central YMCA, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant to the director.

C. C. DeHaven will be the instructor for the 15-week course which includes 10 lessons on the Goren Point System, interspersed with five playing sessions.

Those interested are urged to register with the City Recreation Department as soon as possible. Up to 40 persons can be taken into the class.

There will be a slight registration fee, Mrs. Hogan said.

Files Cross-Bill

Noah John Logsdon has filed a cross-bill of complaint in Allegany County Circuit Court seeking an absolute divorce from Laura Logsdon. Earlier, Mrs. Logsdon had filed the original bill of complaint for a partial divorce.

Ali Ghan Units To March Today In Washington

Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., will have a 215-man delegation in the parade planned in Washington today in connection with the Mid-Atlantic Shrine Association Convention.

Marching will be Potentate J. Stanley Hunter and members of his Divan, and the Ali Ghan Patrol, Band, Drum Corps, Flag Unit, Chanters and Director's Staff.

Ali Ghan will be one of 18 temples which plan to place delegations in the parade which will march from Fourth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue to the reviewing stand at D and 17th Street.

The Ali Ghan delegation will have its headquarters at the Burlington Hotel and the convention headquarters will be the Statler Hotel.

Officials here said that up to 6,000 Shriners are expected to join in the parade.

Area Man Hurt When Car Hits Traffic Light

A 40-year-old LaVale man was injured yesterday afternoon when the car he was driving went out of control and hit a traffic light pole at the intersection of Greene and Allegany streets.

Ray W. DeHart, LaVale, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital, where X-rays were being taken. His condition was fair.

Officer J. Carl Stouffer, who investigated, said Mr. DeHart was injured about 2 p.m. as he was driving down Greene Street.

He said the car went out of control at Allegany Street, climbed over the curb and hit the pole, which toppled over and fell on the car.

Woman Jailed In Lye Throwing

A local woman yesterday received a 30-day jail sentence as a result of a lye-throwing incident and her victim was fined $10 for participation in the mixup.

Magistrate Morris Baron imposed the jail sentence upon Louise Williams, 114 Spruce Street, saying the lye-throwing constituted a "murderous assault" which could have blinded Abbie Lewis, 15 Spruce Street.

He said testimony showed the mixup began at a neighbor's home, where Lewis said the woman hit him over the head with a stove shaker.

The woman, the magistrate reported, claimed the man hit her with a stick and that she then picked up a can of lye and threw it at his face.

GOP Rally Told State Needs Experience

Mason Gives Party Keynote Address

Saying "we cannot afford to risk having our state or county run by amateurs," Donald W. Mason, campaign chairman, last night urged Lonaconing Republicans to elect all Republican candidates with big majorities on November 4.

Mr. Mason's speech was delivered to some 200 party members who attended a rally held in the Lonaconing Republican Club to kick off the GOP's election campaign in Allegany County.

The campaign, Mr. Mason said, will be organized in a business-like manner under the direction of a hard-working State Central Committee.

It will include a registration drive, ending September 22, to build up a greater Republican majority.

He pledged the Republican Party will conduct a clean, honest campaign, present facts and not indulge in personalities.

Cites GOP Platform

One of the aims, he added, will be to acquaint all voters with the Republican platform and the record and qualifications of GOP candidates.

The Republican Party, he said, adopted the hardest-hitting Civil Rights plank ever embraced by either party and condemned discrimination against minority groups in employment practices of public officials, management and labor.

"In highway safety legislation, the party's platform proposes legislation for periodic examination of both drivers and automobiles and recommends the most stringent possible laws to impose license suspension and revocation for habitual traffic offenders."

All local Republican candidates, he said, are experienced and are either serving or have recently served in the offices they are seeking.

Running As Team

He saw the Democrats' emphasis on "Harmony" as "an indication of intra-party strife and weakness."

All Republican candidates are running as a team, he said, whereas Democrat advertisements indicate each of their candidates is running separately and independent of each other.

I nthe GOP campaign keynote speech, Mr. Mason endorsed the entire GOP county slate, saying it is composed of capable and qualified candidates.

It is equally important, he stressed, to elect all Republicans in the state campaign.

It is imperative, he added, to re-elect Senator J. Glenn Beall, who has served almost 20 years in Washington.

Represents County

He pointed out that Senator Beall's opponent is from Baltimore and if elected, "would no doubt neglect Allegany County and the rest of the state."

Accompanied by a number of local candidates, the state candidates and a number of county party leaders made a tour of the county, sticking close to a previously announced itinerary. They had luncheon at Friendsville, dinner at Kitzmiller and attended a reception last night at the William James Hotel. They also visited Accident, Mt. Lake Park, Deer Park and Grantsville.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, the ticket's candidate for U. S. Senate, did not make the swing into Garrett. After a dinner rally in neighboring Allegany County on Thursday night, he returned to Baltimore. The mayor was guest of honor Friday at the nearby Maryland State Fair.

Hikers May Use Entire Length Of C&O Canal

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — It is now possible to hike or ride a bicycle or a horse the entire length of the 185 mile Chesapeake and Ohio Canal towpath.

E. M. Dale, superintendent of the canal National Park renovation work, said a summer program of maintenance on the federal property along the historic waterway was about finished.

He said the project was aimed at minimizing further damage to the historic features of the canal itself, and to make it as useful as possible to the public. The canal was abandoned in 1924.

Tree groth and other debris were removed from masonry and locks, large areas of the canal bed were cleared of trees, foot bridges were erected, and many breaks in the towpath were repaired.

Dale said parking areas also were built at points of heavy usage.

About 95 men have been working through the summer, Dale reported, and up until now it was not possible to make a complete trip on the towpath from near Georgetown, Md. to Cumberland without numerous detours.

Legislation to make the canal and adjacent land a national park failed in the recent Congress, but the canal and property immediately alongside it has been the responsibility of the park service since 1938.

Money for the current repair work came from the National Park Service maintenance fund.

Md. Roads Commission Purchases Property

A number of deeds were recorded in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday including property sold to the State Roads Commission.

M. Lillian Rinard, of Bedford County, has sold property to the SRC which is needed for improvement work on U.S. Route 40, Maryland Route 36 to Long.

A local piece of property was also purchased by the SRC. It is located at 174 Thomas Street and was conveyed to the Commission by Dwight C. Leese and Linda Leese, his wife.

Paul K. Mullan and his wife, Betty L. Mullan have purchased property from the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

It is Lot 18 of Section One of the "Horse Rock Hill Subdivision," near Westernport. The parcel of land is located on the northwest side of Horse Rock Road and the north side of Shawnee Road, according to the deed.

Meeting Time Changed

Beginning Wednesday, September 10, the volunteer firemen of Bowling Green will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday of each week. During the summer months the members met at 8:30 p.m.

PPG Ordered To Recognize IBEW Local

NLRB Instructs Firm To Bargain

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has been ordered to recognize the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as the bargaining agent for electricians at the company's Works 7 here.

The Associated Press reported from Washington that the National Labor Relations yesterday instructed the company to bargain collectively with the union and to refrain from interferences of any kind between the employes and the union.

The NLRB decision gave the IBEW bargaining rights for all electricians, including shift, shop and electronics electricians, and apprentices for such classifications.

It excluded all other employes (who are represented by Local 180, United Glass and Ceramics Workers), plant guards and supervisors.

Last year, maintenance electricians at the plant won an NLRB election and were chartered as Local 2001, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO.

The election held here last year, union sources said, marked the first time the IBEW has succeeded in winning bargaining rights for electricians in a PPG glass plant.

In other plants, it was explained, the Glass and Ceramics union bargains for all hourly-paid plant workers.

Rep. Hyde Opens Campaign Office

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, who is running for re-election to the U. S. House of Representatives from the Sixth District of Maryland, announced yesterday he has officially opened his campaign headquarters at 11031 Veirs Mill Road, Wheaton, Silver Spring.

He has appointed Mrs. Ann C. Smith as his campaign manager; Alvin L. Aubinoe, finance chairman, and J. R. Pat Gorman, treasurer and political agent.

His county chairmen are J. Glenn Beall Jr., Allegany; Emmert R. Bowlus, Frederick; William D. Casteel, Garrett; David Scull, Montgomery, and Joseph S. Ward, Washington County.

Crafts Will Meet

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Allegany Labor Temple, according to Harry Hickle, president.

Book On Solar Furnaces Added To Local Library

A book on solar furnaces is among the new books which have been added to the shelves of the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said yesterday that "Solar Energy," by Franklin M. Branley has information on solar furnaces, telephone operated with energy from the sun and space heating.

Illustrations are clear with detailed drawings and maps.

"British Columbia Rides A Star" by Vera Kelsey gives a vivid picture of Canada's most beautiful and fast-growing province. This lively and comprehensive volume is illustrated with 32 pages of photographs and eight authentic maps.

One of the most interesting biographies is "John Carroll of Baltimore" by Annabelle M. Melville. After much new research the author has presented a charming portrait of this eminent churchman and statesman with emphasis on his individual life and its effects on his era.

"Lady From Savannah" is a well-written and inspiring biography of Juliette Low. All scout leaders and many Girl Scouts will be delighted with this colorful description of their famous foundress.

After long participation in international affairs, George Kennan has published "Russia, the Atom and the West." This text contains a survey of the world scene with suggestions to individual consciences and to the governments representing them.

"Stay Slim For Life" is an informative, fool-proof cook book for those maintaining a sensible eating pattern. This book contains caloried-counted menus, diet aids, appetite curbs and exercises which aid in arriving at and keeping your correct weight.

Junior readers will be delighted with "The Silver Spoon Mystery" by Dorothy Sterling and "A Dream To Touch" by Anne Emery. These are Junior Literary Guild selections chosen as outstanding books for boys and girls.

25 Register For Voting As Pace Moves Upward

Within the past two days, some 25 additional residents of Allegany County became eligible to vote in the general election in November when they were registered by the substitute registrars of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Yesterday nine employes of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory signed up when the registrars visited the plant. Five registered as Democrats, four men and one woman while four signed up as Republicans, three women and one man.

When the registrars visited the Armstrong Store at Rawlings, two persons of that area signed up. Both are Republican men.

On Thursday, a total of 14 LaVale residents became eligible to vote in November. Eight additional Republicans were registered including six women and two men.

Six signed up as Democrats, three men and three women.

On Monday and Tuesday of next week, John Zapf and Miss Bessie Baird, substitute registrars, will be in South Cumberland at the Herman S. Athey Wallpaper and Paint Store, 432 Virginia Avenue.

The hours will be 2 to 5 p. m. and from 6 to 9 p. m. On Wednesday from 2 to 5 p. m. they will be at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

Rec Sponsored Bridge Lessons To Begin Soon

The eighth beginners bridge class to be sponsored by the City Recreation Department will open Wednesday, September 10, at 7:30 p.m. in Central YMCA, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant to the director.

C. C. DeHaven will be the instructor for the 15-week course which includes 10 lessons on the Goren Point System, interspersed with five playing sessions.

To date, 274 persons have enrolled in beginner bridge classes sponsored by the department.

Those interested are urged to register with the City Recreation Department as soon as possible. Up to 40 persons can be taken into the class.

There will be a slight registration fee, Mrs. Hogan said.

Files Cross-Bill

Ali Ghan Units To March Today In Washington

Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., will have a 215-man delegation in the parade planned in Washington today in connection with the Mid-Atlantic Shrine Association Convention.

Marching will be Potentate J. Stanley Hunter and members of his Divan, and the Ali Ghan Patrol, Band, Drum Corps, Flag Unit, Chanters and Director's Staff.

Ali Ghan will be one of 18 temples which plan to place delegations in the parade which will march from Fourth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue to the reviewing stand at D and 17th Street.

The Ali Ghan delegation will have its headquarters at the Burlington Hotel and the convention headquarters will be the Statler Hotel.

Officials here said that up to 6,000 Shriners are expected to join in the parade.

Area Man Hurt When Car Hits Traffic Light

A 40-year-old LaVale man was injured yesterday afternoon when the car he was driving went out of control and hit a traffic light pole at the intersection of Greene and Allegany streets.

Ray W. DeHart, LaVale, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital, where X-rays were being taken. His condition was fair.

Officer J. Carl Stouffer, who investigated, said Mr. DeHart was injured about 2 p.m. as he was driving down Greene Street.

He said the car went out of control at Allegany Street, climbed over the curb and hit the pole, which toppled over and fell on the car.

Woman Jailed In Lye Throwing

A local woman yesterday received a 30-day jail sentence as a result of a lye-throwing incident and her victim was fined $10 for participation in the mixup.

Magistrate Morris Baron imposed the jail sentence upon Louise Williams, 114 Spruce Street, saying the lye-throwing constituted a "murderous assault" which could have blinded Abbie Lewis, 15 Spruce Street.

He said testimony showed the mixup began at a neighbor's home, where Lewis said the woman hit him over the head with a stove shaker.

Magistrate Baron said Lewis complained to police and later walked back to the woman's house to get his hat.

The woman, the magistrate reported, claimed the man hit her with a stick and that she then picked up a can of lye and threw it at his face.

Lewis suffered first degree burns of the face, chest and arms.
